

DISCUSSION - Assignment 1

Task 1

What three communication processes are present when the teacher gives instructions at lesson outset, gives and follows up on them?

1. Explicit communication allowing the students to know exactly what the teacher intended when he/she gave the instruction. This includes content, the importance of the communication, given details to support or promote such action.
2. Implicit communication. One of the most important forms of communication is communication in social interaction. In particular, as proposed, communication is given contextually by the teacher-student interaction that encompasses the situation.
3. Channel communication which includes the use of language, the delivery of the message, the medium used to deliver the information.
