Witness To Aids Autobiography:

Witness to AIDS Edwin Cameron, 2010 When Edwin Cameron announced to a stunned local and international media that he one of South Africa's most prominent citizens was himself living with the virus cutting swathes through the population of the continent the impact was immediate In this memoir he grapples with the meaning of HIV AIDS for him as he confronts the possibility of his own lingering death and for all of us in facing up to one of the most desperate challenges of our time Cameron blends elements of his destitute childhood with his daily duties as a judge and human rights lawyer while focusing on the epidemic's central issues stigma unjust discrimination and most vitally the life and death question of access to treatment 2005 Edwin Cameron Edwin Cameron, 2005 Witnessing AIDS Sarah Brophy, 2004-03-18 Witnessing AIDS addresses testimonial literature produced in response to the AIDS pandemic focusing on texts by four individuals filmmaker painter activist and writer Derek Jarman writer Jamaica Kincaid anthropologist and media theorist Eric Michaels and journalist Amy Hoffman Sarah Brophy outlines the critical framework for interpreting the emphasis on unresolved grief in the emerging body of work Brophy challenges the tendency to treat AIDS testimonial literature as a genre particular to gay men By examining Kincaid's and Hoffman's memoirs in conjunction with the diaries of Michaels and Jarman Brophy expands the territory of mourning beyond one group of people an exercise that Brophy feels is important as well as fundamental to understanding the depth of personal grief and the ways we respond to grief in literature In a clear and accessible style Witnessing AIDS illustrates how memoirs and diaries are used as self-theorizing documents that approach personal testimony as an intervention in cultural memory The aim of Brophy's work is to develop a framework for reading one that begins to grasp the significance of unresolved grief in AIDS its effect upon testimonial writing and to engage rather than deflect Visceral investment in the mundane intimacies of illness death and grief resituates a number of critical debates at new and provocative intersections as the strategy for understanding continues The Oxford History of the Novel in English Simon Gikandi, 2016-09-05 Why did the novel take such a long time to emerge in the colonial world And what cultural work did it come to perform in societies where subjects were not free and modes of social organization diverged from the European cultural centers where the novel gained its form and audience Answering these questions and more Volume 11 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 explores the institutions of cultural production that exerted influence in late colonialism from missionary schools and metropolitan publishers to universities and small presses How these structures provoke and respond to the literary trends and social peculiarities of Africa and the Caribbean impacts not only the writing and reading of novels in those regions but also has a transformative effect on the novel as a global phenomenon Together the volume's 32 contributing experts tell a story about the close relationship between the novel and the project of decolonization and explore the multiple ways in which novels enable readers to imagine communities beyond their own and thus made this form of literature a compelling catalyst for cultural transformation The authors show that even as the novel grows in Africa and the Caribbean as a mark of the elites mastery of European form it becomes the essential instrument for critiquing colonialism and for articulating the new horizons of cultural nationalism Within this historical context the volume examines works by authors such as Chinua Achebe Nadine Gordimer George Lamming Jamaica Kincaid V S Naipaul Zoe Wicomb J M Coetzee and many others Reframing Bodies Roger Hallas,2009-12-02 Examines how queer filmmakers and viedographers bore witness to the historical trauma of the AIDS epidemic in the late 1980s and 1990s Dictionary of African Biography Emmanuel Kwaku Akyeampong,Professor Henry Louis Gates, Jr.,2012-02-02 From the Pharaohs to Fanon Dictionary of African Biography provides a comprehensive overview of the lives of the men and women who shaped Africa s history Unprecedented in scale DAB covers the whole continent from Tunisia to South Africa from Sierra Leone to Somalia It also encompasses the full scope of history from Queen Hatsheput of Egypt 1490 1468 BC and Hannibal the military commander and strategist of Carthage 243 183 BC to Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana 1909 1972 Miriam Makeba and Nelson Mandela of South Africa 1918 Serial Memoir N. Evidence of Being Darius Bost, 2018-12-21 Evidence of Being opens on a grim scene Washington DC's gay black community in the 1980s ravaged by AIDS the crack epidemic and a series of unsolved murders seemingly abandoned by the government and mainstream culture Yet in this darkest of moments a new vision of community and hope managed to emerge Darius Bost's account of the media poetry and performance of this time and place reveals a stunning confluence of activism and the arts In Washington and New York during the 1980s and 90s gay black men banded together using creative expression as a tool to challenge the widespread views that marked them as unworthy of grief They created art that enriched and reimagined their lives in the face of pain and neglect while at the same time forging a path toward bold new modes of existence At once a corrective to the predominantly white male accounts of the AIDS crisis and an openhearted depiction of the possibilities of black gay life Evidence of Being above all insists on the primacy of community over loneliness and hope over despair
