Handbook of Life Cycle Assessment (LCA) of Textiles and Clothing Subramanian Senthilkannan Muthu, 2015-07-25 Life cycle assessment LCA is used to evaluate the environmental impacts of textile products from raw material extraction through fibre processing textile manufacture distribution and use to disposal or recycling LCA is an important tool for the research and development process product and process design and labelling of textiles and clothing Handbook of Life Cycle Assessment LCA of Textiles and Clothing systematically covers the LCA process with comprehensive examples and case studies Part one of the book covers key indicators and processes in LCA from carbon and ecological footprints to disposal re use and recycling Part two then discusses a broad range of LCA applications in the textiles and clothing industry Covers the LCA process and its key indicators including carbon and ecological footprints disposal re use and recycling Examines the key developments of LCA in the textile and clothing industries Provides a wide range of case studies and examples of LCA applications in the textile and clothing industries

Validity Gregory J. Cizek, 2020-02-25 Validity is a clear substantive introduction to the two most fundamental aspects of defensible testing practice understanding test score meaning and justifying test score use Driven by evidence based and consensus grounded measurement theory principles and terminology this book addresses the most common questions of applied validation the quality of test information and the usefulness of test results Concise yet comprehensive this volume's integrated framework is ideal for graduate courses on assessment testing psychometrics and research methods as well as for credentialing organizations licensure and certification entities education agencies and test publishers

The Truth About the Tribulation James Lewis, 2020-10-28 Since I was in high school in the early sixties I heard that the tribulation could come at any time I was told nothing more needed to happen before the church was raptured I was told there was no mention of Christians after the third chapter of Revelation But I thought to myself if nothing is left why we haven't we been raptured About ten years ago I started serious research on the subject I found the answers were not as I was taught during my high school years The more I studied the more truth I found I decided to put what I learned into a book to teach others the real truth about the tribulation They say what you don't know can't hurt you I found out that's a lie There are things you need to know before the tribulation starts

Assessing The E-Government Development Performance of Southeast Asian Countries (Based on the 2003- 2016 UN E-Government Survey) Chiara Anindya, Anang Dwi Santoso, Yusra Purnamasari, Bimasakti Bhakti K., Ajeng Silvayanti, 2024-10-09 In the Information Age we live in governments around the world are provided with a variety of tools to aid their practices. Traditionally deemed as a bureaucratic practice, the incorporation of information and communications technologies (ICTs) allows governments to easily share public information. E-government allows citizens to claim an active role in the governing process. The practice of e-government is also seen to be more cost efficient as the government can reach its citizens in just a click. Naturally, e-government will continue to develop adjacent to the development of technology itself. In 2001, the United Nations (UN) started an exhaustive attempt to measure the global practice of e-government. The series of surveys began with an eighty-one page report titled Benchmarking E-Government: A Global Perspective. These surveys would later be known as the UN E-Government Survey. As stated in their 2003 publication, information technology applications, especially e-government programs, are increasingly becoming the cornerstone of government operations. p. 4. One of the primary outcomes of the first UN E-Government Survey was the E-Government Readiness Index, a treasured instrument the UN would later use in their subsequent research projects. Until December 2016, the UN has released nine survey reports on global e-government. The reports were published respectively in 2001, 2003, 2004, 2005, 2008, 2010, 2012, 2014, and 2016. However, the 2001 issue was not included as data for this monograph as it remains to only be an early effort in benchmarking the global progress of e-government. Each report addresses specific issues such as e-inclusion, sustainable development, connected governance, etc. The world rank of e-government practice, measured by the E-Government Development Index (EGDI), is included in each report. The EGDI was developed using the same components of the E-Government Readiness index but differs in the number of questions. Although the report doesn't address the thorough practice of e-government in all countries, it offers insight on the global, regional, and sub-regional digital government trends. Naturally, American and European countries appear frequently on the survey's top ranks. However, some Asian countries were starting to claim their place amongst the world's best e-government practices, with the Republic of Korea being the best worldwide in 2010, 2012, and 2014. World Literacy John W. Miller, Michael C.

McKenna, 2016-01-29. International literacy assessments have provided ample data for ranking nations, charting growth, and casting blame. Summarizing the findings of these assessments, which afford a useful vantage from which to view world literacy as it evolves, this book examines literate behavior worldwide in terms of both the ability of populations from a wide variety of nations to read and the practice of literate behavior in those nations. Drawing on The World's Most Literate Nations, author Jack Miller's internationally released study, emerging trends in world literacy and their relationships to political, economic, and social factors are explored. Literacy, and in particular the practice of literate behaviors, is used as a lens through which to view countries' economic development, gender equality, resource utilization, and ethnic discrimination. Above all, this book is about trajectories. It begins with historical contexts described in terms of support for literate cultures. Based on a variety of data sources, these trends are traced to the present and then projected ahead. The literate futures of nations are discussed, and how these relate to their economic and sociocultural development. This book is unique in providing a broader perspective on an intractable problem a vantage point that offers useful insights to inform policy and in bringing together an array of relevant data sources not typically associated with literacy status Only in New Orleans Luis Mirón, Brian R. Beabout, Joseph L. Boselovic, 2015-07-22 With 2015 marking the 10th commemoration of Hurricane Katrina education reform in New Orleans continues to garner substantial local national and international attention Advocates and critics alike have continued to cite test scores new school providers and different theories of governance in making multiple arguments for and against how contemporary education policy is shaping public education and its role in the rebuilding of the city Rather than trying to provide a single unified account of education reform in New Orleans the chapters in this volume provide multiple ways of approaching some of the most significant questions around school choice and educational equity that have arisen in the years since Katrina This collection of research articles essays and journalistic accounts of education reform in New Orleans collectively argues that the extreme makeover of the city's public schools toward a new market based model was shaped by many local historically specific conditions In consequence while the city's schools have been both heralded as a model for other cities and derided as a lesson in the limits of market based reform the experience of education reform that has taken place in the city and its impacts on the lives of students families and educators could have happened only in New Orleans

The effects of a CAADP-compliant budget on poverty and inequality in Ghana Younger, Stephen D., Benin, Samuel, 2017-09-15 Ghana has accepted the CAADP commitment to dedicate 10 percent of government spending to the agricultural sector In a 2014 paper Benin argues that Ghana falls short of that goal and in a 2016 paper Younger shows that despite the current fiscal crisis there is fiscal space to meet the commitment Benin estimates the rates of return to increased public expenditure on agriculture finding that they are quite high especially if the investments are made in the noncocoa sector This paper uses Benin s estimates to examine the poverty and inequality consequences of increasing public expenditure on agriculture Key conclusions are that public expenditure on agriculture is surprisingly progressive especially if spent in the grains subsector This progressivity combined with the high rate of return means that public investment in agriculture may actually be more efficient at reducing poverty than LEAP Ghana s targeted conditional cash transfer program

From Evidence to Action Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2018-10-18 Cash transfers have become a key social protection tool in developing countries and have expanded dramatically in the last two decades However the impacts of cash transfers programmes especially in Sub Saharan Africa have not been substantially documented This book presents a detailed overview of the impact evaluations of these programmes carried out by the Transfer Project and FAO s From Protection to Production project The 14 chapters include a review of eight country case studies Kenya Ghana Ethiopia Zambia Zimbabwe Lesotho Malawi South Africa as well as a description of the innovative research methodologies political economy issues and good practices to design cash transfer programmes The key objective of the book is to enhance the understanding of these development programmes how they lead to a broad range of social and productive impacts and also of the role of programme evaluation in the process of developing policies and implementing programmes
