Mediation Carrie Menkel-Meadow, 2018-05-08 This title was first published in 2001 This volume of essays explores the theoretical and jurisprudential bases of mediated forms of dispute resolution from legal anthropological sociological psychological and political sources It also presents ongoing disputes about the field itself including its threat to conventional litigation and justice seeking adjudication and its promise in providing more humane and tailored solutions to human problems

The Fugitive Identity of Mediation Debbie De Girolamo, 2013-07-18 Despite much having been written about what mediation is direct observations of commercial mediations are limited This book grants an opportunity to observe mediation in action and also provides external commentary about the actions observed The book approaches Mediation ethnographically as a social process that is informed by structures rules and norms that colour the environment within which it operates Through the ethnographic method a process leading to negotiated order is examined baring its elements identifying its influences and studying the movement to order The result is the reconceptualization of mediation The mediator is invited into the negotiation as third party intervener He creates the process of mediation defining the process by his actions which ultimately merges mediator with process This book provides a window to the lived experience of participants to mediation it explores their understandings of and interactions within a process they have experienced together and demonstrates how mediation is a process inextricably linked to negotiation The Fugitive Identity of Mediation will be of interest to scholars mediators parties who participate in the process and to those active in public policy discourse

Getting to Lasting Peace Patrick Wagner, 2007-08 Essay from the year 2003 in the subject Politics International Politics Topic Peace and Conflict Studies Security grade 2 B University of Kent Brussels School of International Studies course Negotiation and Mediation 16 entries in the bibliography language English abstract Since the end of the Cold War the nature and perception of international conflict has changed significantly Instead of inter state war intra state conflicts now constitute the majority of current conflicts Global nuclear warfare is no longer the primary international security concern It has been displaced by excessively violent and destructive intra state or internal conflicts And these conflicts which would have been regarded as purely internal matters during the Cold War are now seen as being of international concern Civil wars which are normally regionalised are often nevertheless deemed to be a threat to international peace and security As a result the international community has become more and more involved in the resolution of civil wars often by mediating peace negotiations between the parties involved However the resolution of civil war is one the most challenging tasks in Conflict Resolution Only a minority of negotiations result in a lasting peace and only under exceptional circumstances is this achieved without a third party mediating the negotiations Although many of the attempts to settle civil wars by mediation have failed it is clear that the involvement of international mediators makes civil war negotiations more likely to succeed and in some cases indeed helps to find long term solutions to the conflict
