Which European Union Europe After The Euro Crisis:

Which European Union? Sergio Fabbrini, 2015-02-26 This book asks how the European Union can tackle the constitutional conundrum caused by the Euro crisis

Europe's Future Sergio Fabbrini, 2019-03-14 Sergio Fabbrini proposes a way out of the EU's crises which have triggered an unprecedented cleavage between sovereignist and Europeanist forces. The intergovernmental governance of the multiple crises of the past decade has led to a division on the very rationale of Europe's integration project. Sovereignism, the expression of nationalistic and populist forces, has demanded more decision-making autonomy for the EU member states, although Europeanism has struggled to make an effective case against this challenge. Fabbrini proposes a new perspective to release the EU from this predicament involving the decoupling and reforming of the EU on the one hand, the economic community of the single market consisting of the current member states of the EU and of others interested in joining or rejoining it, and on the other, the political union largely based on the eurozone reformed according to an original model of the federal union.

Migration and the Crisis of Democracy in Contemporary Europe Christoph M. Michael, 2021-01-12 This innovative and thought-provoking study puts forth a compelling analysis of the constitutive nexus at the heart of the European refugee conundrum. It maps and historically contextualises some of the distinctive challenges that pervasive ethnic and cultural pluralism present to real politics, as on the level of political theorizing. By systematically integrating hitherto insufficiently linked research perspectives in a novel way, it lays open a number of paradoxical constellations and regressive tendencies in contemporary European democracy. It thereby redirects attention to the ways in which liberal thought and liberal democratic institutions shape, interact with, and may even provide justification for illiberal and exclusionary practices. This book thus makes an important contribution to the analysis of post-migrant realities in Europe and the ways in which they are defined by imperial legacies, punitive migration regimes, the culturalization of mainstream politics, and the discursive construction of a European Other.

New Economic Constitutionalism in Europe George Gerapetritis, 2019-10-31 New Economic Constitutionalism in Europe focuses on the institutional mutation of constitutionalism following the major economic crisis in the Eurozone and globally. The main axis is that a new economic constitutionalism has arisen which trespasses on the conventional conceptual foundations and needs to be addressed with novel institutional vehicles. The author proposes an original and searching analysis of the significant constitutional evolutions that have taken place in member states in response to the global financial crisis. The book combines a sophisticated theoretical model of a new form of economic constitutionalism with detailed practical argumentation. This important new work provides a valuable addition to the understanding of this hugely important topic.

The EU after Lisbon Lucia Serena Rossi, Federico Casolari, 2014-06-25 The book contains a collection of high-quality academic and expert contributions dealing with the central question of whether the Lisbon Treaty needs further revision. Due to the difficulties European Union actors have encountered in implementing the Lisbon Treaty's reform and the inadequacies of the current legal framework brought to light by post Lisbon practice the volume focuses on possible innovations and functional approaches to improve the Union's response to the challenges confronting it. In doing so the volume first takes a horizontal approach to the Treaty revision and considers some constitutional features showing the interaction between the EU and its Member States namely the parameters of constitutional developments the allocation of competences the principles of solidarity and loyal cooperation. Then the focus shifts to the question of fundamental rights within the EU's constitutional framework one of the most relevant innovations of the Lisbon Treaty being the incorporation of the Charter of Fundamental Rights into the Union's primary law. The last part of the volume is devoted to another domain significantly reshaped by the Lisbon reform namely the Union's external dimension. ECJ Advocate General Paolo Mengozzi's conclusions highlight the common themes emerging from the various contributions stressing the need for a more general supranational approach to the political crisis the Union is going through. The content of this book will be of great value to academics students judges practitioners and all others interested in the legal discourse on the progressive development of the European Union legal order.

Interparliamentary Cooperation in the Composite European Constitution Nicola Lupo, Cristina Fasone, 2016-05-19. This collection analyses the place and the functioning of interparliamentary cooperation in the EU composite constitutional order taking into account both the European and the national dimensions. The chapters join the recent scholarship on the role of parliaments in the EU after the Treaty of Lisbon. The aim of this volume is to highlight the constitutional significance of interparliamentary cooperation as a permanent feature of EU democracy and as a new parliamentary function as well as to investigate the practical side of this relatively new phenomenon. To this end the contributors are academics and parliamentary officials from all over Europe. The volume discusses the developments in interparliamentary cooperation and its implications for the organisation and procedures of national parliaments and the European Parliament for the fragmented executive of the EU and for the democratic legitimacy of the overall EU composite Constitution. These issues are examined by looking at the European legislative process the European Semester and the Treaty revisions. Moreover the contributions take into account the effects of interparliamentary cooperation on the internal structure of parliaments and analyse the different models of interparliamentary cooperation ie from COSAC to the new Interparliamentary Conference on Stability Economic Coordination and Governance in the European Union provided by the Fiscal Compact.

Unhappy Union John Peet, Anton La Guardia, The Economist, 2014-06-24. The euro was supposed to create an unbreakable bond between the nations and people of Europe. But when the debt crisis struck the flaws of the half built currency brought the European Union close to breaking point after decades of post war integration. Deep fault lines have opened up between European institutions and the nation states and often between the rulers and the ruled raising profound questions about Europe's democratic deficit. Belief in European institutions and national governments alike is waning while radicals on both the left and the right are gaining power and influence. Europe's leaders have so far proved the doomsayers wrong and prevented the currency from breaking up If the euro fails Europe fails says Angela Merkel Yet the euro and the European project as a whole is far from safe If it is to survive and thrive leaders will finally have to confront difficult decisions How much national sovereignty are they willing to give up to create a more lasting and credible currency How much of the debt burden and banking risk will they share Is Britain prepared to walk away from the EU And will other countries follow In Unhappy Union The Economist's Europe editor and Brussels correspondent provide an astute analysis of the crisis They describe America's behind the scenes lobbying to salvage the euro economists bitter debates over austerity the unseen maneuvers of the European Central Bank and the tortuous negotiations over banking union In the final chapter they set out the stark choices confronting Europe's leaders and citizens

Towards a Segmented European Political Order Jozef Bátora, John Erik Fossum, 2019-11-08 This book makes a distinctive contribution to the crucial debate on the European Union EU's present and future development It systematically examines how the range of crises and challenges over the last decade have transformed the EU and relates those findings to the discussion of an increasingly differentiated EU It argues that the post crises EU shows clear signs of becoming a segmented political order with in built biases and constraints The book spells out the key features of such an order in ideational and structural terms and shows how it more concretely manifests itself in the EU's institutional and constitutional make up and in how member states constrain and condition EU action Different states impose different types of constraints as is underlined through paying explicit attention to the Visegrád countries This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of EU politics studies European integration and politics East European politics and foreign policy

Europe's Future Sergio Fabbrini, 2019-03-14 The EU's crises have triggered a division between sovereignist and Europeanist forces Fabbrini proposes a way for dealing with it

The Future of Europe Serge Champeau, Carlos Closa, Daniel Innerarity, Miguel Poiates Maduro, 2014-11-03 The European Union seems to have rescued its single currency but it has not yet put an end to the crisis In this major new book a group of fifteen international philosophers economists political scientists sociologists and legal experts compare the economic political constitutional social and cultural interpretations of the European crisis They describe the challenges the EU faces in relation to legitimacy and democracy and address head on the uncertainty over the future of Europe The book considers different possible scenarios from the Union's dissolution with or without the continuation of the integration process to its reinforcement through the building of a political union addressing the challenges of legitimacy democracy and justice Such a strengthened union could mark a new stage for democracy not the democracy of ancient cities and modern states but one convenient to the complex entities neither national nor supra national of which the European Union despite the crisis is still the best modern example

The European Union After the Crisis Hugo Radice, 2017-10-02 The global financial and economic crisis struck the European Union and its member states with particular force from 2009 onwards The immediate problem was the knock on effects of the crisis on each country's public finances Bank bail outs imposed a massive increase in sovereign debt on member states while the economic recession unavoidably led to ballooning budget deficits via the usual mechanisms of reduced taxes and increased welfare spending. Subsequently the Eurozone sovereign debt crisis exposed the hidden weaknesses in the monetary and financial arrangements that had accompanied the launch of the Euro: the severe economic imbalance between member states rooted in longer term structural divergences and the inadequate institutional mechanisms for resolving these difficulties. This book originated from an EU funded international research network on Systemic Risks, Financial Crises and Credit: the Roots, Dynamics and Consequences of the Sub Prime Crisis. Contributions explore and evaluate some of the ways in which the institutions and policies of the European Union and its member states have changed in response to the problems brought about by the crisis. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary European Studies. National Parliaments after the Lisbon Treaty and the Euro Crisis Davor Jancic, 2017-04-05. A critical assessment by eminent legal and political science experts in the field, this book examines the two key factors which have deeply affected the position of national parliaments in European integration: the entry into force of the Lisbon Treaty and the sovereign debt crisis in the Eurozone. Structured in three parts, the book will address the question: Do national parliaments exhibit resilience or resignation in these changed politico-legal and socio-economic circumstances in the EU? Part I investigates the impact of the aforementioned factors against the theoretical concepts of constitutionalism and democratic legitimacy. Part II evaluates the changing nature of parliamentary functions, and Part III appraises the evolving relationships between national parliaments and national governments, national courts and EU institutions, in addition to surveying the emerging patterns of interparliamentary cooperation. This interdisciplinary collection yields novel insights into how the deepening of the Economic and Monetary Union and the pursuance of new initiatives for parliamentary action impact the shape and nature of EU democracy. Impact of a structural total factor productivity slowdown on European Economic growth. Secular stagnation in the EU-15 countries and possible policy measures Jacques Meirer, 2020-12-09. Master's Thesis from the year 2020 in the subject Business economics, Economic Policy, grade 1.5, Humboldt University of Berlin, language English, abstract.

The aim of this thesis was to identify the background and determinants of the stagnating economic growth in the EU-15 countries and to evaluate whether the region has entered a secular stagnation. To this end, the influence of a structural total factor productivity (TFP) slowdown on European economic growth was empirically examined. In order to obtain the results for this study, a logit panel regression was carried out with the EU-15 countries over the period from 1950 to 2017. It became particularly clear that the TFP slowdowns increased over the years while TFP upswings decreased. This tendency can mainly be attributed to a lack of human capital, too little intra-European cooperation, too many regulatory hurdles and too much employment in the services sector. These highly structural factors and their influence on TFP growth and ultimately economic growth demonstrate that the EU-15 countries have fallen into an economic stagnation dynamic that is strongly reminiscent of the model of secular stagnation. Only the way in which policymakers deal with the current pandemic will show how strong and protracted the current stagnation of economic growth will be

Foreign Direct Investment and Competition Policy after the Franco-German Manifesto. Embedding Political Dissent in Law Cosimo Marcantuono, 2023-01-30 Master's Thesis from the year 2022 in the subject Law European and International Law Intellectual Properties grade 16/20 Leuven Catholic University language English abstract This thesis examines the European paradigm shift i.e. from unconditional openness to foreign direct investment to the statement we are not naive free traders pronounced by the former President of the European Commission Jean Claude Juncker toward the concerns raised by the Franco German Manifesto and the subsequent interventions of European legislator The research will focus on the new Foreign Direct Investments Screening Regulation and Cybersecurity Regulation Furthermore this thesis addresses a final proposal for a regulation to address state aid from non European countries as well as prospects for amending European competition law to meet Member States desire to create national and European champions Globalization the development of new technologies and the recent COVID 19 pandemic crisis prompted the reopening of old issues in the European Union concerning the demand for protection and the interplay between industrial policy and European competition law To preserve the internal market sovereignty and the future economic independence of Europe unified and strategic European thinking is required In this vein Germany and France formulated an industrial policy proposal to induce the European Union to amend its rules on the subject now perceived as outdated when confronted with increasingly fierce industrial competition from the Asian powers and the United States This understanding labelled as the Franco German Manifesto illustrates Member States concerns on the need for new European defence tools for technologies companies and the European market along with the reform of the current regulatory framework to enable European companies to compete globally The analysis performed in this thesis thus investigates the rationale underpinning the new regulations and their approach to the critical issues highlighted by the Member States The scrutiny of the mentioned regulations will concentrate on their effectiveness in countering risks related to i foreign acquisition of strategic assets ii new technologies and iii distortions of the internal market due to the lack of a global level playing field will lead this thesis to argue in favour of further action by the legislator
