Writing The City Into Being Essays On Johannesburg 1998 2008:

Writing the City Into Being Lindsay Bremner, Bronwyn Law-Viljoen, 2010 Writing the City into Being is Bremner's long awaited collection of essays spanning more than a decade of work on Johannesburg. It is both an unflinching analysis of the characteristics of an extraordinary city and a work of imagination, a bringing of the evasive city into being through writing. Johannesburg has become a touchstone in critical thinking on the development of the twenty-first century city, attracting scholars from around the world who seek to understand how cities are changing in the face of urban migration in all its myriad forms and the inflow of foreign capital and interest. Bremner is at the forefront of this scholarship. Her intimate knowledge of the city makes this a deeply personal but authoritative collection of essays. Writing the City into Being is an important book for those seeking to understand cities in a rapidly changing and fragmenting world. Lindsay Bremner is an extraordinary guide to the city of Johannesburg and one of its most incisive commentators. Claiming the City in South African Literature Meg Samuelson, 2021-08-23 This book demonstrates the insights that literature brings to transdisciplinary urban studies and particularly to the study of cities of the South. Starting from the claim staked by mining capital in the late nineteenth century and its production of extractive and segregated cities, it surveys over a century of writing in search of counterclaims through which the literature reimagines the city as a place of assembly and attachment. Focusing on how the South African city has been designed to funnel gold into the global economy and to service an enclaved minority, the study looks to the literary city to advance a contrary emphasis on community, conviviality, and care. An accessible and informative introduction to literature of the South African city at significant historical junctures, this book will also be of great interest to scholars and students in urban studies and Global South studies. South African Writing in Transition Rita Barnard, Andrew van der Vlies, 2019-02-21 Bringing together leading and emerging scholars, this book asks the question: how has contemporary South African literature grappled with ideas of time and history during the political transition away from apartheid? Reading the work of major South African writers such as J. M. Coetzee, Nadine Gordimer, and Ivan Vladislavic, as well as contemporary crime fiction, South African Writing in Transition explores how concerns about time and temporality have shaped literary form across the country's literary culture. Establishing new connections between leading literary voices and lesser-known works, the book explores themes of truth and reconciliation, disappointment, and betrayal. Imagining the Edgy City Loren Kruger, 2013-10-30 All roads lead to Johannesburg, remarks the narrator of Alan Paton's novel Cry, The Beloved Country. Taking this quote as her impetus, Loren Kruger guides readers into the heart of South Africa's largest city. Exploring a wide range of fiction, film, architecture, performance, and urban practices from trading to parades, Imagining the Edgy City traverses Johannesburg's rich cultural terrain over the last century. The edgy city in Kruger's exploration refers not only to persistent boundaries between the haves and have-nots but also to the cosmopolitan diversity and innovation that has emerged from Johannesburg. The book begins with the building boom, performances, and uneven but noteworthy inter-racial exchange that marked the city's fiftieth anniversary celebration at the Empire Exhibition in 1936. This celebration rapidly gave way to the political repression and civil unrest that characterized South Africa from 1950 to 1990. Yet poetry, drama, fiction, and photography continued to thrive, bearing witness not only against apartheid but to alternatives beyond it. In the late twentieth century, the not quite post-apartheid condition fired the artistic imaginations of film makers as well as novelists. Urban neglect, rising crime, and the influx of migrants inspired noir cinema like Michael Hammon's Wheels and Deals and fiction about migration from Achmat Dangor to Phaswane Mpe, and in the twenty-first urban renewal has produced public art that incorporates the desire lines of newcomers as well as natives. Alongside well-known artists such as Nadine Gordimer, William Kentridge, and David Goldblatt, the book introduces many artists, architects, writers, and other chroniclers who have hitherto received little attention abroad. Ultimately, Johannesburg emerges as a city whose negotiation of the tensions between incivility and innovation invites comparisons with modern conurbations across the world, not only African cities such as Dakar or other cities of the south such as Bogotá but also with major metropolises in North America and Europe from Chicago to Paris. A multi-faceted work that speaks to scholars in urban studies, literature, and history, Imagining the Edgy City is a rich example of interdisciplinary scholarship at its best. District 9: Johannesburg as Nostalgic Dystopia Landi

Raubenheimer, 2024-12-23. The film District 9 made waves as an allegory of apartheid on the big screen, but it has not yet been given its rightful place as a landmark depiction within broader visual cultural studies of Johannesburg and cities in the Global South. In this book, Landi Raubenheimer argues that District 9's portrayal of Johannesburg reverberates within a larger body of representations of the city, collectively shaping a unique visual idiom for the post-apartheid city as nostalgic dystopia. Delving deeply into District 9, Raubenheimer brings to light the fascination that images of the city as nostalgic dystopia have held for filmmakers, photographers, viewers, and lovers of Johannesburg alike. MediaCities: Proceedings

Jordan Geiger, Mark Shepard, Omar Khan, 2014-02-09. Proceedings from MediaCity 4: MediaCities, the International Conference, Workshops, and Exhibition, mounted at the University at Buffalo, May 3-5, 2013. Edited by Jordan Geiger, Mark Shepard, and Omar Khan. Remaking the urban Naomi Roux, 2021-01-26. After the end of the apartheid regime in the 1990s, South Africa experienced a boom in new heritage and commemorative projects. These ranged from huge new museums and monuments to small community museums and grassroots memory work. At the same time, South African cities have continued to grapple with the difficulties of overcoming entrenched inequalities and divisions. Urban spaces are deep repositories of memory and also sites in need of radical transformation. Remaking the Urban examines the intersections between post-apartheid urban transformation and the politics of heritage making in divided cities, using the Nelson Mandela Bay Metro in South Africa's Eastern Cape as a case study. Roux unpacks the processes by which some narratives and histories become officially inscribed in public space while others are visible only through alternative, ephemeral, or subversive means. Including discussions of the history of the Red Location Museum of Struggle, memorialisation of urban forced removals, the heritage politics and transformative potential of public art and strategies for making visible memories and histories of former anti apartheid youth activist groups in the city s townships Roux examines how these twin processes of memory making and change have played out in Nelson Mandela Bay

Spatial Justice After Apartheid Jaco Barnard-Naudé, Julia Chrystos, 2022-08-25 This book considers the question of spatial justice after apartheid from several disciplinary perspectives jurisprudence law literature architecture photography and psychoanalysis are just some of the disciplines engaged here However the main theoretical device on which the authors comment is the legacy of what in Carl Schmitt s terms is nomos as the spatialised normativity of sociality Each author considers within the practical and theoretical constraints of their topic the question of what nomos in its modern configuration may or may not contribute to a thinking of spatial justice after apartheid On the whole the collection forces a confrontation between law s spatiality in a postcolonial era on the one hand and the traumatic legacy of what Paul Gilroy has called the colonial nomos on the other hand In the course of this confrontation critical questions of continuation extension disruption and rewriting are raised and confronted in novel and innovative ways that both challenge Schmitt s account of nomos and affirm the centrality of the constitutive relation between law and space The book promises to resituate the trajectory of nomos while considering critical instances through which the spatial legacy of apartheid might at last be overcome This interdisciplinary book will appeal to scholars of critical legal theory political philosophy aesthetics and architecture

The Oxford Handbook of Language and Society Ofelia García, Nelson Flores (Linguist), Massimiliano Spotti, 2017 This book challenges basic concepts that have informed the study of sociolinguistics It proposes a critical poststructuralist perspective that examines the socio historical context that led to the emergence of dominant sociolinguistic concepts and develops new theoretical and methodological tools that challenge these dominant concepts

At Home with Ivan Vladislavić Gerald Gaylard, 2023-03-31 At Home With Ivan Vladislavić is the first comprehensive analysis of the works of Ivan Vladislavić Bringing a flaneur s internal GPS to postcolonial Johannesburg Vladislavić established a critical sense of home via an intimate knowledge of geography and history This sense of belonging can have positive ecological effects as we tend to protect what we know The flaneur s deep word hoard also helped him to develop a minimalist style which was not only a means of living sustainably in the city but in its humour and close attention to detail a way to make greening the city more of a joy than a duty In this way Vladislavić created a culture of sustainability Introduction and Chapter 6 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
