Handbook of Interior Architecture and Design Graeme Brooker, Lois Weinthal, 2013-10-24 The Handbook of Interior Architecture and Design offers a compelling collection of original essays that seek to examine the shifting role of interior architecture and interior design and their importance and meaning within the contemporary world Interior architecture and interior design are disciplines that span a complexity of ideas ranging from human behaviour and anthropology to history and the technology of the future Approaches to designing the interior are in a constant state of flux reflecting and adapting to the changing systems of history culture and politics It is this process that allows interior design to be used as evidence for identifying patterns of consumption gender identity and social issues The Handbook of Interior Architecture and Design provides a pioneering overview of the ideas and arrangements within the two disciplines that make them such important platforms from which to study the way humans interact with the space around them Covering a wide range of thought and research the book enables the reader to investigate fully the changing face of interior architecture and interior design while offering questions about their future trajectory

Power, Identity, and the Rise of Modern Architecture Koompong Noobanjong, 2003 This dissertation examines the evolution of Western and Modern architecture in Siam and Thailand It illustrates how various architectural ideas have contributed to the physical design and spatial configuration of places associated with negotiation and allocation of political power which are throne halls parliaments and government and civic structures since the 1850s

American Architects and Texts Juan Pablo Bonta, 1996 In this volume the author analyzes 400 architectural books and articles published over the past 150 years to reveal changing societal preferences in architecture and to measure the reputations of individual architects the text includes a ranked list of the 100 most famous architects

Consequential Museum Spaces Bettina Messias Carbonell, 2023-03-16 In Consequential Museum Spaces Representing African American History and Culture Bettina Messias Carbonell examines how African American history and culture is and historically has been represented in culturally specific and mainstream museums Carbonell argues that African American museums provide a corrective history that is both argumentative and pragmatic these museums educate and enlighten and they seek to effect change Themes examined here include settlement narratives key movements and individuals in political social and military history the treatment of slavery including the African transatlantic and American slave trade and the long history of slavery as an institution in the United States the status of Africa the continent and individual countries and regions as a source of origins and traditions and a destination for reconnection with the past and activism and human rights Carbonell considers this museum based work in the context of relevant historical written texts and in the context of contemporary theories involving memory and history corrective history intergenerational trauma human rights and historical consciousness

Sandbogs and Black Lights Stephen R. Wilk, 2021 In the almost twenty years since I began writing my essays on strange and quirky optics I have been through several employers but in all that time I have stayed a contributing editor for the Optical Society of America No matter where I was during the day I always worked on producing these nuggets of infotainment with some regularity I have always had a backlog of tentative pieces to write but new topics arose just as rapidly so I have never been at a loss with a new piece The newsletter of MIT's Spectroscopy Lab has in that time disappeared so the essays in this volume are either ones that originally appeared in Optics and Photonics News or else have not previously been published in any magazine As I stated in the introduction to How the Ray Gun Got Its Zap my goal was to produce quirky interesting and somewhat humorous essays that had a slyly pedagogical edge Education by
