Lopez, Mark Tredinnick, 2007 More than two dozen contemporary novelists essayists and poets are collected in this remarkable collection of work from Australia a complex country with a multilayered history Among these outstanding writers is a growing number of Indigenous authors whose voices are included here Their stories many of them previously untold in literature deepen and expand our understanding of the experiences that comprise Australia s past present and future Both the Indigenous and non Indigenous authors in Where the Rivers Meet address their country s struggle to create a shared citizenship and sense of belonging Some seek the key to this shared belonging in the creation of a more just relationship to the land and in issues of ownership Others find clarity and rejuvenation in the country s harsh and beautiful wildness Still others emphasize in the words of Melissa Lucashenko that we need to hear the small quiet stories in a human mouth in order to truly know this land and its people
