This Child's Gonna Live Sarah E. Wright, 2002-05-01 An exploration of the black experience from a woman's perspective anticipating fiction by writers like Toni Morrison and Alice Walker The New York Times Originally published in 1969 to broad critical acclaim This Child's Gonna Live is an unsurpassed testament to human endurance in the face of poverty racism and despair Set in a fishing village on Maryland's Eastern Shore in the 1930s this story has as its main character the unforgettable Mariah Upshur a hard working sensual resilient woman full of hope and determination despite living in a society that conspires to keep her down In her mind she carries on a conversation with Jesus who like Mariah herself is passionate and compassionate at times funny and resolutely resilient to fatalism Often compared to Zora Neale Hurston for her lyrical and sure handed use of local dialect Wright like Hurston powerfully depicts the predicament of poor African American women who confront the multiple oppressions of class race and gender In every respect an impressive achievement The canon of American folk epic is enriched by this small masterpiece The New York Times Book Review It has always been my contention that the Black woman in America will write the greatest of the American novels For it is the Black woman forced to survive at the bottom rung of American society who is compelled to survey by the very extremity of her existence the depths of the American soul In reading Sarah Wright's searing novel I am convinced that my assessment was correct Rosa Guy author of The Friends

This Child's Gonna Live Sarah E. Wright, 2002 Classic novel of an African American woman's survival amidst poverty called a small masterpiece by the New York Times

Daddy Was a Number Runner Louise Meriwether, 2002-12-01 This modern classic is a tough tender bitter novel of a black girl struggling towards womanhood in 1930s Harlem with a foreword by James Baldwin Publishers Weekly Depression era Harlem is home for twelve year old Francie Coffin and her family and it's both a place of refuge and the source of untold dangers for her and her poor working class family The beloved daddy of the title indeed becomes a number runner when he is unable to find legal work and while one of Francie's brothers dreams of becoming a chemist the other is already in a gang Francie is a dreamer too but there are risks in everything from going to the movies to walking down the block and her pragmatism eventually outweighs her hope We was all poor and black and apt to stay that way and that was that First published in 1970 Daddy Was a Number Runner is one of the seminal novels of the black experience in America The New York Times Book Review proclaimed it a most important novel

Trini Estella Portillo Trambley, 2017-03-15 The sole novel of beloved Chicana author Estela Portillo Trambley Trini is the epic story of one girl's journey across borders and into womanhood Born in the rural region of the Tarahumara Raramuri people in Mexico Trini shares her family's struggle to squeeze a living out of her beautiful but inhospitable land But she is sustained by the rich traditions of her Mestiza heritage the adopted traditions of the Tarahumara and by her own intelligence and spirit As a young woman she crosses into the United States to pursue her dreams of independence and land ownership Trini is a novel distinguished by the richness and beauty of its language and by its rare depiction of life in the Borderlands in the 1940s and 1950s Most remarkable of all is its portrait of a sensitive and courageous young Chicana woman whose quiet heroism resonates from every page Here restored to print with a new foreword this early novel of the Mexican American experience is bound to take its rightful place among contemporary classics of multicultural American literature
