Wisconsin Then And Now The Wisconsin Sesquicentennial Rephotography Project:

Wisconsin Then and Now Nicolette Bromberg, 2001 Pairs one hundred historic photographs with one hundred recent photos by some of the state's finest present day documentary photographers and photojournalists Documents rural and urban landscapes communities and social activities over the course of 150 years Through the Lens of the City , During the 1970s the National Endowment for the Arts Photography Surveys granted money to photograph American cities at the bicentennial and years that followed In Through the Lens of the City NEA Photography Surveys of the 1970s Mark Rice brings to light this long neglected photographic endeavor From 1976 to 1981 the NEA supported more than seventy projects that examined a wide range of people and places in America Artists involved included such well known photographers as Bruce Davidson Lee Friedlander and Joel Meyerowitz and many photographers who became widely known after their work with the surveys such as Robert Adams Joe Deal Terry Evans and Wendy Ewald Rice argues that the NEA Photographic Surveys drew from two wells a widespread sense of nostalgia and an intense public interest in photography Looking at the works from eight key cities Atlanta Buffalo Durham East Baltimore Galveston Long Beach Los Angeles and Venice the book uncovers marked differences as well as startling similarities in the concerns manifested by different photographers in far flung places Although the surveys are interesting both for their artistic merits and for their place in the history of American photography they are equally important as a documentation of bicentennial era America and a close examination of American cities A major shift in the ideals of civil engineering and urban planning was underway in the 1970s At the same time ideas and theories about photography were changing along with our notions of what the city could and should be These surveys capturing American cities in a fascinating period of flux show us American photographers matching artistry to subject matter in new and exciting ways Mark Rice is chair of the American studies department at St John Fisher College His work has been published in such periodicals as Exposure Explore and Reviews in American History Wisconsin Magazine of History Milo Milton Quaife, Joseph Schafer, Edward Porter Alexander, 2002 On the Road Again William Wyckoff, 2011-10-17 In On the Road Again William Wyckoff explores Montana's changing physical and cultural landscape by pairing photographs taken by state highway engineers in the 1920s and 1930s with photographs taken at the same sites today The older photographs preserved in the archives of the Montana Historical Society were intended to document the expenditure of federal highway funds Because it is nearly impossible to photograph a road without also photographing the landscape through which that road passes these images contain a wealth of information about the state's environment during the early decades of the twentieth century To highlight landscape changes and continuities over more than eighty years Wyckoff chose fifty eight documented locations and traveled to each to photograph the exact same view The pairs of old and new photos and accompanying interpretive essays presented here tell a vivid story of physical cultural and economic change Wyckoff has grouped his selections to cover a fairly even mix of views from the eastern and western parts of the state including a wide assortment of land use settings and rural and urban landscapes The photo pairs are organized in thirteen visual themes such as forested areas open spaces and sacred spaces which parallel landscape change across the entire American West A close thoughtful look at these photographs reveals how crops fences trees and houses shape the everyday landscape both in the first quarter of the twentieth century and in the present The photographs offer an intimate view into Montana into how Montana has changed in the past eighty years and how it may continue to change in the twenty first century This is a book that will captivate readers who have or hope to have a tie to the Montana countryside whether as resident or visitor Regional and agricultural historians geographers and geologists and rural and urban planners will all find it fascinating Reframing Photography Rebekah Modrak,Bill Anthes,2011 In an accessible yet complex way Rebekah Modrak and Bill Anthes explore photographic theory history and technique to bring photographic education up to date with contemporary photographic practice Wisconsin Newmonth ,2000 Geography and Technology Stanley D. Brunn,Susan L. Cutter,J.W. Harrington Jr.,2004-05-31 It is particularly appropriate that the AAG s Centennial Celebration should prompt the publication of a volume devoted to Geography and Technology New technologies have always been important in advancing geographic understanding but never have they been so thoroughly and rapidly transformative of the discipline as at this stage in geography s evolution Just as new technologies have profoundly expanded both research possibilities and the knowledge base of other disciplines such as biology physics or medicine so too are the revolutionary new geographic technologies developed during the past few decades extending frontiers in geographic research education and applications They are also creating new and resurgent roles for geography in both society and in the university This trend is still accelerating as the integration of geographic technologies such as the global positioning system and geographic information systems GPS GIS is creating an explosion of new real time real world applications and research capabilities The resultant dynamic space time interactive research and management environments created by interactive GPS GIS among other technologies places geography squarely at the forefront of advanced multidisciplinary research and modeling programs and has created core organization management tools geographic management systems which will dramatically change the way governments and businesses work in the decades ahead While these and other important geographic technologies including remote sensing location based services and many others addressed in this book are forging new opportunities for geography and geographers they also pose challenges Madison Magazine ,2002 Annual Report State Historical Society of Wisconsin,1996 The Publishers Weekly ,2001 America, History and Life ,2003 Article abstracts and citations of reviews and dissertations covering the United States and Canada Great Lakes and Midwest Catalog Partners Book Distributing,2007 Shots ,2001 Caledonia Nicholas P. Weber,2008 American Book Publishing Record ,2002 The Writers Directory ,2013 Wisconsin Revisited Nicolette Bromberg,1998 This visual celebration of Wisconsin s sesquicentennial pairs ninety five new photos by some of the state s finest documentary photographers and photojournalists As curator of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin's Visual Materials Archive Nicolette Bromberg selected dozens of the most interesting photographs in the collections of the Society and then commissioned photographers to capture on film the same locations or activities. Whether portraying Main Streets, factory work, prize cows, or a busy lumber camp transformed back into quiet woodland, these photographs confirm that Wisconsin is a place of both continuity and change.
