Conceptualising Women's Working Lives Wendy Patton, 2013-04-20 Theoretical work on the career development of women has travelled a journey from critique to creation Early work responded to and criticised a literature that focused on theorising male roles in a workplace that was conceptualised as providing vertical career paths primarily for middle class males More recently theorists are creating new constructions and frameworks to enable a more holistic understanding of career applicable to both women and men These constructions include broadening the discussion from women s careers to women s working lives This is the fifth book in the Sense Publishers Career Development Series It features the vibrant work of contributors from around the world writing in the field of women s working lives It emphasises the need to explore theoretical connections and understandings in order to facilitate a more holistic and inclusive understanding of women s working lives The writers in the current volume acknowledge the changing roles of women in both public and private spheres Women s roles in paid work are changing both in their nature and type of engagement In addition with an ageing population women s roles in care work are increasingly being extended from child care to aged care This book provides a history of theorising about women s careers in addition to presenting a focus on current empirical and theoretical work which contributes to understandings of women s working lives It s contributions both map the current discourse and challenge future work to extend the boundaries of that discourse

Sport and Exercise Psychology Stewart Cotterill, Neil Weston, Gavin Breslin, 2016-06-13 SPORT AND EXERCISE PSYCHOLOGICAL This book is a joy to read and greatly needed The overall scholarly quality is very strong and the chapters are clear accessible helpful and interesting a rare combination There are few texts that examine sport and exercise from a practitioner's perspective and fewer that help students and trainees navigate the complex terrain of practice. The editors should be congratulated on pulling together a book that educates, inspires, provokes, and will be of practical use. Professor Brett Smith, School of Sport, Exercise, and Rehabilitation Sciences, University of Birmingham, Sport and Exercise Psychology Practitioner Case Studies is a contemporary text focusing on current issues in the discipline of sport and exercise psychology. Integrating research and practice in order to develop a coherent understanding of existing knowledge, future research directions, and applied implications within the field, the text explores issues pertinent to the applied practitioner, supervisor, and draws on expert commentary to investigate potential solutions to many key issues. Each chapter uses a case study approach to allow internationally recognized contributors to highlight and evaluate their experience across a broad range of sport and exercise performance areas. Practitioners are provided with a full range of available interventions to address specific types of psychological issue, including performing under pressure, working with teams, injury rehabilitation, working with coaches, mental toughness, career transitions, athlete well-being, physical activity promotion, exercise and body image, lifestyle interventions, exercise dependence, and motor learning and control. Sport and Exercise Psychology is supported by a range of online materials designed to help both study and practice. It presents content that is directly applicable to those seeking to enter the profession and which can also inform the ongoing development of reflective practitioners. Intimate Partner Violence and the LGBT+ Community Brenda Russell, 2020-05-28. Intimate Partner Violence is a serious social problem affecting millions in the United States and worldwide. The image of violence enacted by a male aggressor to a female victim dominates public perceptions of intimate partner violence (IPV). This volume examines how this heteronormativity influences reporting and responding to partner violence when those involved do not fit the stereotype of a typical victim of IPV. Research and theory have helped us to understand power dynamics about heterosexual IPV; this book encourages greater attention to the unique issues and power dynamics of IPV in sexual minority populations. Divided into five distinct sections, chapters address research and theories associated with IPV, examining the similarities and differences of IPV within heterosexual and gender minority relationships. Among the topics discussed: Research methodology and scope of the problem; Primary prevention and intervention of IPV among sexual and gender minorities; Barriers to help-seeking among various populations; Promoting outreach and advocacy; Criminal justice response to IPV. With recommendations for intervention and prevention, criminal justice response, and policy, Intimate Partner Violence and the LGBT+ Community Understanding Power Dynamics will be of use to students, researchers, and practitioners of psychology, criminal justice, and public policy.

COVID-19 and Women's Health, 2nd edition Stephen Kennedy, Laura A. Magee, Stacey A. Missmer, Jayashri Kulkarni, Vassiliki Benetou, Marianne Vidler, Chelsea Morroni, 2023-02-07. As a result of the Coronavirus disease (COVID-19) pandemic, the world is facing one of the greatest challenges we have experienced in over a century. The economic consequences for society at large are potentially catastrophic. The health and social care sectors have reacted by providing emergency care on an unprecedented scale while the scientific community has focused on developing new treatments and a vaccine to prevent future waves of the pandemic Evidence is emerging to suggest that certain conditions such as obesity and hypertension predispose some individuals to a worse outcome if they become infected and that women may be less likely to die from COVID 19 than men It is also currently believed that pregnant women are at no greater risk than the general population There is an urgent need to determine whether these early observations are correct Furthermore we need to be sure that pregnancy outcomes are not affected by COVID 19 and that SARS CoV 2 is not transmitted to the fetus during pregnancy or labour nor to the infant through breast milk There are so many questions that need to be answered to optimise care avoid harm reduce anxiety amongst women and their families and inform health professionals and policymakers We also need to understand the unintended consequences of the global lockdown on women s health in general For example have rates of domestic violence risen to what extent has women s mental health been affected and have women successfully adapted or devised new coping mechanisms have women been denied access to gynaecological treatments during the lockdown including safe abortion and if so with what impact on their health and wellbeing has the female work force suffered disproportionately in economic terms have national and international recommendations and policies been sufficiently gender neutral have breastfeeding rates been adversely affected will COVID 19 make attainment of the UN SDGs more difficult etc In keeping with the Scope Mission of Frontiers in Global Women s Health this Research Topic aims to provide a multi disciplinary platform to answer important COVID 19 related questions that specifically impact upon women s health and wellbeing particular in resource poor settings The Topic Editors welcome a broad range of contributions including Original Research Reviews Commentaries Study Protocols and Systematic Reviews We would like to acknowledge Dr Nathalie MacDermott and Dr Rhiannon George Carey who have acted as coordinators and have contributed to the preparation of the proposal for this Research Topic Given the exceptional nature of the COVID 19 situation Frontiers is waiving all article publishing charges for COVID 19 related research in this Research Topic Please note that manuscripts must be submitted by the deadline of December 31st The SAGE Handbook of Gender and Psychology Michelle K Ryan,Nyla R

Women in Prison Barbara H. Zaitzow, Jim Thomas, 2003 It is old news that the conditions and policies of women s prisons are different from those for incarcerated men Less evident however is how gender differences shape those policies and how gender identity and roles shape women s adaptation and resistance to prison culture and control The papers in this collection explore how the gender based attitudes that women bring to prison frame how they respond to the prison environment and how gender stereotypes continue to affect the treatment and opportunities of incarcerated women today It looks particularly at how the personal and social problems imported into the prison setting become part of the intricate web of prison culture and how extensively women s prison experience reflects the control and domination they experienced in the outside world
