With A Closed Fist Growing Up In Canadas Toughest Neighbourhood:

With a Closed Fist Kathy Dobson, 2011 Kathy Dobson recalls her early years growing up in Montreal's Point St Charles a rough neighbourhood with extreme poverty Punching and Kicking Kathy Dobson, 2018 People don't leave the Point even if they move far away Or at least that's how it seems to journalist Kathy Dobson Growing up in the 1970s in Point St Charles an industrial slum in Montreal she sees how people get trapped in the neighborhood In this sequel to the highly praised With a Closed Fist Dobson shares her journey of trying to escape from what was once described as the toughest neighborhood in Canada Kathy and her five sisters raised by their single mother deal with slum landlords pervy uncles and their father a mostly absent police officer who does occasional work on the side for the local mob As Kathy grows up and starts attending college outside the Point she has to learn how to survive in a new environment where problems aren't solved by a good punch to the head Deindustrializing Montreal Steven High, 2022-06-13 Point Saint Charles a historically white working class neighbourhood with a strong Irish and French presence and Little Burgundy a multiracial neighbourhood that is home to the city's English speaking Black community face each other across Montreal's Lachine Canal once an artery around which work and industry in Montreal were clustered and by which these two communities were formed and divided Deindustrializing Montreal challenges the deepening divergence of class and race analysis by recognizing the intimate relationship between capitalism class struggles and racial inequality Fundamentally deindustrialization is a process of physical and social ruination as well as part of a wider political project that leaves working class communities impoverished and demoralized The structural violence of capitalism occurs gradually and out of sight but it doesn't play out the same for everyone Point Saint Charles was left to rot until it was revalorized by gentrification whereas Little Burgundy was torn apart by urban renewal and highway construction This historical divergence had profound consequences in how urban change has been experienced understood and remembered Drawing extensive interviews a massive and varied archive of imagery and original photography by David Lewis into a complex chorus Steven High brings these communities to life tracing their history from their earliest years to their decline and their current reality He extends the analysis of deindustrialization often focused on single industry towns to cities that have seemingly made the post industrial transition The urban neighbourhood has never been a settled concept and its apparent innocence masks considerable contestation divergence and change over time Deindustrializing Montreal thinks critically about locality revealing how heritage becomes an agent of gentrification investigating how places like Little Burgundy and the Point acquire race and class identities and questioning what is preserved and for whom Community & the human spirit PREVIEW EDITION Dave Flavell, 2016-12-04 Preview Edition A solid contribution to social and urban studies this fascinating collection of oral histories details the life and times in Canada's cradle of industrialization Contributors to this book were all born between the 1920s and 1950s and remember growing up around the east end of the Lachine Canal near the Montreal harbour It was a time when ships from far away places still navigated the canal and this historic working class area hummed with the sounds of factories Families were often large and the streets teemed with children These oral histories follow contributors lives to the present day The book also discusses the redevelopment and evolution of the area Well researched and well illustrated with archival and family photos with bibliography and an introduction by the author 372 pages softcover Community & the human spirit Dave Flavell,2014-11-06 Preview Edition A solid contribution to social and urban studies this fascinating collection of oral histories details the life and times in Canada s cradle of industrialization Contributors to this book were all born between the 1920s and 1950s and remember growing up around the east end of the Lachine Canal near the Montreal harbour It was a time when ships from far away places still navigated the canal and this historic working class area hummed with the sounds of factories Families were often large and the streets teemed with children These oral histories follow contributors lives to the present day The book also discusses the redevelopment and evolution of the area Well researched and well illustrated with archival and family photos with bibliography and an introduction by the author 372 pages softcover Telling Environmental Histories Katie Holmes,Heather Goodall,2017-12-12 This collection explores the intersections of oral history and environmental history Oral history offers environmental historians the opportunity to understand the ways people s perceptions experiences and beliefs about environments change over time In turn the insights of environmental history challenge oral historians to think more critically about the ways an active more than human world shapes experiences and people The integration of these approaches enables us to more fully and critically understand the ways cultural and individual memory and experience shapes human interactions with the more than human world just as it enables us to identify the ways human memory identity and experience is moulded by the landscapes and environments in which people live and labour It includes contributions from Australia India the UK Canada and the USA L'histoire du crime organisé au Québec - De 1924 à 1949 Charles-André Marchand,2020-10-06T00:00:00-04:00 Les ann es vingt voient la p gre juive s imposer Montr al La m tropole est profond ment corrompue de l h tel de ville jusqu aux quartiers g n raux de la police Les bordels foisonnent les maisons de jeux les trafiquants de drogues et les d bits de boissons clandestins op rent sans craindre les repr sailles des autorit s Le climat est de plus en plus violent et l on assiste une augmentation terrible des meurtres commis en plein jour Voil une poque o la prohibition permet certains de b tir de v ritables empires dont le patriarce de la famille Bronfman celui que l on appelait Monsieur Sam Mais ventuellement la Mafia voudra reprendre le contr le des activit s criminelles de Montr al et ce peu importe le prix Asia and the Americas ,1928 Extreme Frontiers Charley Boorman,2012-01-05 Charley Boorman is back on his bike exploring the world s second largest country home to some of the most stunning and challenging terrain known to man Canada is a country of extremes and Charley knows all about pushing the limits He goes dirt biking in New Brunswick dives through old shipwrecks in Tobermory and rides along Butch Cassidy s old Outlaw Trail He also meets a fascinating mix of people on his journey As he heads across Canada he plays ice hockey with a legend of the game spends a day as a Mountie cadet and nearly meets a ghost in Winnipeg Written with Charley s trademark enthusiasm and humour Extreme Frontiers is fast paced hugely entertaining and packed with adventure and rather a lot of mosquitoes Pictorial Review ,1921 Includes music The American Farmer Solon L.
