A Taste of Power Katharina Vester,2015-10-02 A Taste of Power is an investigation of the crucial role culinary texts and practices played in the making of cultural identities and social hierarchies since the founding of the United States Nutritional advice and representations of food and eating including cookbooks literature magazines newspapers still life paintings television shows films and the internet have helped throughout American history to circulate normative claims about citizenship gender performance sexuality class privilege race and ethnicity while promising an increase in cultural capital and social mobility to those who comply with the prescribed norms The study examines culinary writing and practices as forces for the production of social order and at the same time as points of cultural resistance against hegemonic norms especially in shaping dominant ideas of nationalism gender and sexuality suggesting that eating right is a gateway to becoming an American a good citizen an ideal man or a perfect mother Cookbooks as a low prestige literary form became the largely unheralded vehicles for women to participate in nation building before they had access to the vote or public office for middle class authors to assert their class privileges for men to claim superiority over women even in the kitchen and for Lesbian authors to reinscribe themselves into the heteronormative economy of culinary culture The book engages in close reading of a wide variety of sources and genres to uncover the intersections of food politics and privilege in American culture

Manly Meals and Mom's Home Cooking Jessamyn Neuhaus,2012-03-15 A study of what American cookbooks from the 1790s to the 1960s can show us about gender roles food and culture of their time From the first edition of The Fannie Farmer Cookbook to the latest works by today s celebrity chefs cookbooks reflect more than just passing culinary fads As historical artifacts they offer a unique perspective on the cultures that produced them In Manly Meals and Mom s Home Cooking Jessamyn Neuhaus offers a perceptive and piquant analysis of the tone and content of American cookbooks published between the 1790s and the 1960s adroitly uncovering the cultural assumptions and anxieties particularly about women and domesticity they contain Neuhaus s in depth survey of these cookbooks questions the supposedly straightforward lessons about food preparation they imparted While she finds that cookbooks aimed to make readers mainly white middle class women into effective modern age homemakers who saw joy not drudgery in their domestic tasks she notes that the phenomenal popularity of Peg Bracken s 1960 cookbook The I Hate to Cook Book attests to the limitations of this kind of indoctrination At the same time she explores the proliferation of bachelor cookbooks aimed at the man in the kitchen and the biases they display about male and female abilities tastes and responsibilities Neuhaus also addresses the impact of World War II rationing on homefront cuisine the introduction of new culinary technologies gourmet sensibilities and ethnic foods into American kitchens and developments in the cookbook industry since the 1960s More than a history of the cookbook Manly Meals and Mom's Home Cooking provides an absorbing and enlightening account of gender and food in modern America An engaging analysis Neuhaus provides a rich and well researched cultural history of American gender roles through her clever use of cookbooks Sarah Eppler Janda History Reviews of New Books With sound scholarship and a focus on prescriptive food literature Manly Meals makes an original and useful contribution to our understanding of how gender roles are institutionalized and perpetuated Warren Belasco senior editor of The Oxford Encyclopedia of American Food and Drink An excellent addition to the history of women's roles in America as well as to the history of cookbooks Choice Patio Daddy-O Gideon Bosker, 1996-04 Step aside Iron John and pass the coleslaw Welcome to the world of patio cuisine where foods from the 50s meet the discerning tastes of the 90s From Buzzomatic Coffee Coolers to Charred Cowboy Steak Patio Daddy O brings back all the fun spirit and nostalgia of outdoor cooking with new twists on classic fare 75 color photos The Glass Room Ann Cleeves, 2018-04-24 From Ann Cleeves New York Times bestselling and award winning author of the Vera and Shetland series both of which are hit TV shows comes The Glass Room Ann Cleeves is one of my favorite mystery writers Louise Penny DI Vera Stanhope is not one to make friends easily but her hippy neighbors keep her well supplied in homebrew and conversation and somehow bonds have formed When one of them goes missing Vera tracks the young woman down to the Writer's House a country retreat where aspiring authors work on their stories Things get complicated when a body is discovered and Vera's neighbor is found with a knife in her hand Calling in the team Vera knows that she should hand the case over She's too close to the main suspect But the investigation is too tempting and she's never been one to follow the rules Somewhere there is a killer who has taken murder off the page and is making it real Aesthetic Pleasure in Twentieth-Century Women's Food Writing Alice McLean, 2012-05-22 This book explores the aesthetic pleasures of eating and writing in the lives of M F K Fisher 1908 1992 Alice B Toklas 1877 1967 and Elizabeth David 1913 1992 Growing up during a time when women's food writing was largely limited to the domestic cookbook which helped to codify the guidelines of middle class domesticity Fisher Toklas and David claimed the pleasures of gastronomy previously reserved for men Articulating a language through which female desire is artfully and publicly sated Fisher Toklas and David expanded women's food writing beyond the domestic realm by pioneering forms of self expression that celebrate female appetite for pleasure and for culinary adventure In so doing they illuminate the power of genre bending food writing to transgress and reconfigure conventional gender ideologies For these women food encouraged a sensory engagement with their environment and a physical receptivity toward pleasure that engendered their creative aesthetic Casseroles, Can Openers, and Jell-O Elizabeth Aldrich, 2023-05-01 Casseroles Can Openers and Jell
