Vincenzi, Mustapha Mouloua, Peter A. Hancock, 2005-01-06 In 2000 the Conference on Automation joined forces with a partner group on situation awareness SA The rising complexity of systems demands that one can be aware of a large range of environmental and task based stimulation in order to match what is done with what has to be done Thus SA and automation based interaction fall naturally together and this conference is the second embodiment of this union Moving into the 21st century further diversification of the applications of automation will continue for example the revolution in genetic technology Given the broad nature of this form of human machine interaction it is vital to apply past lessons to map a future for the symbiotic relationship between humans and the artifacts they create It is as part of this ongoing endeavor that the present volume is offered The Future of Air Traffic Control National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Human-Systems Integration, Panel on Human Factors in Air Traffic Control Automation, 1998-01-26 Automation in air traffic control may increase efficiency but it also raises questions about adequate human control over automated systems Following on the panel's first volume on air traffic control automation Flight to the Future NRC 1997 this book focuses on the interaction of pilots and air traffic controllers with a growing network of automated functions in the airspace system The panel offers recommendations for development of human centered automation addressing key areas such as providing levels of automation that are appropriate to levels of risk examining procedures for recovery from emergencies free flight versus ground based authority and more The book explores ways in which technology can build on human strengths and compensate for human vulnerabilities minimizing both mistrust of automation and complacency about its abilities The panel presents an overview of emerging technologies and trends toward automation within the national airspace system in areas such as global positioning and other aspects of surveillance flight information provided to pilots and controllers collision avoidance strategic long term planning and systems for training and maintenance The book examines how to achieve better integration of research and development including the importance of user involvement in air traffic control It also discusses how to harmonize the wide range of functions in the national airspace system with a detailed review of the free flight initiative International Encyclopedia of Ergonomics and Human Factors Waldemar Karwowski,2001 International Encyclopedia of Ergonomics and Human Factors - 3 Volume Set Informa Healthcare,2000-12-14 The first encyclopedia in the field the International Encyclopedia of Ergonomics and Human Factors provides a comprehensive and authoritative compendium of current knowledge on ergonomics and human factors It gives specific information on concepts and tools unique to ergonomics About 500 entries published in three volumes and on CD ROM are pre SSC.
