Political Moods Travis Workman, 2024-07-26 A free ebook version of this title is available through Luminos University of California Press's Open Access publishing program Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more Melodrama films dominated the North and South Korean industries in the period between liberation from Japanese colonial rule in 1945 and the hardening of dictatorship in the 1970s The films of each industry are often read as direct reflections of Cold War and Korean War political ideologies and national historical experiences and therefore as aesthetically and politically opposed to each other However Political Moods develops a comparative analysis across the Cold War divide analyzing how films in both North and South Korea convey political and moral ideas through the sentimentality of the melodramatic mode Travis Workman reveals that the melancholic moods of film melodrama express the somatic and social conflicts between political ideologies and excesses of affect meaning and historical references These moods dramatize the tension between the language of Cold War politics and the negative affects that connect cinema to what it cannot fully represent The result is a new way of historicizing the cinema of the two Koreas in relation to colonialism postcolonialism war and nation building

The Koreas Mary E. Connor,2009-06-30 Asia in Focus The Koreas is the most complete accessible and up to date resource available on both North Korea and South Korea Asia in Focus The Koreas presents an authoritative and unprecedented look at the contrasts and similarities between the history geography politics economy culture and society of North Korea and South Korea It offers a wealth of new insights into North Korean life as well as extensive explorations of Korean music arts language cuisine and popular culture including the Korean wave which began with the export of Korean television dramas to other parts of Asia and has spread South Korean culture around the world Also included are sections on women s history and roles class and ethnicity and a wide range of contemporary issues For a deeper understanding of one of the most closely watched regions of the globe this volume is a must Literature of the Bittersweet Daniel Hyonsu Kim,2004 田代 忠生 Tadahira Fujiwara,2008 This book is organized around a fully annotated translation of daily entries from the year 939 in the Teishinkoki the journal of Fujiwara Tadahira an early regent The translation makes entries from a courtier journal accessible to English readers for the first time The finished work provides startling insights into the Heian court led by Tadahira during the 930s and 940s when the regency took established form even as it met challenges from regional rebellions in eastern and western Japan Note This book reads from right to left It is not in error please do not return your order Sungkyun Journal of East Asian Studies ,2005 黒龍年記 Imjin nok or Record of the Black Dragon Year is the first popular tale inspired by the Japanese invasion of Korea between 1592 and 1598 As a collection of folk narratives clustered around major events and characters it exists in some forty manuscript and printed versions long and short in the vernacular and literary Chinese Peter H Lee provides the first accurate and readable translation of this cultural text in English In the Introduction Lee traces the rise of popular storytelling in late Chosen times analyzes ten recurrent motifs shared by the most extant versions in the vernacular and firsthand eyewitness accounts of Korean captives in Japan along with similar accounts of the war in the records of dream journeys and kasa poetry Max Loehr and the Study of Chinese Bronzes Robert W. Bagley,2008 Max Loehr 1903 1988 the most distinguished historian of Chinese art of his generation is celebrated above all for a 1953 art historical study of Chinese bronzes that effectively predicted discoveries Chinese archaeologists were about to make Those discoveries in turn overthrew the theories of Loehr s great rival Bernhard Karlgren 1889 1978 a Swedish sinologue whose apparently scientific use of classification and statistics had long dominated Western studies of the bronzes Revisiting a controversy that was ended by archaeology before the issues at stake were fully understood Robert Bagley shows its methodological implications to be profound Starting with a close reading of the work of Karlgren he uses an analogy with biological taxonomy to clarify questions of method and to distinguish between science and the appearance of science Then turning to Loehr he provides the rationale for an art history that is concerned above all with constructing a meaningful history of creative events one that sees the intentionality of designers and patrons as the driving force behind stylistic change In a concluding chapter he analyzes the concept of style arguing that many classic confusions in art historical theorizing arise from a failure to recognize that style is not a property of objects Addressed not just to ancient China specialists or historians of Chinese art this book uses Loehr s work on bronzes as a case study for exploring central issues of art history It will be of interest to anyone concerned with the analysis of visual materials
