Mankind has always been interested in the way people perceive the world and this has become one of its main concerns reflected in the fact that early explanations for visual perception date back to ancient Greece. Studies of visual perception were pursued merely in the field of philosophy until the 20th century, when psychologists, and thereafter neuroscientists, formulated their contributions to this topic. But what are the recent theories and findings regarding visual experience and, what have been the recent developments in related fields such as the psychology and philosophy of visual perception? Visual Experience: Sensation, Cognition, and Constancy deals with important questions about visual perception that concern the philosophers and psychologists of our era, with a focus on the phenomenal appearances of size and color. This volume, which is emerged out of a research workshop on Cognitive and Developmental Factors in Perceptual Constancy, held at the Institute for Research in Cognitive Sciences (IRCS) of the University of Pennsylvania in February, 2009, includes both psychologists' empirical and philosophers' phenomenological points of view on spatial and color perception. The volume is edited by Gary Hatfield, Professor of Philosophy at University of Pennsylvania, who is trained in experimental psychology, history of science, and philosophy, and Sarah Allred, Assistant Professor at the Department of Psychology, Rutgers University.

Baumgarten and Kant on Metaphysics Courtney D. Fugate, John Hymers (College teacher), 2018 This volume explores the metaphysics of Alexander Gottlieb Baumgarten 1714-1762 and its decisive influence on Immanuel Kant For over a century scholars have recognized the significance of Baumgarten's Metaphysics both because of its impact on Kant's intellectual development and because of the way it fundamentally informed the work of generations of German philosophers including Moses Mendelssohn Thomas Abbt Johann Gottfried Herder Solomon Maimon Johann August Eberhard and arguably even Georg Friedrich Hegel However Baumgarten's Metaphysics has only recently become available in reliable German and English translations so that many scholars have been excluded from the discussion and the significance of Baumgarten's work has remained largely unexplored Thus with the appearance of these translations interest in Baumgarten's work has surged among both This volume aims to provide an anchor for this emerging discussion by presenting specially written essays by some of the scholars most responsible for Baumgarten's current reputation together with some of the best young scholars in this emerging field Thinking and Perceiving Dustin Stokes, 2021-05-26 Human beings are in contact with the world through their minds One can make sensory perceptual contact with the world One sees the tree and hears its leaves flutter And one makes cognitive contact with the world One forms beliefs about the tree memories of how it was in the past and expectations of how it will be in the future Can the first perception be influenced in important ways by the second cognition Do cognitive states such as memories beliefs and expectations affect what one perceives through the senses And what is the importance of these possible relations to how we theorize and understand the human mind Possible cognitive influence on perception sometimes called cognitive penetration of perception has been long debated in philosophy of mind and cognitive science Some argue that such influence occurs while others argue that it does not or cannot In this excellent introduction and overview of the problem Dustin Stokes examines the following The philosophical and scientific background to cognition and perception Contemporary ways of distinguishing cognition and perception Questions about the representational content of perception versus cognition Distinct theories of mental architecture modularity versus malleability Consequences for epistemology philosophy of science and aesthetics Philosophical and scientific research on perceptual attention Perceptual skill learning and expertise Perceptual content objectivity and cultural bias Additional features such as chapter summaries suggestions for further reading and a glossary make Thinking and Perceiving an ideal resource for students of philosophy of mind and psychology cognitive psychology and cognitive science Perceptual Imagination and Perceptual Memory Fiona Macpherson, Fabian Dorsch, 2018 This volume presents ten new essays on the nature of perceptual imagination and perceptual memory The central questions are How do perceptual imagination and memory resemble and differ from each other and from other kinds of sensory experience And what role does each play in perception and in the acquisition of knowledge Self, World, and Art Dina Emundts, 2013-03-22 Is self consciousness a condition of possibility for knowledge Does Kant's theory of self consciousness commit us to transcendental idealism How convincing is Kant's theory of self consciousness How should we understand transcendental idealism What is Hegel's alternative How do Kant and Hegel conceive of the beautiful How do their conceptions of beauty relate to their metaphysics In this volume some of the world's most renowned Kant and Hegel scholars seek to provide answers What Makes Time Special? Craig Callender, 2017-06-30 As we navigate through life we instinctively model time as having a flowing present that divides a fixed past from open future This model develops in childhood and is deeply saturated within our language thought and behavior affecting our conceptions of the universe freedom and the self Yet as central as it is to our lives physics seems to have no room for this flowing present What Makes Time Special demonstrates this claim in detail and then turns to two novel positive tasks First by looking at the world

sideways in the spatial directions it shows that physics is not spatializing time as is commonly alleged Even relativity theory makes significant distinctions between the spacelike and timelike directions often with surprising consequences Second if the flowing present is an illusion it is a deep one worthy of explanation The author develops a picture whereby the temporal flow arises as an interaction effect between an observer and the physics of the world Using insights from philosophy cognitive science biology psychology and physics the theory claims that the flowing present model of time is the natural reaction to the perceptual and evolutionary challenges thrown at us Modeling time as flowing makes sense even if it misrepresents it
