Ville Renatur E R Concilier Lespace Biodiversit:

BiodiverCités Emmanuel Lézy, Louise Lézy-Bruno, 2013-02-22T00:00:00+01:00 Les aires protégées urbaines posent le problème du rapport entre la ville et ce que nous avons pris l'habitude de désigner sous le terme de Nature. La civilisation longtemps menacée de destruction par les forces dites naturelles a fixé ses limites au contact de la sauvagerie. L'urbanisation a fini par inverser les enjeux et faire de la Nature la première victime d'une croissance urbaine devenue sauvage. Dans un ultime et significatif retournement, la jungle elle-même est devenue urbaine par attrice incontrôlée de la biodiversité de la planète. Pour éviter sa destruction totale, la ville a réduit la Nature environnante à la seule mention du parc protégé. L'englobement est devenu englobant. Ce paradoxe mortifère repose largement sur les fondements philosophiques et religieux de l'opposition entre les domaines du Naturel et du Culturel. À partir de ce constat, le Réseau d'aires protégées urbaines www.upa-network.org Réseau international indépendant et sans but lucratif réunit gestionnaires d'aires protégées, autorités locales, représentants de la société et chercheurs pour changer sur l'interaction entre les milieux naturels et urbains. Vivre le territoire et faire la ville autrement ? Didier Paris, 2017-03-24 La ville et le territoire sont confrontés en tant que construits sociaux des transformations rapides qui posent la question des mécanismes de résilience des nouvelles formes d'action et du rôle des acteurs publics ou privés qui prennent en compte les bouleversements en cours. Ainsi la créativité et l'innovation se trouvent au cœur de la L'intégration de la Biodiversité Urbaine Dans la Ville de Paris Aleksandra Batinic, 2013 Quand près de la moitié de la population mondiale vit dans les grandes villes, la question se pose : pourquoi la nature dans les villes et la relation entre l'homme et la nature. La présence de la nature dans une ville démontre que les citoyens ont besoin de lui et il est associé des valeurs positives. Dans le chapitre intitulé L'étude de cohabitation personnes biodiversité dans une ville, j'ai montré comment la biodiversité est intégrée dans la vie urbaine de la Ville de Paris et que les avantages, les contraintes et la pertinence de cette intégration sont. Il nous reste à demander sur la dynamique de l'espace et des espèces. Comment évoluent-ils ? Comment la faune et la flore se développent-elles dans Paris ? Pour répondre à ces questions, nous devons suivre l'évolution de la biodiversité de Paris en long terme et rendre les collections permanentes d'information dans le domaine afin d'identifier autant que possible la dynamique spatiale et temporelle des espèces. Il soulève également la question de savoir si Paris peut être considéré comme une ville ouverte ou pas. Ensuite, en ce qui concerne les corridors écologiques, Paris Réseau européen Natura 2000 appelle à la question : est-ce de savoir si ils peuvent remplir la fonction pour laquelle ils ont le potentiel pour diffuser différentes espèces sur le territoire de Paris. La question clé est de savoir si ces zones deviendront des points de communication entre la ville et la campagne ou ils vont devenir plus utopie de la nature. When almost half the world's population lives in large cities, the question is raised about the need for nature in cities and the relationship between man and nature. The presence of nature in a city demonstrates that city dwellers have a need for it and it is associated with positive values. In the chapter called The study of cohabitation people biodiversity in a town, I showed how biodiversity is integrated into urban life of the City of Paris.

and what the benefits relevance and constraints of this integration are It remains for us to ask about the dynamics of space and species How are they changing How do fauna and flora develop in Paris To answer these questions we need to follow the evolution of biodiversity of Paris in long term and make permanent collections of information in the field in order to identify as closely as possible spatial and temporal dynamics of species It also raises the question if Paris can be seen as an open city or not Then as regards ecological corridors in Paris European Natura 2000 network called the green screen the question is whether they can perform the intended function they have the potential to disseminate different species on the territory of Paris The key question is whether these areas will become points of communication between city and the countryside or they will become more utopia of nature Action for Biodiversity Convention sur la diversité biologique,2010
