

A scenic landscape featuring a calm lake in the foreground, surrounded by dense evergreen forests. In the background, majestic mountains rise under a sky filled with dramatic, orange-hued clouds, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The overall mood is serene and awe-inspiring.

I know the whole world is watching now.
And I wish the world could see what I can see. Sometimes you have to get up really high to understand how small you really are. I'm going home now.

The Whole World Is Watching:

The Whole World Is Watching Todd Gitlin, 2003-05 New preface for this classic of media studies One of the founders of SDS describes the response of the various news organizations and arrives at the way the New Left came to be characterized

The Whole World is Watching Todd Gitlin, Professor of Culture Journalism and Sociology Todd Gitlin, 1980-01-01 The whole world is watching chanted the demonstrators in the Chicago streets in 1968 as the TV cameras beamed images of police cracking heads into homes everywhere Acclaimed media critic Todd Gitlin first scrutinizes major news coverage in the early days of the antiwar movement Drawing on his own experiences he was president of the Students for a Democratic Society in 1963 64 and on interviews with key activists and news reporters he shows in detail how the media first ignore new political developments then select and emphasize aspects of the story that treat movements as oddities He then demonstrates how the media glare made leaders into celebrities and estranged them from their movement base how it inflated the importance of revolutionary rhetoric destabilizing the movement then promoted moderate alternatives all the while spreading the antiwar message Finally Gitlin draws together a theory of news coverage as a form of anti democratic social management which he sees at work also in media treatment of the anti nuclear and other later movements Publisher description
