Year 6 Fun Maths Activities:

Mathematics, Affect and Learning Peter Grootenboer, Margaret Marshman, 2015-10-17 This book examines the beliefs attitudes values and emotions of students in Years 5 to 8 aged 10 to 14 years about mathematics and mathematics education Fundamentally this book focuses on the development of affective views and responses towards mathematics and mathematics learning Furthermore it seems that students develop their more negative views of mathematics during the middle school years Years 5 to 8 and so here we concentrate on students in this critical period The book is based on a number of empirical studies including an enquiry undertaken with 45 children in Years 5 and 6 in one school a large scale quantitative study undertaken with students from a range of schools across diverse communities in New Zealand and two related small scale studies with junior secondary students in Australia This book brings substantial empirically based evidence to the widely held perception that many students have negative views of mathematics and these affective responses develop during the middle years of school The data for this book were collected with school students and students who were actually engaged in learning mathematics in their crucial middle school years The findings reported and discussed here are relevant for researchers and mathematics educators policy makers and curriculum developers and teachers and school principals engaged in the teaching of mathematics

The American river has a rich literary heritage extending from Twain and Thoreau to the more recent journeys of John Graves and Jonathan Raban Following in this great tradition Franklin Burroughs chronicles a canoe voyage through the Carolinas visiting his ancestral homeland and the people who inhabit the banks of the Waccamaw River His account of this distinctive and rapidly disintegrating backwater reflects on life on and off the river topography and how this landscape echoes in the speech memories and circumstances of the people he encounters Their lives provide a kind of living archaeology and Burroughs s careful descriptions of their voices and habits open a door into history As quiet and powerful as a river itself this is a wise and beautifully written narrative of nature people and place by one of America s finest writers
