Short Stories: Stories of Courtship Anthony Trollope,Israel Zangwill,George Egerton,Hubert Crackanthorpe,W. S.
Gilbert,2023-08-19 Victorian Short Stories Stories of Courtship is an expertly curated anthology that captures the multifaceted tapestry of courtship through the lens of the Victorian era This collection encapsulates the complex dance of romance societal roles and human connection that marked the age stretching across a spectrum of literary styles from the wry wit of social satire to the nuanced layers of psychological realism Though diverse in its voices the anthology presents a cohesive narrative on love and relationships challenging and defining Victorian norms with remarkable eloquence Notable entries offer poignant reflections on the era s intricate social conventions subtly revealing the timeless tension between personal desire and public expectation The volume invites readers into the minds of five distinctive authors whose works align with and occasionally push against the Victorian literary tradition With authors like the esteemed Anthony Trollope and the culturally astute Israel Zangwill the collection harnesses a rich backdrop of social commentary while George Egerton and Hubert Crackanthorpe bring in their modernist sensibilities to disrupt and enrich traditional narrative forms The inclusion of W S Gilbert with his signature sense of irony further diversifies the collection joining a dialogue that spans across different facets of Victorian experience and beyond Victorian Short Stories Stories of Courtship is an essential read for those eager to understand the enduring complexity of Victorian romances It offers a unique opportunity to explore the kaleidoscope of perspectives that reflect both the universals and particulars of human relationships With its wealth of insights the anthology encourages readers to engage in a broader conversation about the interplay of tradition and individuality while celebrating the artistry that defines some of Victorian literature's most provocative voices. Whether for scholarly inquiry or leisurely reading, this collection invites deep reflection and enjoyment. Richard Marsh, popular fiction and literary culture, 1890-1915 Victoria Margree, Daniel Orrells, Minna Vuohelainen, 2018-03-31

Richard Marsh was one of the most popular and prolific authors of the late Victorian and Edwardian periods. His bestselling The Beetle A Mystery 1897 outsold Bram Stoker's Dracula. A prolific author within a range of genres including Gothic crime, humour, and romance, Marsh produced stories about shape-shifting monsters, morally dubious heroes, lip-reading female detectives, and objects that come to life. However, while Marsh's work appealed to a public greedy for sensationalist fiction, both the cultural elite of the day and twentieth-century literary critics looked askance at his popular middlebrow fiction. In the wake of the recent rediscovery of Marsh's fiction, this essay collection builds on burgeoning scholarly interest in the author. Marsh emerges here as a fascinating writer who helped shape the genres of popular fiction and whose stories offer surprising responses to issues of criminality, gender, and empire in this period of cultural transition.

Richard Marsh Minna Vuohelainen, 2015-08-26

Richard Marsh (Richard Bernard Heldmann 1857-1915) was a bestselling, versatile, and prolific author of gothic crime, adventure, romantic, and comic fiction. This book, the first on Marsh, establishes his credentials as a significant agent within the fin de siècle gothic revival. Marsh's work spans a range of gothic modes, including the canonical fin de siècle subgenres of urban and imperial gothic and gothic-inflected sensation and supernatural fiction, but also rarer hybrid genres such as the comic gothic and the occult romance. His greatest success came in 1897 when he published his bestselling invasion narrative The Beetle A Mystery, a novel that articulated many of the key themes of fin de siècle urban gothic and outsold its close rival Bram Stoker's Dracula well into the twentieth century. The present work extends studies of Marsh's literary production beyond The Beetle, contending that, in addition to his undoubted interest in non-normative gender and ethnic identities, Marsh was a writer with an acute sense of spatiality whose fiction can be read productively through the lens of spatial theory.
