philosophy to students of the twenty first century Knowledge and Christian Belief Alvin Plantinga, 2015-04-13 In his widely praised Warranted Christian Belief Oxford 2000 Alvin Plantinga discussed in great depth the question of the rationality or sensibility of Christian belief In this book Plantinga presents the same ideas in a briefer much more accessible fashion Recognized worldwide as a leading Christian philosopher Plantinga probes what exactly is meant by the claim that religious and specifically Christian belief is irrational and cannot sensibly be held He argues that the criticisms of such well known atheists as Richard Dawkins Daniel Dennett Sam Harris and Christopher Hitchens are completely wrong Finally Plantinga addresses several potential defeaters to Christian belief pluralism science evil and suffering and shows how they fail to successfully defeat rational Christian belief The World in His Hands Christopher Lee Bolt, 2019-04-17 From the moment we wake until the time we go to sleep we are bombarded by the benefits of science in the practical elements of everyday life Electricity lights hot showers breakfast cereals clothing cars cell phones roads security systems computers communications traffic lights climate control and entertainment are just a sampling of the many benefits of science In addition to technological advances medicine and agriculture progress with science as well Even educational political and marketing strategists invoke science to substantiate their claims Science dominates the collective Western mindset and we regard it with the utmost respect Yet society remains generally religious even though science and religion are frequently thought of as being at odds with one another How do we reconcile the two Christians are taught to believe that God is in control of everything including the natural elements But how does God relate to physical laws Is God in control of the world or laws of nature Could both views be correct This book examines the Christian doctrine of divine providence and its implications for the laws of nature and the problem of induction before contrasting secular and Islamic approaches to these same topics Exploding Stars, Dead Dinosaurs, and Zombies Andrew Root, 2017-12-05 Many things threaten the faith of youth today but none more than science The commitments of science and Christianity seem to be at odds science makes truth claims based on experiments and proofs while religion asks for belief and trust But Andrew Root demonstrates that in fact the two are not incompatible Root a renowned expert on adolescent spirituality shows how science overstates its claims on truth while faith often understates its own claims Both faith and science frame the experience and reality of teenagers and both have something valuable to offer as adolescents develop Drawing on a fictional account of a youth pastor and the various students he encounters Root paints a compelling picture of how faith can flourish even in our scientific age probability of our cognitive faculties reliably producing true beliefs is low if ontological naturalism is true and therefore all other beliefs produced by these faculties including naturalism itself are self defeating He critiques other well known epistemological approaches including those of Descartes and Quine and deftly counters the many objections against the EAAN to conclude that metaphysical naturalism should be rejected on the grounds of self defeat By situating Plantinga's argument within a wider context and showing that science and evolution cannot entail naturalism Slagle renders this most common metaphysical view irrational As such the book advocates an important reconsideration of contemporary thought at the intersection of philosophy science and religion Science and Religion Daniel C. Dennett, Alvin Plantinga, 2011-05-05 An enlightening discussion that will motivate students to think critically the book opens with Plantinga's assertion that Christianity is compatible with evolutionary theory because Christians believe that God created the living world and it is entirely possible that God did so by using a process of evolution Archives de sciences sociales des religions ,2015

Quel âge post-séculier? Joan Stavo-Debaugue, Philippe Gonzalez, Roberto Frega, 2015 The Index ,1879 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art ,1908 The Landscapes of Science and Religion Nick Spencer, Hannah Waite, 2025-01-24 The relationship between science and religion has long been a heated debate and is becoming an ever more popular topic The scientific capacity to manipulate and change humans and their environment through genetic engineering life extension and AI is going to take a huge leap forward in the twenty first century provoking endless debates around humans playing God But what do we mean by this Asking this question is surprisingly hard work Attempts to essentialise science let alone religion quickly run into trouble Where are the boundaries Whose definition of science is definitive Which concept of religious is the authoritative one Ultimately neither science nor religion can be pinned down to one single meaning or definition Rather they encompass a family of definitions that relate to one another in a complex web of shifting ways Drawing on extensive research with over a hundred leading thinkers in the UK including Martin Rees Brian Cox Susan Greenfield A C Grayling Ray Tallis Linda Woodhead Steve Bruce Adam Rutherford Robin Dunbar Francesca Stavrakopoulou and Iain McGilchrist The Landscapes of Science and Religion takes the much needed step of asking what science and religion actually are before turning to the familiar question of how they relate to one another Building on this by paying particular attention to those who sense some form of conflict here Spencer and Waite explore where the perceived conflict really lies What exactly are people disagreeing about when they disagree about science and religion and what if anything can we do to improve that disagreement and bring about a fruitful dialogue between these two important human endeavours The Herald of Asia ,1918 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science, Art, and Finance ,1908
