Uncultural Behavior Uncultural Behavior:

Uncultural Behavior Charles J-H Macdonald, 2006-10-31 Until recently the people of Kulbi Kenipaagan lived on the fringes of the modern world following traditional customs and beliefs practicing shifting agriculture and leading an outwardly peaceful existence in a remote corner of Palawan island Yet this small community basically indistinguishable in society and culture from its immediate neighbors to the north has one of the highest rates of suicide in the world Why would the comparatively happy and well off inhabitants of Kulbi fall victim to despair Uncultural Behavior investigates the mystery of self inflicted death among this nonviolent and orderly people in the Southern Philippines To make sense of such a phenomenon Charles Macdonald probes the beliefs customs and general disposition of this Palawan people exploring how they live think behave and relate to one another Early chapters examine group formation and the spatialization of social ties material culture marriage and law providing an extensive ethnographic account of the Kulbi way of life The author offers insights into the spiritual world of the community and addresses the local theory of emotions and the words that supply the vocabulary and idiom of indigenous commentaries on suicide A well documented case study of a suicide and its aftermath gives readers an idea of how Kulbi people treat suicide and their conflicting views on the subject Following an analysis of statistical information the author presents five profiles bringing together motivations actors and circumstances He concludes by examining the perspectives of neurobiology and genetics as well as psychology sociology and history

A Forest of Dreams Noah Theriault, 2025-09-30 After the fall of the Marcos regime in 1986 the Philippines became the first country in Asia to codify Indigenous rights This hard fought reform aimed to protect the ancestral lands of the archipelago's remaining Indigenous communities Since then these communities have become increasingly embroiled in resource politics and many have found that claiming their rights does as much to facilitate their dispossession as to prevent it In A Forest of Dreams Noah Theriault examines the entanglement of capitalism conservation and indigeneity in southern Palawan a place widely coveted as the Philippines last frontier Drawing on a decade of research Theriault reveals how bureaucrats investors and conservationists impose their own designs on Indigenous rights as they vie for land labor and legitimacy But he also asks how those designs collide with the dreams both figurative and literal of Indigenous persons themselves What results is a story of unexpected agency and contingency in which humans wildlife and powerful forest beings complicate prevailing theories of social and environmental change Through the experiences of a specific community A Forest of Dreams traces how Palawan families understand and influence the powerful forces that have enclosed them within an ancestral domain a protected landscape and an expanding plantation zone Each chapter opens with a memorable historical or ethnographic episode from Lapulapu's fateful battle with Magellan and the primitivist visions of Charles Lindbergh to truckloads of tree planting college students a screeching civet oneiric owl sorcery and a bitter dispute over almaciga resin Informed by Palawan analyses of their own history Theriault argues that efforts to save the last frontier have reinforced rather than disrupted long term processes of colonization and capitalist expansion Yet he also shows how studies of the environment development and human rights in Southeast Asia can better account for the critical agency of those whose lands are at stake The Evolution of
