Central City's Joy and Pain Jerome E. Morris, 2024-01-15 With Central City's Joy and Pain Jerome E Morris explores complex social issues through personal narrative He does so by blending social science research with his own memoir of life in Birmingham Alabama As someone who lived in the Central City housing project for two transitional decades 1968-91 and whose family continued to reside there until 1999 when the city razed the community the author provides us with the often unexplored bottom up perspective on Black public housing residents experiences As Morris's experiential and authoritative narrative voice unfolds in the pages of Central City's Joy and Pain both the scholarly and lay reader are brought on a journey of what life is like for people who live and die at the intersection of race and poverty in a rapidly evolving southern urban center The setting of a historic public housing community provides a rich canvas on which to paint a world through the author's personal experience of growing up there and his later observations as a researcher and academic Through its syncopation of personal stories and scholarly research Central City's Joy and Pain captures what it means to be Black poor and full of dreams In this setting dreams are realized by some and swallowed up for others in the larger historical social economic and political context of African Americans experiences during and after the civil rights movement

Visualizing Sensuous Suffering and Affective Pain in Early Modern Europe and the Spanish Americas, 2018-01-03 Visualizing Sensuous Suffering and Affective Pain in Early Modern Europe and the Spanish Americas is a trans cultural collection of studies on visual treatments of the phenomena of suffering and pain in early modern culture

Ranging geographically from Italy Spain and the Low Countries to Chile Mexico and the Philippines and chronologically from the fourteenth to the eighteenth centuries these studies variously consider pain and suffering as somatic emotional and psychological experiences From examination of bodies shown victimized by brutal public torture to the sublimation of physical suffering conveyed through the incised lines of Counter Reformation engravings the authors consider depictions of pain and suffering as conduits to the divine or as guides to social behaviour indeed often the two functions overlap

The Enclosed Garden and the Medieval Religious Imaginary Liz Herbert McAvoy, 2021 During the Middle Ages the arresting motif of the walled garden especially in its manifestation as a sacred or love inflected hortus conclusus was a common literary device Usually associated with the Virgin Mary or the Lady of popular romance it appeared in myriad literary and iconographic forms largely for its aesthetic decorative and symbolic qualities This study focuses on the more complex metaphysical functions and meanings attached to it between 1100 and 1400 and in particular those associated with the gardens of Eden and the Song of Songs Drawing on contemporary theories of gender gardens landscape and space it traces specifically the resurfacing and reworking of the idea and image of the enclosed garden within the writings of medieval holy women and other female coded texts In so doing it presents the enclosed garden as generator of a powerfully gendered hermeneutic imprint within the medieval religious imaginary indeed as an alternative language used to articulate those highly complex female coded approaches to God that came to dominate late medieval religiosity The book also responds to the eco turn in our own troubled times that attempts to return the non human to the centre of public and private discourse The texts under scrutiny therefore invite responses as both literary and garden spaces where form often reflects content and where their authors are also diligent gardeners the apocryphal Lives of Adam and Eve for example the horticulturally inflected Hortus Deliciarum of Herrad of Hohenburg and the green philosophies of Hildegard of Bingen s Scivias the visionary writings of Gertrude the Great and Mechthild of Hackeborn collaborating within their Helfta nunnery the Middle English poem Pearl and multiple reworkings of the deeply problematic and increasingly sexualized garden enclosing the biblical figure of Susanna
