Dostoevsky Joseph Frank, 1986 Begins with the writer's return to St Petersburg after a ten year Siberian exile Having met with sudden fame as the highly praised young author of Poor Folk in 1845 Dostoevsky was abruptly forgotten after his arrest and exile for political conspiracy He came back to the capital determined to reestablish his literary reputation Now as the editor of and writer for two literary journals that joined in the cultural and social ferment of Russia in the early 1860s Dostoevsky was to discover the themes that would underlie his mature masterpieces

California Slavic Studies Nicholas Valentine Riasanovsky, Gleb Struve, Thomas Eekman, 1980

Winter Notes on Summer Impressions. Foreword by Saul Bellow. Translated by Richard Lee Renfield Fyodor Dostoyevsky, 1955

Notes from Underground Fyodor Dostoevsky, 2009-07-07 One of the most profound and most unsettling works of modern literature Notes from Underground first published in 1864 remains a cultural and literary watershed In these pages Dostoevsky unflinchingly examines the dark mysterious depths of the human heart The Underground Man so chillingly depicted here has become an archetypal figure loathsome and prophetic in contemporary culture This vivid new rendering by Boris Jakim is more faithful to Dostoevsky's original Russian than any previous translation it maintains the coarse vivid language underscoring the visceral experimentalism that made both the book and its protagonist groundbreaking and iconic

Narrative Space and Gender in Russian Fiction Joe Andrew, 2007 The present volume has as its primary aim readings from a feminist perspective of a number of works from Russian literature published over the period in which the woman question rose to the fore and reached its peak All the works considered here were produced in or hark back to a fairly narrowly defined period of not quite 20 years 1846 1864 in which issues of gender of male and female roles were discussed much more keenly than in perhaps any other period in Russian literature The overall project is summed up by the three key words of this book's title narrative space and gender and especially the interconnections between them That is what do the way these stories were told tell us about gender identities in mid nineteenth century Russia Which spaces were central to these fictional worlds Which spaces suggested which gender identities The discussions therefore focus on issues of narrative and space and how they acted as technologies of gender This volume will be of interest to all interested in nineteenth century Russian literature as well as students of gender and of the semiotics of narrative space

Redemption and the Merchant God Susan McReynolds Oddo, 2008 Dostoyevsky's antisemitism manifested in his writings of the 1870s seems to contradict his humanism and many critics have tended to dismiss it as a marginal detail of the writer's views Argues however that antisemitism held an important place in Dostoyevsky's ethical system and was linked to his vexed relationship with Christianity Notes that he staunchly held three ethical principles sanctity of children incompatibility of ethics with utilitarianism and calculation and the view that every kind of authority was bound by the same moral strictures as individuals Thus he could not accept a God who had sacrificed his son or a redemption brought about by the suffering of a child Jesus Dostoyevsky invented the image of a Jew onto whom he could project everything that was unacceptable to him in religion and Western ethics He considered the merchant ethics of both liberalism and socialism to be a Jewish idea and in particular regarded the politics of the Jew Disraeli as an embodiment of such ethics to sacrifice innocent Balkan Slavs in the name of supreme political principles In the 1870s Dostoyevsky increasingly contrasted the Russian conception of God and compassion for the weak with the Jewish Western merchant God and the idea of obtaining benefits for one person from the suffering of another innocent person He developed a conception of principal opposition between things Russian and things Jewish

How the Russians Read the French Priscilla Meyer, 2010-05-27 In How the Russians Read the French Priscilla Meyer shows how Mikhail Lermontov Fyodor Dostoevsky and Lev Tolstoy engaged with French literature and culture to define their own positions as Russian writers with specifically Russian aesthetic and moral values

Notes from the Underground Fyodor Dostoevsky, 2014-08-27 Notes from the Underground is recounted from the perspective of an unnamed narrator who describes himself as sick spiteful and unattractive His thoughts and his moods veer unpredictably as he reflects on the folly of idealism and the reality of human squalor and degradation The psychological power of the book is deeply rooted in the conflicts and contradictions that afflict the narrator many of which seem to have afflicted Dostoevsky himself Once attracted to idealistic and utopian notions he subsequently found himself repelled by them A passionate advocate of freedom he had little confidence that humans could use freedom for good The narrator of Notes from the Underground is not a unified self but a self contradictory character like his author His bewildering complexity and relentless self analysis make him one of the most memorable and thought provoking protagonists of modern literature This new translation of Notes from the Underground renders Dostoevsky's famous work in readable and idiomatic contemporary English As well as the full text of the work itself and an informative introduction this edition provides background materials that offer personal and intellectual context for the work These materials also newly translated include writings from some of the thinkers against whom Dostoevsky positioned himself excerpts from Dostoevsky's personal letters and his earlier published works and a substantial selection of relevant illustrations and photographs

Shifting Focus Peter Roberts, 2017-10-02 There is a long history of interest in strangers and strangeness in the West Literature lends itself particularly well to an exploration of the strange in its richly varied forms having often contained portraits of outsiders These portraits depict people who are strange in their unusual appearance or demeanour their out of the ordinary actions or attitudes their defiance of convention their marginalisation from society or their resistance to dominant structures and practices as well as those who come from strange worlds Each contribution in this collection focuses on a novel story or play The essays engage works by Shelley Dickens Charlotte Bront Dostoevsky Conrad Grazia Deledda Kafka Beckett and Camus all of whom have much to offer the central theme of strangers and strangeness This book demonstrates that there is considerable value in encountering experiencing and reflecting upon that which is strange Education is amongst other things a process of learning to see the world otherwise and literature has the capacity to promote this form of human development This book allows readers to re experience the ordinary and to learn that what at first seems strange is rather closer to us than we had previously imagined This book was originally published as a special issue of Educational Philosophy Theory Notes from a Dead House Fyodor Dostoevsky, 2021-02-02 A beautiful hardcover edition of the first great prison memoir Fyodor Dostoevsky's fictionalized account of his life changing penal servitude in Siberia Translated by Richard Pevear and Larissa Volokhonsky with an introduction by Richard Pevear Sentenced to death for advocating socialism in 1849 Dostoevsky served a commuted sentence of four years of hard labor The account he wrote afterward Notes from a Dead House sometimes translated as The House of the Dead is filled with vivid details of brutal punishments shocking conditions and the psychological effects of the loss of freedom and hope but also of the feuds and betrayals the moments of comedy and the acts of kindness he observed As a nobleman and a political prisoner Dostoevsky was despised by most of his fellow convicts and his first person narrator a nobleman who has killed his wife experiences a similar struggle to adapt He also undergoes a transformation over the course of his ordeal as he discovers that even among the most debased criminals there are strong and beautiful souls Notes from a Dead House reveals the prison as a tragedy both for the inmates and for Russia It endures as a monumental meditation on freedom Everyman's Library pursues the highest production standards printing on acid free cream colored paper with full cloth cases with two color foil stamping decorative endpapers silk ribbon markers European style half round spines and a full color illustrated jacket
