imperatives for authors publishers and readers Smith argues that this literature served as a form of extra ecclesiastical ministry and credits the popularity and longevity of religious books to their day to day usefulness rather than their theological correctness or aesthetic quality Drawing on publishers records letters by readers to authors promotional materials and interviews with contemporary religious reading groups Smith offers a comprehensive study that finds surprising overlap across the religious spectrum Protestant Catholic and Jewish liberal and conservative Smith tells the story of how authors publishers and readers reconciled these books dual function as best selling consumer goods and spiritually edifying literature What Would Jesus Read will be of interest to literary and cultural historians students in the field of print culture and scholars of religious studies

What Did Jesus Do? F. Scott Spencer, 2003-08-01 What Would Jesus Do is a popular phrase in Christian circles but answers to that question might be more on target if we spent more time exploring as Scott Spencer has What Did Jesus Do Spencer examines both the Synoptics and the Gospel of John as he tries to catch a wide angled vision of Jesus behavior in the gospels Rather than focus on sayings or pronouncements as an authoritative code of conduct he studies Jesus deeds or actions as keys to his identity and vocation While not ignoring Jesus teaching this study is more interested in discovering how Jesus personally lived up to his own moral instruction his personal conduct Chapters are devoted to Jesus actions with respect to his family his friends his body his possessions his work his reputation and the environment Spencer suggests paths and pitfalls for relating Jesus personal conduct to individual behavior how we might move from what Jesus did in the New Testament to what we should do today F Scott Spencer is Professor of New Testament at Baptist Theological Seminary at Richmond Virginia and is the author of The Portrait of Philip in Acts A Study of Roles and Relations and Acts He is the Chair of the New Testament section for the Southeastern Commission for the Study of Religion
