Humanism, Drama, and Performance Hana Worthen, 2020-10-13 This book examines the appropriation of theatre and theatrical performance by ideologies of humanism in terms that continue to echo across the related disciplines of literary drama theatre and performance history and studies today From Aristotle onward theatre has been regulated by three strains of critical poesis the literary segregating theatre and the practices of the spectacular from the humanizing work attributed to the book and to the internality of reading the dramatic approving the address of theatrical performance only to the extent that it instrumentalizes literary value and the theatrical assimilating performance to the conjunction of literary and liberal values These values have been used to figure not only the work of theatre but also the propriety of the audience as a figure for its socializing work along a privileged dualism from the aestheticized ensemble harmonizing actor character and spectator to the essentialized drama to the politicized assembly theatre understood as an agonistic gathering

The Challenge of World Theatre History Steve Tillis, 2020-09-19 The future of theatre history studies requires consideration of theatre as a global phenomenon The Challenge of World Theatre History offers the first full scale argument for abandoning an obsolete and parochial Eurocentric approach to theatre history in favor of a more global perspective This book exposes the fallacies that reinforce the conventional approach and defends the global perspective against possible objections It moves beyond the conventional nation based geography of theatre in favor of a regional geography and develops a new way to demarcate the periods of theatre history Finally the book outlines a history that recognizes the often connected developments in theatre across Eurasia and around the world It makes the case that world theatre history is necessary not only for itself but for the powerful comparative and contextual insights it offers to all theatre scholars and students whatever their special areas of interest
