Brad Schultz, Mary L. Sheffer

Year Of The Dunk A Modest Defiance Of Gravity:

Year of the Dunk Asher Price, 2015 The showmanship of the dunk mesmerized Price as a child but even with his height six foot plus and impressive wingspan he never pushed himself to try it Now approaching middle age Asher decides to spend a year remaking his body and testing his mind as he wonders like most adults what untapped talent he still possesses Along the way he dives into the history and science of one of sports most exuberant acts examining everything from our genetic predisposition towards jumping to the cultural role of the slam dunk The year long effort forces him to ask some fundamental questions about human ability and the degree to which we can actually improve ourselves even with great determination

The Story of "Me" Marjorie Worthington, 2018-11-01 Autofiction or works in which the eponymous author appears as a fictionalized character represents a significant trend in postwar American literature when it proliferated to become a kind of postmodern cliché The Story of Me charts the history and development of this genre analyzing its narratological effects and discussing its cultural implications By tracing autofiction's conceptual issues through case studies and an array of texts Marjorie Worthington sheds light on a number of issues for postwar American writing the maleness of the postmodern canon and anxieties created by the supposed waning of male privilege the relationship between celebrity and authorship the influence of theory the angst stemming from claims of the death of the author and the rise of memoir culture Worthington constructs and contextualizes a bridge between the French literary context from which the term originated and the rise of autofiction among various American literary movements from modernism to New Criticism to New Journalism The Story of Me demonstrates that the burgeoning of autofiction serves as a barometer of American literature from modernist authorial effacement to postmodern literary self consciousness
