PRAYER - A PROBLEM SOLVER

Alex Carrel says "prayer is not only worship; it is also an invisible emanation of man's worshipping spirit - the most powerful form of energy that one can generate".

Prayer is an abstract term which is very difficult to define or explain. It is a general term and everyone interprets it differently. Surprisingly, all the interpretations stand true. Everyone has his own justification, reasons, convictions and conclusions about prayer. Gandhiji spent a lot of time in prayer and meditation and he has very beautifully quoted 'prayer is the key of the morning and lock of the evening'. This means prayer should be an integral part of our life.

What exactly is prayer? Is it all that we say verbally or is it something more? Is it like the other forms of exercises like yoga, meditation and reflections, or is it a kind of self-realisation and thus ultimate realisation of Atma and Paramatma.

Some say that prayer is one of the most powerful means of communication with Almighty God. For some, it is a casual ritual while others say that it is the song of praise and thanks giving to the Almighty for wonders and occasions in life. Some are of the opinion that prayer is to ask God to give an ear to our needs and petitions.

Once in the moral science class, I asked the students about their feelings about prayer. One said "I pray when I am sorrowful or when I am happy, when I want to share my emotions with someone." Another said "I pray because I am used to saying them." Yet another said "I pray when I feel the need of it."
