For an Anti-capitalist Psychology of Community Nick Malherbe, 2022-04-22 Anti capitalist political struggle is a site of struggling psychologies Conscious political action is never far from unconscious desire and the fight for material justice is always also the fight for dignity and psychological well being Yet how might community psychologists conceive of their discipline in a way that opposes the very capitalist political economy that historically most of the psy disciplines have bolstered in return for disciplinary legitimacy In its consideration of an anti capitalist psychology of community this book does not ignore or try to resolve the contradictory position of such a psychology Instead it draws on these contradictions to enliven psychology to the shifting demands both creative and destructive of a community centred anti capitalism Using practical examples the book deals with the psychological components of building community centred social movements that challenge neoliberal capitalism as a political system an ideology and a mode of governing rationality The book also offers several theoretical contributions that grapple with how an anti capitalist psychology of community can remain attentive to the psychological elements of anti capitalist struggle what the psychological can tell us about anti capitalist politics and how these politics can shape the psychological

Ecologies of Bronze Age Rock Art Fredrik Fahlander, 2024-07-15 A consideration of the rock art of the Mälaren bay region exploring the potential efficacy of petroglyphs as physical devices through organization design and articulation The Bronze Age 1700 500 BCE petroglyphs of southern Scandinavia comprise a unique tradition of rock art in northern Eurasia Despite a limited repertoire of motifs such as cupmarks boats anthropomorphs zoomorphs podomorphs and circles it shows great variability in design elaboration and articulation This book is a study of the Mälaren region in southern central Sweden that includes one of the most prominent rock art clusters of southwest Uppland as well as the hinterland of Södermanland county The rock art in this region is studied on three scales regional local and particular This allows for comparisons between dense and small sites an exploration of how the Bronze Age rock art tradition developed over time in the area and equally how the design and articulation of certain motifs relate to contemporary settlements waterways and varying environmental settings Patterns and structures in the distribution and articulation of the petroglyphs show that the different motifs are not only visual expressions but very much material enactments The motifs often physically relate to each other the flows of water and the microtopography and mineral contents of the rocks The study is therefore not as much about rock art as images and symbols as it is about the ecology of rock art the web of social and physical relations in which it was enacted and employed From this perspective the petroglyphs are seen as petrofacts that is something akin to tools or devices articulated in various ways to affect humans other than humans and the animacies of the coastal milieus where they were made
