The Womens Liberation Movement In Feminism Nihilism And Bolshevism 18601930:

The Women's Liberation Movement in Russia Richard Stites, 2021-07-13 Richard Stites views the struggle for liberation of Russian women in the context of both nineteenth century European feminism and twentieth century communism. The central personalities, their vigorous exchange of ideas, the social and political events that marked the emerging ideal of emancipation all come to life in this absorbing and dramatic account. The author's history begins with the feminist nihilist and populist impulses of the 1860s and 1870s and leads to the social mobilization campaigns of the early Soviet period. The Women's Liberation Movement in Russia Richard Stites, 1978-02-21 This book offers a brilliant treatment of many facets of its subject but it also ends up being for the reader one of the finest general histories to be found of these crucial years in Russian history. The source material is unbelievably detailed and clearly cited on each page. Not only that, the writing is at many points the boldest, clearest I've almost ever found in the Academy. The author's opinions, summaries, insights easily spill out of the historical constructions. The presence of the author's psyche, he never hides behind his quotes, means the material is contoured. The reader gets not only huge amounts of information but an authorial presence as company that is often daring, bold, insightful, revelatory. And one stylistic point made me especially happy when Stites uses metaphors to explain history; these are revelatory and their internal implications are followed through in the prose from www.goodreads.com Feb 2 2011

Creating Consent in Ba'athist Syria Esther Meininghaus, 2016-03-31 The challenge of maintaining dictatorial regimes through control, co-optation and coercion while upholding a facade of legitimacy is something that has concerned leaders throughout the Middle East and beyond. Nowhere is this more evident than in the Syria ruled by the Asads, both Hafiz and his son Bashar. Drawing on the example of the General Union of Syrian Women founded in 1967, Esther Meininghaus offers new insights into how the Syrian Ba'athist regimes attempted to move beyond mere satisfaction with the compliance of the citizenry and to consolidate their rule amongst the local population. Meininghaus argues that this was partially achieved through providing welfare services delivered by the Union as one of the state-led mass organisations. In this way, she suggests these regimes did not only aim to undermine opposition and to create the illusion of consent but they factually catered to local needs and depended on consent. Based on archival material, interviews and statistics, Creating Consent in Ba'athist Syria will shed new light on mass organisations as a crucial institution of Ba'athist state building and more broadly the construction of the Asad regimes. Feminist Writings from Ancient Times to the Modern World Tiffany K. Wayne, 2011-10-17

Collecting more than 200 sources in the global history of feminism, this anthology supplies an insightful record of the resistance to patriarchy throughout human history and around the world. From writings by Enheduanna in ancient Mesopotamia (2350 BCE) to the present-day manifesto of the Association of Women for Action and Research in Singapore, Feminist Writings from Ancient Times to the Modern World: A Global Sourcebook and History excerpts more than 200 feminist primary source documents from Africa to the Americas to Australia. Serving to depict feminism as much broader and older than simply the modern struggle for political rights and equality this two volume work provides a more comprehensive and varied record of women s resistance cross culturally and throughout history The author s goal is to showcase a wide range of writers thinkers and organizations in order to document how resistance to patriarchy has been at the center of social political and intellectual history since the infancy of human civilization This work addresses feminist ideas expressed privately through poetry letters and autobiographies as well as the public and political aspects of women s rights movements

Seeing and Consciousness Gen Doy,2020-08-20 Through its provocative examination of feminist and Marxist approaches to women s art and female representations this book challenges the widespread belief that Marxism has nothing valuable to contribute to women s studies The author argues that from the French Revolution through to the present gender and class have shaped visual imagery She shows how Marxist theory can function to question some of the premises of feminist art histories and to provide a more accurate understanding of the meanings of visual imagery
