Modern European Borders in Fiction Andrew Hammond,2025-09-18 There are few features of the contemporary world more significant than national and regional borders In modern Europe the practices of human division have defined the continent from the early years of the Cold War to the present barriers of Fortress Europe whose exposure of irregular migrants to trafficking discrimination and deportation is rarely absent from the daily news Modern European Borders in Fiction offers a comprehensive study of literary responses to the topic Through reference to over 600 novels and short stories Andrew Hammond analyses the wide ranging engagement of post 1945 novelists with the ideologies processes and effects of territorialisation as well as the related issues of military conflict migration populism nationalism and regionalism Among the topics under study are the ideological divisions of the Cold War the closed societies of totalitarian communism the labour migrations of the 1950s and 1960s the tightening of border controls from the 1970s the twenty first century war on migration the official restrictions on borderland communities the conflicts in Bosnia Georgia and Ukraine and the patterns of social segregation that have marked the continent from the Second World War to the present Drawing on theoretical work in the social sciences and the humanities this is a ground breaking contribution to European literary studies establishing the importance of continental border writing and opening up fresh avenues for decolonised teaching and research
