receive their due in this biographical dictionary of the people who have made Chicago one of the world's great cities. Here are the life stories provided in short entertaining capsules of Chicago's cultural giants as well as the industrialists, architects, and politicians who literally gave shape to the city: Jane Addams, Al Capone, Willie Dixon, Harriet Monroe, Louis Sullivan, Bill Veeck, Harold Washington, and new additions Saul Bellow, Harry Caray, Del Close, Ann Landers, Walter Payton, Koko Taylor, and Studs Terkel. Chicago Portraits tells you why their names are inseparable from the city they called home. Changing

Representations of Nature and the City Gabriel N. Gee, Alison Vogelaar, 2018-07-04 The turn of the 1960s-70s characterized by the rapid acceleration of globalization prompted a radical transformation in the perception of urban and natural environments. The urban revolution and related prospect of the total urbanisation of the planet in concert with rapid population growth and resource exploitation instigated a surge in environmental awareness and activism. One implication of this moment is a growing recognition of the integration and interconnection of natural and urban entities. The present collection is an interdisciplinary inquiry into the changing modes of representation of nature in the city beginning from the turn of the 1960s-70s. Bringing together a number of different disciplinary approaches including architectural studies and aesthetics, heritage studies, and economics, environmental science, and communication, the collection reflects upon the changing perception of socio-natures in the context of increasing urban expansion and global interconnectedness as they are manifested in specific representations. Using case studies from around the globe, the collection offers a historical and theoretical understanding of a paradigmatic shift whose material and symbolic legacies are still accompanying us in the early 21st century. Hegel's Philosophy of Reality, Freedom, and God Robert M. Wallace, 2005-04-04 Showing the relevance of Hegel's arguments, this book discusses both original texts and their interpretations.

Making the Metropolitan Landscape Jacqueline Tatom, Jennifer Stauber, 2009-05-07 Bringing together for the first time many well-known and emerging voices in urban design theory and practice, this volume argues for a progressive and engaged design practice which fully relates to the complexity and diversity of American cities. Sullivan's City Zanten David Van, 2000-07-04 Finally, the brilliant pencil execution of ornament in his old age became a surrogate for the great architectural projects realized earlier. David Van Zanten's essay on how Sullivan's ornament shaped the city is illuminated by archival views and new color photographs by architectural photographer Cervin Robinson. BOOK JACKET

Chicago Death Trap Nat Brandt, 2006-08-03 A blow-by-blow account of the deadliest fire in American history retraces the final days of the Iroquois Theatre in Chicago, a supposedly indestructible building that burned, killing more than six hundred people.
