The Columbia Guide to Social Work Writing Warren J. Green, Barbara Levy Simon, 2012 Social work practitioners write for a variety of publications and they are expected to show fluency in a number of related fields Whether the target is a course instructor scholarly journal fellowship organization or general news outlet social workers must be clear persuasive and comprehensive in their writing especially on provocative subjects This first of its kind guide features top scholars and educators providing a much needed introduction to social work writing and scholarship. Foregrounding the process of social work writing the coeditors particularly emphasize how to think about and approach one's subject in a productive manner. The guide begins with an overview of social work writing from the 1880s to the present and then follows with ideal strategies for academic paper writing, social work journal writing and social work research writing. A section on applied professional writing addresses student composition in field education writing for and about clinical practice, the effective communication of policy information to diverse audiences, program and proposal development, advocacy and administrative writing. The concluding section focuses on specific fields of practice including writing on child and family welfare, contemporary social issues, aging and intervention in global contexts. Grounding their essays in systematic observations, induction and deduction and a wealth of real world examples, the contributors describe the conceptualization, development and presentation of social work writing in ways that better secure its power and relevance.

Professional Writing for Social Work Practice Daniel Weisman, Joseph L. Zornado, 2012-12-10

Many social work students today lack the basic writing skills they will need to practice effectively with clients. This user friendly guide to effective writing skills focuses specifically on the types of writing social work practitioners are required to do in everyday practice: writing for agency reports, client documentation, court letters and grant writing applications among other documents. It includes abundant real world examples drawn from all arenas of social work practice. The text helps students to understand and practice the basics of successful writing through the inclusion of actual forms and records that are customarily used in social work practice. It presents examples of strong writing and analyzes common writing errors. Each chapter contains examples of good and poor writing and includes forms on which students can practice their new skills. The text also covers legal and ethical issues surrounding legal documentation and use of writing to influence policy and transmit research findings.

Key Features Helps students understand and practice the basics of good writing. Focuses specifically on the types of writing they will need to do in social work practice. Includes writing samples used in actual social work venues. Provides samples of agency reports, intake forms, client progress notes, court documentation and more.
