every kind of outdoor experience The Routledge International Handbook of Walking C. Michael Hall, Yael Ram, Noam Shoval, 2017-07-28 Walking is an essentially human activity From a basic means of transport and opportunity for leisure through to being a religious act walking has served as a significant philosophical literary and historical subject Thoreau's 1851 lecture on Walking or the Romantic walks of the Wordsworths at Grasmere in the early 19th Century for example helped create a philosophical foundation for the importance of the act of walking as an act of engagement with nature Similarly and sometimes inseparable from secular appreciation pilgrimage trails provide opportunities for finding self and others in the travails of the walk More recently walking has been embraced as a means of encouraging greater health and well being community improvement and more sustainable means of travel Yet despite the significance of the subject of walking there is as yet no integrated treatment of the subject in the social science literature This handbook therefore brings together a number of the main themes on the study of walking from different disciplines and literatures into a single volume that can be accessed from across the social sciences It is divided into five main sections culture society and historical context social practices perceptions and behaviours hiking trails and pilgrimage routes health well being and psychology and method planning and design Each of these highlights current approaches and major themes in research on walking in a range of different environments This handbook carves out a unique niche in the study of walking The international and cross disciplinary nature of the contributions of the book are expected to be of interest to numerous academic fields in the social and health sciences as well as to urban and regional planners and those in charge of the management of outdoor recreation and tourism globally The New Encyclopedia of Southern Culture Harvey H. Jackson III, Charles Reagan Wilson, 2014-02-01 What southerners do where they go and what they expect to accomplish in their spare time their leisure reveals much about their cultural values class and racial similarities and differences and historical perspectives This volume of The New Encyclopedia of Southern Culture offers an authoritative and readable reference to the culture of sports and recreation in the American South surveying the various activities in which southerners engage in their nonwork hours as well as attitudes surrounding those activities Seventy four thematic essays explore activities from the familiar porch sitting and fairs to the essential football and stock car racing to the unusual pool checkers and a sport called fireballing In seventy seven topical entries contributors profile major sites associated with recreational activities such as Dollywood drive ins and the Appalachian Trail and prominent sports figures including Althea Gibson Michael Jordan Mia Hamm and Hank Aaron Taken together the entries provide an engaging look at the ways southerners relax pass time celebrate let loose and have fun

The Mountain and the Politics of Representation Jenny Hall, Martin Hall, 2023-11-01 The stories we tell published or otherwise condition our mountain experiences in practice and reinforce cultural memory and representation Yet as this book and the authors within it set out to demonstrate if we look beyond the boundaries of this singular white history there is a rich diversity of stories to tell This volume contributes to a growing body of scholarship that calls for a heterogeneity of voices in mountain memoir genres For the first time this diverse scholarship interrogates how mountaineering literary and media culture impact bodies spaces and places in order to nuance how commodification intersects across social categories and is embodied in multi dimensional ways In this volume we explore a burgeoning tradition of mountaineering literature of cinema and of memoir to appreciate difference beyond the habitual heroic white male adventurer that dominates screens and bookshelves Through exploring multidimensional axes of social differentiation from gender race class and age to dis ability and sexuality the book will demonstrate how commodification is embodied through representation in mountaineering literature media film and memoir in mountaineering spaces Amongst our aims this book intends to understand how multiple social dimensions overlap and work to produce independent systems of exclusion and inclusion that focus on untraditional ways to be a mountaineer
