Christmas it's time to rebuild bridges Hard living cowboy Reed Keller is returning home to the same ranch his father kicked him off of fifteen years ago He knows he's in for some battles with his headstrong dad but his dad needs help and Reed needs a place to raise his daughter Lex Reed's determined to put the past behind him and concentrate on being the best father he can be especially with Christmas around the corner Also around the corner The woman he's never been able to forget Trenna Hunt has finally broken free of her controlling father to pursue her own goals but she never would have accepted the temporary job at the Keller Ranch helping to compile the family's history if she knew the sexy reckless cowboy Reed would come home They've both changed but Reed's still as impossible to resist as when they were teenagers Reed knows he needs to keep his focus on his daughter and building their future but he can't help longing to keep Trenna in it Will she trust him enough this time to stay

Decolonizing Comparative Literature Chi P. Pham, Jose Monfred C. Sy, Thi Nhu Trang Nguyen, 2025-11-23 This book promotes a novel and nuanced understanding of how the practices of comparative literature have engaged with the politics of nation building in postcolonial Southeast Asia It provides readings of Southeast Asian literatures in a comparative context demonstrating how such readings enable texts to engage with issues connected to postcolonial nation building across the region Such issues include social exclusion urbanization and environmental destruction post war traumas animal narratives migration identity gender and literature and politics In doing so this book moves beyond traditional comparative literature which is overwhelmingly rooted in Western literature and scholarship To this end it is an invitation to decolonize comparative literature as a discipline Few studies have attempted to examine the alternative non western literary traditions that emerge from this specific Asian region and so this book presents a rich combination of theoretical and critical studies that contribute to advancing the discipline of comparative literature in Southeast Asian geographies It is relevant to scholars working in Asian literature comparative literature and in postcolonial frameworks in philosophy and cultural studies

A Holiday Wedding Rescue Jeannie Watt, 2020-12-28 Snow is falling tempers are flaring but opposites attract Stevie Evans is over the moon when her best friend announces she's getting married She's all in for the planning until she learns she'll be working side by side with the bride's oh so serious brother Brant Years ago sparks flew between them of the argument variety and she's kept her distance ever since But this time the aisle is too short to avoid him and the spark feels suspiciously like attraction Brant Gilroy likes his life neat predictable and well structured unlike Stevie who's basically a walking bundle of chaos But with his career suddenly on shaky ground and his sister's dream wedding set for the family's tree farm he can't say no to helping even if it means teaming up with the one woman who drives him up a wall As wedding decorations are hung and snowflakes fall their clash of styles starts to look a lot like sizzling chemistry But can two former enemies pull off a picture perfect wedding and maybe discover they're the perfect match Previously published as Once Upon a Winter Wedding
