Socialising with Diversity Fran Meissner, 2016-07-08 This book analyses post migration social networks via the notion of superdiversity Approaching diversity as relational and complexly configured through multiple migration related differentiations it challenges us to rethink how we talk about and classify migrant networks Based on research in two cities of migration London and Toronto the author investigates how we can use a superdiversity lens to discuss migrant networks in urban contexts Focusing on the personal networks of Pacific Islanders and New Zealand M ori she sheds light on the sociality practices of relatively small groups of migrants the members of which are nonetheless differentiated in terms of superdiversity Using cluster analytic pattern detection to explore alternative ways of describing migrant networks she brings into play multifaceted descriptions such as city cohort long term resident superdiverse and migrant peer networks Visualising complex patterns of diversity this book therefore contributes to theoretical debates by proposing a relational understanding of diversity rather than one based on the enumeration of ethnic categories This book will appeal to sociologists political scientists and all scholars interested in urban diversity migration and diasporas

Anthropology and Migration Caroline B. Brettell, 2003-09-08 Brettell's new book provides new insight into the processes of migration and transnationalism from an anthropological perspective It has been estimated at the turn of the millennium that 160 million people are living outside of their country of birth or citizenship The author analyzes macro and micro approaches to migration theory utilizing her extensive fieldwork in Portugal as well as research in Germany Brazil France the United States and Canada Key issues she discusses include the value of immigrant incorporation vs assimilation models the impacts on individual household and community as well as institutions and states the role of ethnicity and ethnic groups the effects of clandestine or illegal immigration the differing commitments to host vs sending communities the shift from city enclaves to suburban areas the constraints and opportunities that lead to ethnic entrepreneurship the role of religion in transnational linkages and the differing experiences of men and women as migrants Brettell also explores the relevance of life histories and oral narratives in understanding the immigration process and the mediation of boundaries in a new society This book provides a fresh perspective on the contemporary experience of migration and will be indispensable to instructors and researchers in anthropology race and ethnic studies immigration studies urban studies sociology and international relations

Benelong's Haven Richard Chenhall,2014-02-01 Benelong s Haven was the first residential alcohol and drug treatment program controlled and operated by an Aboriginal Australian It was established by Val Bryant in 1974 in the Sydney suburb of Marrickville before moving to the small township of Kinchela Creek on the mid north coast of New South Wales three years later The centre is one example of the different approaches Aboriginal people have developed to deal with the problem of drug and alcohol abuse in their communities where people who have experienced problems with alcohol and drug use can leave their existing environment and come to a different place Anthropologist Richard Chenhall first visited Benelong s Haven for two weeks in late 1997 At the invitation of Val Bryant he returned later for an extended period of fieldwork observing and participating in the centre s activities and getting to know staff and residents There have been few studies that reflect Aboriginal social life in larger cities or in institutional settings Benelong s Haven represents an attempt to examine at the ethnographic level the different ways in which individuals are shaped by and interact within the larger structures and social institutions that surround them More specifically it documents an instance of Australian Aboriginal people trying to achieve change in their lives

Diaspora of the City İlay Romain Örs,2017-11-10 As the former capital of two great empires Eastern Roman and Ottoman Istanbul has been home to many diverse populations a condition often glossed as cosmopolitanism The Greek speaking Christian Orthodox community Rum Polites is among the oldest in the urban society yet their leading status during the centuries of imperial cosmopolitanism has faded They have even been brought to the brink of disappearance in their home city Scattered around the world as a result of the homogenizing tendencies of nationalism the Rum Polites in the diaspora of Istanbul the City or Poli continue to identify with its cosmopolitan legacy as vividly shown through their everyday practices of distinction and cultural memory By exploring the shifting meaning of cosmopolitanism in spatial and temporal contexts Diaspora of the City examines how experiences of forced displacement can highlight changing conceptualizations of what constitutes a local diasporic minority or migrant community in different multicultural urban settings past and present Discourses on Religious Diversity Martin D. Stringer, 2016-05-23 Religious diversity is an ever present and increasingly visible reality in cities across the world It is an issue of immediate concern to city leaders and members of religious communities but do we really know what ordinary members of the public the people who live in the city really think about it Major news items inter religious violence and notorious public events often lead to negative views being expressed especially among those who would not consider themselves to have a religious identity of their own Martin Stringer explores the highly complex series of discourses around religion and religious diversity that are held by ordinary members of the city discourses that are often contradictory in themselves and discourses that show that attitudes to religion vary considerably depending on context and wider local or national narratives Drawing on examples from UK particularly Birmingham one of the UK's most diverse cities Europe and the United States Stringer offers some practical suggestions for ways in which discourses of religious diversity can be managed in the future Students in the fields of religious studies sociology anthropology and urban studies practitioners involved in inter religious debates and church and other faith leaders and politicians should all find this book an invaluable addition to ongoing debates Urban Anthropology in the 1990's Irene Glasser, Lawrence Bart Breitborde, 1996

JASO ,1995 East to West Migration Helen Kopnina,2019-10-01 The collapse of the communist regimes in Eastern Europe brought widespread fear of a tidal wave of immigrants from the East into Western Europe Quite apart from the social and political importance East West migration also poses a challenge to established theories of migration as in most cases the migrant flow cannot be categorised as either refugee movement or a labour migration Indeed much of the trans border movement is not officially recognised as many migrants are temporary commuting tourists or illegal and remain invisible to the authorities This book focuses on Russian migration into Western Europe following the break up of the Soviet Union Helen Kopnina explores the concept of community through an examination of the lives of Russian migrants in two major European cities London and Amsterdam In both cases Kopnina finds an invisible community inadequately defined in existing literature Arguing that Russian migrants are highly diverse both socially and in terms of their views and adaptation strategies Kopnina uncovers a community divided by mutual antagonisms prompting many to reject the idea of belonging to a community at all Based on extensive interviews this fascinating and unique ethnographic account of the new migration challenges the underlying assumptions of traditional migration studies and post modern theories It provides a powerful critique for the study of new migrant groups in Western Europe and the wider process of European identity formation American Book Publishing Record ,1995 Imagem do Imigrante Brasileiro no Jornalismo Televisivo Português 2004-2006 Willy Filho,2008-12-01 Esta tese analisa a construção da imagem do imigrante brasileiro no jornalismo televisivo português O tema trabalhado enquadrado nas teorias das migrações e nas teorias da construção da imagem telejornalística O corpus de análise constituído por 19 peças transmitidas durante o prime time da RTP1 da SIC e da TVI veiculadas entre Janeiro de 2004 e Junho de 2006 A identificação deste corpus fundamenta-se em estudos anteriores e envolveu a observação de 160 peças transmitidas ao longo daqueles 30 meses A análise incidiu em quatro unidades de registo sobre a representação do imigrante brasileiro no telejornalismo português homem mulher família e cidadão brasileiro No trabalho empírico onde se utilizou metodologias de análise da Imagem as peças foram transcritas e categorizadas em função de três textos estruturais o visual o sonoro e o escrito de forma a identificar os seus elementos construtivos Esta metodologia formal e textual tornou possível a visualização de certas tendências de representação dos cidadãos brasileiros imigrados em Portugal Em relação às unidades de registo convencionadas conclui-se que existem diferenças estilísticas e construtivas sobretudo em relação à representação do género masculino de uma forte tendência para a valorização de construtos mais tabloidizantes Pacific Answers to Western Hegemony Jürg Wassmann,1998-08 Based on extensive work this book addresses a subject of great immediacy to people of the Pacific Island nations It fills a gap in existing ethnographic literature on the region navigates what had previously been considered uncharted Cosmos and

Society in Oceania Daniel de Coppet, André Iteanu, 1995 Current anthropology uses expressions such as society as a whole socio cosmic relations spatiotemporal extension global ideology and cosmomorphy to establish that the clear cut Western dichotomy between society and cosmos is not always to be found in the communities it studies In fact many elements that the West would at first undoubtedly classify as belonging either to the cosmos or to the society appear very often in Melanesia as belonging to neither one of these domains but to a realm which combines the attributes of both Focusing on different examples drawn from diverse Melanesian societies this thought provoking volume by eminent specialists re examines the relation between society and cosmos and in the process opens new directions for research Marketing and Modernity Marianne E. Lien, 1997-09 What 200 products can be made from a dead chicken What should turkey really taste like How can you make a ready made meal appear less manufactured How do you market a folk pizza This fascinating and entertaining book examines the strategies and struggles of the young professionals who are responsible for marketing a variety of ready made food products for a major Norwegian food manufacturer This setting provides the empirical focus for the analysis of the key tensions and contradictions which are to be found in modernity Through a detailed description of everyday life in the marketing department the book critically examines many of the features which are believed to characterise modernity such as authenticity ambivalence and the quest for order The setting also allows the author to explore key economic terms such as the market product brand and consumer Drawing on comparative material the author suggests that modernity may be characterized not so much by an effort at making order but rather by specific ways of dealing with ambivalence and demonstrates that features generally associated with modernity may not be so modern after all Whitaker's Books in Print , 1998
