Understanding And Practicing Participatory Evaluation New Directions For Evaluation Number 8:

The SAGE Handbook of Evaluation Ian Shaw, Jennifer C Greene, Melvin M Mark, 2006-07-27 The Handbook succeeds in capturing and presenting evaluation's extensive knowledge base within a global context. In so doing it provides a useful coherent and definitive benchmark on the field's diverse and dynamic purposes, practices, theories, approaches, issues, and challenges for the 21st century. The Handbook is an essential reference and map for any serious evaluation practitioner, scholar, and student anywhere in the world. Michael Quinn Patton, author of Utilization Focused Evaluation. In this comprehensive handbook, an examination of the complexities of contemporary evaluation contributes to the ongoing dialogue that arises in professional efforts to evaluate people, related programs, policies, and practices. The SAGE Handbook of Evaluation is a unique and authoritative resource consisting of 25 chapters covering a range of evaluation theories and techniques in a single accessible volume. With contributions from world-leading figures in their fields, overseen by an eminent international editorial board, this handbook is an extensive and user-friendly resource organized in four coherent sections: Role and Purpose of Evaluation in Society; Evaluation as a Social Practice; The Practice of Evaluation; Domains of Evaluation Practice. The SAGE Handbook of Evaluation is written for practicing evaluators, academics, advanced postgraduate students, and evaluation clients and offers a definitive benchmark statement on evaluation theory and practice for the first decade of the 21st century.

The World of Science Education, 2019-02-11 Each volume in the 7-volume series The World of Science Education reviews research in a key region of the world. These regions include North America, South and Latin America, Asia, Australia, and New Zealand, Europe, and Israel, North Africa, and the Middle East, and Sub-Saharan Africa. The focus of this Handbook is on North America: Canada, US science education, and the scholarship that most closely supports this program. The reviews of the research situate what has been accomplished within a given field in North America rather than in an international context. The purpose, therefore, is to articulate and exhibit regional networks and trends that produced specific forms of science education. The thrust lies in identifying the roots of research programs and sketching trajectories focusing on the changing face of problems and solutions within regional contexts. The approach allows readers to review what has been done and accomplished, what is missing, and what might be done next.

Enduring Issues in Evaluation: The 20th Anniversary of the Collaboration Between NDE and AEA Sandra Mathison, 2007-06-29 This issue of New Directions for Evaluation looks back at the past twenty years of the American Evaluation Association from its inception to current research, highlighting important moments and enduring issues in the discipline and profession of evaluation. The issue includes a very brief history of NDE, including the journal's purpose, the various foci, how the journal has operated, and such events as the change in the journal's name. The issue also looks at the substance of NDE over the past twenty years, including an analysis of the coverage of cultural diversity issues. But much of the issue is devoted to greatest hits chapters that have appeared in prior NDE issues, each of which is introduced by an analysis of what makes it a significant contribution to the evaluation literature The American Evaluation Association AEA celebrated its twentieth birthday in 2006 The partnership between AEA and New Directions for Evaluation has spanned this time and indeed stretches back further to AEA's precursor associations the Evaluation Research Society and ENet This is the 114th volume of the quarterly report series New Directions for Evaluation a publication of Jossey Bass and the American Evaluation Association Handbook of Research on Science Education Sandra K. Abell, Norman G. Lederman, 2013-03-07 This state of the art research Handbook provides a comprehensive coherent current synthesis of the empirical and theoretical research concerning teaching and learning in science and lays down a foundation upon which future research can be built The contributors all leading experts in their research areas represent the international and gender diversity that exists in the science education research community As a whole the Handbook of Research on Science Education demonstrates that science education is alive and well and illustrates its vitality It is an essential resource for the entire science education community including veteran and emerging researchers university faculty graduate students practitioners in the schools and science education professionals outside of universities The National Association for Research in Science Teaching NARST endorses the Handbook of Research on Science Education as an important and valuable synthesis of the current knowledge in the field of science education by leading individuals in the field For more information on NARST please visit <http://www.narst.org>

Using Appreciative Inquiry in Evaluation Hallie Preskill, Anne T. Coghlan, 2003 This issue explores the potential role of Appreciative Inquiry a process that searches for what is best in people and organizations in evaluation Contributors examine Appreciative Inquiry's approach and impact on the use of evaluation processes and findings the contextual factors or conditions that make its use in evaluation appropriate and the challenges of using it Chapters also provide an overview of Appreciative Inquiry and how it fits within the landscape of evaluation practice four case studies and commentary and critique of specific points in this issue as well as broader consideration of the possibilities that Appreciative Inquiry offers to evaluation practice By offering evaluators an approach and method for discovering and building on the positive aspects of a program Appreciative Inquiry is a valuable resource for evaluators This issue is an indispensable guide to that resource

Youth Participatory Evaluation: A Field in the Making Kim Sabo, 2003-08-12 Youth participatory evaluation YPE combines action research and participatory evaluation's commitment to stakeholder empowerment with the new philosophy of positive youth development which emphasizes young people as community assets and resources rather than as a source of social problems This volume illustrates a broad range of approaches YPE advocates have used to enrich evaluation practice and strength programs for youth by involving young people as researchers and evaluators Kim Sabo begins by arguing that youth led evaluation by its very nature promotes youth development because these evaluations constitute Vygotskian zones of proximal development situations where developmental learning through performance can take place Les Voakes uses a case study of a conference organized by Town Youth Participation Strategies to illustrate how involving youth in the planning operational decision making and evaluation of programs that directly affect them can benefit both the young participants and the programs themselves Jonathan K London Kristen Zimmerman and Nancy Erbstein provide case studies of evaluation methods that link community and youth development practices Genevieve Lau Nancy H Netherland and Mary Haywood show how YPE can be used as a training process for youth workers one that enables them to better understand the needs and desires of youth and therefore design better programs for them Roger A Hart and Jasmine Rajbhandary examine Nepal's children's clubs and Save the Children's YPE inspired evaluation of these clubs to show how children can be encouraged to develop their own programs and largely evaluate them by themselves Bonny L Gildin describes the All Stars Talent Show Network an innovative program that unites youth program funders and adult volunteers in program development and evaluation Finally David Fetterman sums up and reflects on the lessons learned by the contributors to this volume This is the 98th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Evaluation

Evaluating Nonformal Education Programs and Settings Emma Norland, Emmalou Norland, Cindy Somers, 2006-03-03 This volume explores the issues with which evaluators of nonformal education programs such as parks zoos community outreach organizations and museums struggle These issues are not unique to nonformal programs and settings Rather they pose different sets of problems and solutions from those that face evaluators of traditional education programs The authors address this topic from extensive experience as evaluators and education professionals who have worked in nonformal education settings Billions of dollars are spent annually on nonformal informal and nontraditional education programs and collaborative formal nonformal efforts Public and private dollars fund literally thousands of programs and yet the field of program evaluation has provided little guidance for evaluating such efforts There are precious few resources available to lead program administrators staff and evaluators through the maze of programs with the diversity of the constituencies that support them The stakeholders and audiences of nonformal education programs are numerous and these programs can range from a one shot hour long lecture to an ongoing one day a week volunteer program to a three week study tour to a four weekends across one year work camp to a stop by when you can museum collection

International Perspectives on Evaluation Standards Craig Russon, Gabrielle Russon, 2005-02-11 Prior to 1995 there were fewer than half a dozen regional and national evaluation organizations around the world Today there are more than fifty attesting to a growing interest in the practice of program evaluation internationally Many of these new organizations have undertaken efforts to develop their own standards or to modify existing sets most typically the Program Evaluation Standards of the Joint Committee on Standards for Educational Evaluation for use in their own cultural context Following two introductory chapters one a conceptual overview and the second a history of the development and revisions of the Program Evaluation Standards this issue documents standards development efforts in three different settings Western Europe Africa and Australasia In addition because nongovernmental organizations and governments have entered the standard setting business other chapters describe standards development activities by the European Commission and CARE International The content points to the challenge of formalizing standards for program evaluation given cross cultural differences in values and to the continuing challenges related to implementing voluntary standards This is the 104th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Evaluation Conventional and Participatory Evaluation Lyn Paleo,2005 Process Use in Theory, Research, and Practice J. Bradley Cousins,2007 Conceptions of use are grounded within a common conception that use and influence can be traced to evaluation findings or to the knowledge outputs of evaluative activities Yet a qualitatively different type of use and impact began to emerge from evaluation practice and research on it This other sort of consequence process use appeared to be attributable to something wholly independent of evaluation findings specifically the activities or processes of evaluation as opposed to its products or outputs This volume is a multifaceted exploration of process use it includes methodological empirical and conceptual inquiries as well as rich narrative forays into the domain of evaluation practice Such a comprehensive approach serves to deepen understanding of process use as being pivotal in contemporary theory on evaluation consequences This is the 116th volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Evaluation a publication of Jossey Bass and the American Evaluation Association The journal publishes empirical methodological and theoretical works on all aspects of evaluation The Practice-Theory Relationship in Evaluation Christina A. Christie,2003-05-13 Exploring research's impact on evaluation practice The Practice Theory Relationship in Evaluation New Directions for Evaluation presents the finding of a unique empirical study of evaluation comparing the reported practices of evaluation theorists with real world practices in the field A selection of leading authorities offer both analyses and perspectives on the study's impact on the field prompting deep consideration of the role of empirical study of evaluation and the relationship between concept and practice Empirical study of evaluation is key to improving practices and developing alternate approaches and this book stimulates the level of debate necessary for determining future directions

Handbook of Feminist Research Sharlene Nagy Hesse-Biber, 2007 The topic feminist research has too often been neglected in standard research methods books The Handbook of Feminist Research represents the establishment of a new tradition or paradigm in viewing how the research process is implemented Feminist researchers bring unique epistemological and methodological perspectives to the research process Feminists approach to methodology allows for new types of questions about women's lives and those of other marginalized groups to be addressed within their respective fields of research This Handbook stresses the interconnections between epistemology methodology and methods They are not de-linked from each other but work together in dynamic ways to produce new knowledge and this openness itself is also characteristic of how feminist researchers approach their work Feminists engage synergistically with all three aspects of the research process epistemology methodology and method Through a synergistic connection between these elements of research epistemology methodology and method we find that feminist research often shapes new research endeavors that are greater than the sum of their parts In other words while traditional research employs these components of research the synergistic engagement of these components in feminist research questions the status quo aiming to raise our consciousness about how we do research Looking at the selections provided in this Handbook we are able to look at feminist research its implementation of synergistic use of epistemology methodology and method and the resulting qualities of feminist research in practice

The Emergence of Stakeholder Consensus Susan B. Smalley, 2000

Evaluation Roots Marvin C. Alkin, 2004-02-24 Concern for evaluation theoretical prescriptions emerged about 40 years ago giving it a history that is both recent enough to be part of the living experience of many of today's theorists and old enough to afford an opportunity for an analysis of how the field has evolved over time This book examines current evaluation theories and traces their evolution with the point of view that theories build upon theories and therefore evaluation theories are related to each other Initially all evaluation was derived from social science research methodology and accountability concerns The way in which these evaluation roots grew to form a tree helps to provide a better understanding of evaluation theory Thus the book uses an evaluation theory tree as its central metaphor The authors posit that evaluation theories can be classified by the extent to which they focus on methods uses or valuing these three approaches form the major limbs of the tree In addition to the authors overview which analyzes the evaluation theory tree and connections among theories the book contains essays by most of the leading evaluation theorists In these pieces the evaluators comment on their own development and give their views of their placement upon the tree
