women stepped beyond their roles as wives caregivers and homemakers to start businesses that combined family concerns with money making activities Edith Sparks traces the experiences of these women entrepreneurs exploring who they were why they started businesses how they attracted customers and managed finances and how they dealt with failure Using a unique sample of bankruptcy records credit reports advertisements city directories census reports and other sources Sparks argues that women were competitive economic actors strategizing how best to capitalize on their skills in the marketplace Their boardinghouses restaurants saloons beauty shops laundries and clothing stores dotted the city s landscape By the early twentieth century however technological advances new preferences for name brand goods and competition from large scale retailers constricted opportunities for women entrepreneurs at the same time that new opportunities for women with families drew them into other occupations Sparks s analysis demonstrates that these businesswomen were intimately tied to the fortunes of the city over its first seventy years
