Working Together Collective Action The Commons And Multiple Methods In Practice:

Working Together Amy Poteete, Marco A. Janssen, Elinor Ostrom, 2010-04-12 Advances in the social sciences have emerged through a variety of research methods field based research laboratory and field experiments and agent based models However which research method or approach is best suited to a particular inquiry is frequently debated and discussed Working Together examines how different methods have promoted various theoretical developments related to collective action and the commons and demonstrates the importance of cross fertilization involving multimethod research across traditional boundaries The authors look at why cross fertilization is difficult to achieve and they show ways to overcome these challenges through collaboration The authors provide numerous examples of collaborative multimethod research related to collective action and the commons They examine the pros and cons of case studies meta analyses large N field research experiments and modeling and empirically grounded agent based models and they consider how these methods contribute to research on collective action for the management of natural resources Using their findings the authors outline a revised theory of collective action that includes three elements individual decision making microsituational conditions and features of the broader social ecological context Acknowledging the academic incentives that influence and constrain how research is conducted Working Together reworks the theory of collective action and offers practical solutions for researchers and students across a spectrum of disciplines , Elinor Ostrom and the Bloomington School of Political Economy Daniel H. Cole, Michael D. McGinnis, 2014-12-24 Elinor Lin Ostrom was awarded the 2009 Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences for her pathbreaking research on economic governance especially the commons but she also made important contributions to several other fields of political economy and public policy The range of topics she covered and the multiple methods she used might convey the mistaken impression that her body of work is disjointed and incoherent This four volume compendium of papers written by Lin alone or with various coauthors most notably including her husband and partner Vincent supplemented by others expanding on their work brings together the common strands of research that serve to tie her impressive oeuvre together That oeuvre together with Vincent's own impressive body of work has come to define a distinctive school of political economic thought the Bloomington School Each of the four volumes is organized around a central theme of Lin's work Volume 1 explores the roles played by the concept polycentricity in the disciplines of public administration political science and other forms of political economy Polycentricity denotes a complex system of governance in which public authorities citizens and private organizations work together to establish and enforce the rules that guide their behavior It encapsulates an approach toward policy analysis that blurs standard disciplinary boundaries between the social sciences Throughout their long and remarkably productive careers Elinor and Vincent Ostrom never tired of reminding us of the capacity of ordinary humans to transcend their own limitations by engaging with others in the myriad forms of collective action required to build and sustain a self governing society Their careers stand as exemplars of the proper relationship between rigorous scholarship and responsible citizenship Contextualizing Compliance in the Public Sector Saba Siddiki, Salvador Espinosa, Tanya Heikkilä, 2018-07-06 Studying compliance to uncover whether compliance is occurring and what motivates it is central to the broader study of governance Contextualizing Compliance in the Public Sector Individual Motivations Social Processes and Institutional Design develops an interdisciplinary approach for answering a classic and essential question in any rule governed context What factors influence the decision of an individual or organization to comply or not with governing rules Analyzing compliance from an interdisciplinary and multi level perspective this book examines the question of what motivates compliance in the context of salient policy issues such as energy policy water governance police profiling and drug policy among others The book brings together an interdisciplinary group of experts who explore the psychological social and institutional factors that shape compliance with formal rules embodied in laws and regulations and or informal rules embodied in social norms In doing so they offer a platform for assessing individual compliance compliance by or in the context of groups and compliance on a systemic or societal level Contextualizing Compliance in the Public Sector Individual Motivations Social Processes and Institutional Design is an excellent resource for researchers and scholars of public administration and public policy conducting research on compliance rules behavior and policy outcomes Routledge Handbook of the Study of the Commons Blake Hudson, Jonathan Rosenbloom, Dan Cole, 2019-01-04 This comprehensive Handbook serves as a unique synthesis and resource for understanding how analytical frameworks developed within the literature assist in understanding the nature and management of commons resources Such frameworks include those related to Institutional Analysis and Development Social Ecological Systems and Polycentricity among others The book aggregates and analyses these frameworks to lay a foundation for exploring how they apply according to scholars across a wide range of disciplines It includes an exploration of the unique problems arising in different disciplines of commons study including natural resources forests oceans water energy ecosystems etc economics law governance the humanities and intellectual property It shows how the analytical frameworks discussed early in the book facilitate interdisciplinarity within commons scholarship This interdisciplinary approach within the context of analytical frameworks helps facilitate a more complete understanding of the similarities and differences faced by commons resource users and managers the usefulness of the commons lens as an analytical tool for studying resource management problems and the best mechanisms by which to formulate policies aimed at addressing such problems Chapter 26 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license Environmental Adaptation and Eco-cultural Habitats Johannes Schubert, 2015-10-23 In this challenging and highly original book the author tackles the dynamic relationships between physical nature and societies over time It is argued that within each eco cultural habitat the relationship between physical nature and society is mediated by specific entanglements between technologies institutions and cultural values These habitat specific entanglements are neither ecologically nor culturally predetermined but result from mutual adaptation based on variation trial and error and selection It is shown how a variety of eco cultural habitats evolves from this coevolutionary process The book explores how these varieties come into being and how their specific characteristics affect the capacity to cope with environmental or social problems such as flooding or unemployment There are two case studies illustrating the potential of a coevolutionary understanding of the society nature nexus In the first rural and urban settlement structures are conceptualized as distinct paths of eco cultural adaptation It is shown that each of these paths is characterized by predictable spatial correspondences between dwelling technologies modes of social reproduction cultural preferences and related patterns in energy consumption i e social metabolism The second case study deals with flood protection in liberal and coordinated eco welfare and production regimes drawing on lessons from the Netherlands and Hurricane Katrina in New Orleans As a contribution to theory in environmental sociology the coevolutionary perspective developed provides deeper insights into the intricate interplay between physical and social nature

Interpretive

Research Design Peregrine Schwartz-Shea,Dvora Yanow,2013-06-17 Research design is fundamental to all scientific endeavors at all levels and in all institutional settings In many social science disciplines however scholars working in an interpretive qualitative tradition get little guidance on this aspect of research from the positivist centered training they receive This book is an authoritative examination of the concepts and processes underlying the design of an interpretive research project Such an approach to design starts with the recognition that researchers are inevitably embedded in the intersubjective social processes of the worlds they study In focusing on researchers theoretical ontological epistemological and methods choices in designing research projects Schwartz Shea and Yanow set the stage for other volumes in the Routledge Series on Interpretive Methods They also engage some very practical issues such as ethics reviews and the structure of research proposals This concise guide explores where research questions come from criteria for evaluating research designs how interpretive researchers engage with world making context systematicity and flexibility reflexivity and positionality and such contemporary issues as data archiving and the researcher s body in the field

Global Carbon

Pricing Peter Cramton,David JC MacKay,Axel Ockenfels,Steven Stoft,2017-06-16 Why the traditional pledge and review climate agreements have failed and how carbon pricing based on trust and reciprocity could succeed After twenty five years of failure climate negotiations continue to use a pledge and review approach countries pledge almost anything subject to unenforced review This approach ignores everything we know about human cooperation In this book leading economists describe an alternate model for climate agreements drawing on the work of the late Nobel laureate Elinor Ostrom and others They show that a common commitment scheme is more effective than an individual commitment scheme the latter depends on altruism while the former involves reciprocity we will if you will The contributors propose that global carbon pricing is the best candidate for a reciprocal common commitment in climate negotiations Each country would commit to placing charges on carbon emissions sufficient to match an agreed global price formula The contributors show that carbon pricing would facilitate negotiations and enforcement improve efficiency and flexibility and make other climate policies more effective Additionally they analyze the failings of the 2015 Paris climate conference Contributors Richard N Cooper Peter Cramton Ottmar Edenhofer Christian Gollier loi Laurent David JC MacKay William Nordhaus Axel Ockenfels Joseph E Stiglitz Steven Stoft Jean Tirole Martin L Weitzman A Finer Future L.
