Writing with an Accent Edvige Giunta, 2002 Mary Cappello Louise DeSalvo Sandra M Gilbert Maria Mazziotti Gillan Carole Maso Agnes Rossi These are some of the best known Italian American writers today They are part of a literary tradition with mid twentieth century roots that began to develop in earnest in the late 1970s and early 1980s During those decades a number of Italian American women such as Helen Barolini began to publish books that depicted their perspectives on life through the critical lenses of gender class and ethnicity At the end of the twentieth century this literature finally blossomed into a fully fledged cultural movement that also took into account issues of sexuality age illness and familial and societal abuse Writing with an Accent takes a look at this vibrant literary movement by discussing those first writers of the 1970s and 1980s as well as later authors At the center of Edvige Giunta's Writing with an Accent is the literal notion of accent the marker of linguistic and cultural difference that separates and identifies recent immigrants to the United States In this study an accent symbolically embodies the differences and creative strategies through which contemporary Italian American women writers engage Italian American culture in works of fiction poetry and memoir Giunta also looks at the links between the literature and art music film and video produced by contemporary Italian American women The literature of the Italian American women in Writing with an Accent is shaped by the complicated connections these authors maintain with their cultural origins but also and perhaps more importantly by their feminist consciousness and politicized sense of ethnic identity Writing with an Accent celebrates and explores a group of authors who characteristically mix the joy and pain of Italian American life to paint a multifaceted picture of Italian American women and their complex place in U S culture

Re-reading Italian Americana Anthony Julian Tamburri, 2013-12-05 This book is divided into three sections The first section deals with the general situation of Italian American literature and its reception both in the United States and in Italy It also discusses other social and cultural issues that pertain to Italian Americana Section two consists of six chapters each discussing a specific author three dedicated to prose Pietro di Donato Mario Puzo Luigi Barzini three dedicated to poetry Joseph Tusiani Maria Mazziotti Gillan Rina Ferrarelli Section three examines the current state of criticism dedicated to Italian American literature the second part focusing in on a number of specific works Italian American Poetics of Place Sabrina Vellucci, 2024-11-19 This volume examines the significance of place in contemporary Italian American literature from an ecocritical perspective It fills a gap in the theoretical discourse on Italian American culture whose concerns about environmental justice have been mostly overlooked From mid twentieth century poets such as John Ciardi and Diane di Prima to late twentieth and twenty first century fiction writers such as Carole Maso and Salvatore Scibona the study combines Italian American literary criticism with the spatial turn that over the last decades has asserted the interpretive significance of place and the environment in literary texts Questioning the prejudice that sees Italian American culture as detached from ecological issues these works show that such diasporic heritage has helped forge different modes of relationship and new forms of expression in contact with the American land Their relevance lies not so much in defining or redefining Italian American ethnicity but in forging ideas and futures beyond their immediate framework and subject matter By focusing on the intersection of gender and ethnicity with local and transnational spaces and aesthetic practices Italian American Poetics of Place contributes to the growing field of inquiry that explores the resources of the literary in laying the basis for more dialogic and inclusive forms of awareness and community with both the human and other than human The Milk of Almonds Louise A. DeSalvo, Edvige Giunta, 2003-08 Often sentimentalized as nurturing through food Italian American women have continually struggled against this stereotype to speak of the realities of their lives In The Milk of Almonds more than 50 writers speak in voices that are loud boisterous sweet savvy and often subversively comical Drawing on personal and cultural memory rooted in experiences of food here Italian American women dissolve conventional images replacing them with a sumptuous communal feast of poetry stories and memoir Though they begin with food the writers in this collection quickly carry the reader into unexpected terrain as they bear witness to experiences often considered unspeakable A deeply satisfying literary banquet The Milk of Almonds is an unprecedented collection amply revising all received notions of what it means to be an Italian American woman Book jacket Oral History, Oral Culture, and Italian Americans Luisa Del Giudice, 2009-11-09 This book introduces readers to a wide range of interpretations that take oral history and folklore as the premise with a focus on Italian and Italian American culture in disciplines such as history ethnography memoir art and music

Expanding Diasporic Identity Anthony Julian Tamburri, 2025-07-29 This study examines the changing dynamics of the Italian writer and how we as cultural critics need to re think our definitions of the new Italian writer In so doing we must also re consider the notion of the geo cultural zones that we characterize as Italian Namely how do we categorize that writer who having left Italy and now living beyond its geo cartographic boundaries writes in Italian Similarly who is that other writer who originating from another country that is both culturally and linguistically different from Italy writes in Italian Finally where within these two groups do we position the writer of Italian origin who also lives in another country and different from the previous two types of writers composes his her work in the language of his her host country This seemingly odd triad of writers does not consist of what some may call distinct and disparate categories I would submit instead that they share a closer relationship than some might imagine First they are all dialoguing to some degree or another with the sign we know as Italy Second at least two of the groups are derivative of Italy whereas the third in its own right is derivative the first two leaving the third arriving yet the common denominator is still Italy It remains the central point of commonality This unique book provides an important reference resource for students of modern Italian and Italian American literature language and culture It is the only study of its kind in English

The Anarchist Bastard Joanna Clapps Herman, 2011-03-01 Finalist for the 2011 ForeWord Book of the Year in the Autobiography Memoir Category I was born in 1944 but raised in the twelfth century With that Joanna Clapps Herman neatly describes the two worlds she inhabited while growing up as the child of Italian American immigrants in Waterbury

Connecticut a place embedded with values closer to Homer's Greece than to Anglo American New England where the ethic of hospitality was and still is more Middle Eastern and North African than Anglo European and where the pageantry and ritual were more pagan Mediterranean than Western Christian It was also a place where a stuffed monkey wearing a fedora sat and continues to sit on her grandmother's piano and a place where when the donkey got stubborn and wouldn't plow the field her grandfather bit the animal in a fury In essays filled with wry humor and affectionate yet probing insights Herman maps and makes palpable the very particular details of this culture its pride and its shame its profound loyalty and its Byzantine betrayals
