The Wildfire Reader A Century Of Failed Forest Policy:

The Wildfire Reader George Wuerthner, 2006-08-04 The Wildfire Reader presents in an affordable paperback edition the essays included in Wildfire offering a concise overview of fire landscapes and the past century of forest policy that has affected them Protecting Yellowstone Michael J. Yochim, 2013-04-15 Yellowstone National Park looks like a pristine western landscape populated by its wild inhabitants bison grizzly bears and wolves But the bison do not always range freely snowmobile noise intrudes upon the park's profound winter silence and some tourist villages are located in prime grizzly bear habitat Despite these problems the National Park Service has succeeded in reintroducing wolves allowing wildfires to play their natural role in park forests and prohibiting a gold mine that would be present in other more typical western landscapes Each of these issues bison snowmobiles grizzly bears wolves fires and the New World Mine was the center of a recent policy making controversy involving federal politicians robust debate with interested stakeholders and discussions about the relevant science Yet the outcomes of the controversies varied considerably depending on politics science how well park managers allied themselves with external interests and public thinking about the effects of park proposals on their access and economies Michael Yochim examines the primary influences upon contemporary national park policy making and considers how those influences shaped or constrained the final policy In addition Yochim considers how park managers may best work within the contemporary policy making context to preserve national parks The Bitterroot and Mr.

Brandborg Frederick H Swanson, 2012-05-22 Meticulously written The Bitterroot and Mr Brandborg tells the story of Guy M Brandborg and his impact on the practices of the U S Forest Service It articulates Brandborg's Progressive era idealism and is based on extensive archival research in collections throughout the Rockies and the Northwest including the Brandborg family papers To Think Like a Mountain Niels Sparre Nokkentved, 2021-06-22 In the West shortsighted human self interest has resulted in devastating environmental losses The fur trade decimated beaver populations and streams and wetland ecosystems deteriorated Though most mining ceased by the late 1920s water running from the Pacific Mine nearly a century later still carried ten times the lead level standard set by the federal Clean Water Act Where grazing depleted native bunchgrasses fire prone cheatgrass grew in its place Migrating from Idaho streams salmon once reached the ocean in ten to fourteen days Now it takes fifty or more In 2016 a snowstorm blew a flock of snow geese off course They landed on contaminated water and about three thousand died Author Niels S Nokkentved takes a fresh look at environmental challenges affecting Northwest residents His essays examine cultural conflicts over resource extraction threats to watersheds from abandoned mines wolf recovery in the northern Rocky Mountains the lingering effects of livestock grazing on western rangelands and the rapidly disappearing sage grouse They discuss the importance of forest fires the value of beavers the failed promises of salmon hatcheries the reasons behind the decline of the timber industry in the Pacific Northwest and how unlikely allies learned to set aside their differences in order to resolve long standing disputes

Nokkentved's goal is to encourage people to think like a mountain in other words to consider the long term consequences He shares his connection to each concern as well as his own evidence based perspective He believes that it most profits society collectively and as individuals when people respect the balance of nature and he wants to draw others to the same conclusion

This Land Christopher Ketcham,2020-07-21 A big bold book about public lands The Desert Solitaire of our time Outside A hard hitting look at the battle now raging over the fate of the public lands in the American West and a plea for the protection of these last wild places The public lands of the western United States comprise some 450 million acres of grassland steppe land canyons forests and mountains It's an American commons and it is under assault as never before Journalist Christopher Ketcham has been documenting the confluence of commercial exploitation and governmental misconduct in this region for over a decade His revelatory book takes the reader on a journey across these last wild places to see how capitalism is killing our great commons Ketcham begins in Utah revealing the environmental destruction caused by unregulated public lands livestock grazing and exposing rampant malfeasance in the federal land management agencies who have been compromised by the profit driven livestock and energy interests they are supposed to regulate He then turns to the broad effects of those corrupt politics on wildlife He tracks the Department of Interior's failure to implement and enforce the Endangered Species Act including its stark betrayal of protections for the grizzly bear and the sage grouse and investigates the destructive behavior of U.S. Wildlife Services in their shocking mass slaughter of animals that threaten the livestock industry Along the way Ketcham talks with ecologists biologists botanists former government employees whistleblowers grassroots environmentalists and other citizens who are fighting to protect the public domain for future generations This Land is a colorful muckraking journey part Edward Abbey part Upton Sinclair exposing the rot in American politics that is rapidly leading to the sell out of our national heritage The book ends with Ketcham s vision of ecological restoration for the American West freeing the trampled denuded ecosystems from the effects of grazing enforcing the laws already in place to defend biodiversity allowing the native species of the West to recover under a fully implemented Endangered Species Act and establishing vast stretches of public land where there will be no development at all not even for recreation

Risk Analysis of Natural Hazards Paolo Gardoni, Colleen Murphy, Arden Rowell, 2015-10-17 This volume investigates the interdisciplinary and cross cutting challenges in the risk analysis of natural hazards It brings together leading minds in engineering science philosophy law and the social sciences Parts I and II of this volume explore risk assessment first by providing an overview of the interdisciplinary interactions involved in the assessment of natural hazards and then by exploring the particular impacts of climate change on natural hazard assessment Part III discusses the theoretical frameworks for the evaluation of natural hazards Finally Parts IV and V address the risk management of natural hazards providing first an overview of the interdisciplinary interactions underlying natural hazard management and then exploring decision frameworks that can help decision makers integrate and respond to the complex relationships among natural events the built environment and human behavior
