Stephen D. Gladis

Writers And Personality:

Creating Characters Howard Lauther, 1998 A frequent problem area for fiction writers is characterization If writers jump headlong into a story with only a fuzzy notion about the people who are in it the result is a collection of characters who are clichéd stereotypical and not very interesting Creating Characters is an easy to use reference work that looks at character development from many different angles The book does not tell writers how to write Instead it generates a thought process by asking crucial questions about characters internal and external traits wants needs likes dislikes fears beliefs strengths weaknesses habits and backgrounds Following these questions the writer will find an ever deeper and wider array of options Thus Creating Characters helps writers delve as deeply into a character's psychology as they want All characters and the stories they people can be made richer and more compelling

WriteType, Personality Types and Writing Styles

Stephen D. Gladis, 1993 This book outlines the 4 different writing personality types the correspondent the technical writer the creative writer and the analytical writer Readers will learn their own natural type and be better able to flex their writing style to more appropriate WriteTypes as the need calls for them

Personality Traits in Online Communication

Barrie Gunter, 2019-06-07 Authoritative and illuminating this book demonstrates how we reveal the secrets of our character through the disclosures we make about ourselves in the online world The author expertly explores whether online information about people derived from their search patterns personal detail disclosures and the language they use when posting text are all related to their personalities The Internet era has given rise to an enormous explosion of data that is refreshed daily on a massive scale The growth of online social network sites has created opportunities for more and more people to reveal intimate details about themselves and their lives While some of these disclosures are consciously made other more subtle forms of person profiling can be produced by examining patterns in our online behavior and the language we use in our online posts As this book will show techniques have been developed which enable researchers to build detailed personality profiles of people without their awareness by examining online behaviour and psycholinguistic analysis Establishing how unlocking the full potential of big data is dependent on having the right analytical tools that can be applied speedily and cost effectively on a massive scale the author also asks how powerful these methods are and can they really be used to influence us in the way their critics fear and proponents claim Explaining how we reveal the secrets of our character through the disclosures we make about ourselves in the online world this is fascinating reading for students and academics in psychology linguistics computer science and related areas
