Sexual Paradox: Complementarity, Reproductive Conflict and Human Emergence Christine Fielder, Chris King, 2006 Unlocks the keys to the paradox of how sexual selection fertilized the explosion of culture and the resulting fallout in sexual dominion of man over woman and nature How sexuality generates the universe through symmetry broken complementarity The implicit conflict of interests of sexual intrigue in the prisoners dilemma and its ecstatic resolution in the cosmology of love Sexual dominance as a koan for planetary crises 560 pages containing 270 illustrations Female Power and Male Dominance Peggy Reeves Sanday, 1981-04-30 Applying data from over 150 tribal societies to scales developed to measure power and dominance Sanday offers answers to basic questions regarding male and female power The view that emerges conforms to no particular theoretical perspective A Natural History of Peace Thomas Gregor, 1996 A stimulating and innovative consideration of the concept causes and practice of peace in societies both ancient and modern human and primate We know a great deal about aggression conflict and war but relatively little about peace partially because it has been such a scarce phenomenon throughout history and in our own times Peace is more than the absence of war Peace requires special relationships structures and attitudes to promote and protect it A Natural History of Peace provides the first broadly interdisciplinary examination of peace as viewed from the perspectives of social anthropology primatology archeology psychology political science and economics Among other notable features this volume offers a major theory concerning the evolution of peace and violence through human history an in depth comparative study of peaceful cultures with the goal of discovering what it is that makes them peaceful one of the earliest reports of a new theory of the organization and collapse of ancient Maya civilization a comparative examination of peace from the perspective of change including the transition of one of the world s most violent societies to a relatively peaceful culture and the decision making process of terrorists who abandon violence and a theory of political change that sees the conclusion of wars as uniquely creative periods in the evolution of peace among modern nations Darkness in El Dorado Patrick Tierney, 2001 What Guns Germs and Steel did for colonial history this book will do for modern anthropology telling the explosive story of how ruthless journalists self serving anthropologists and obsessed scientists placed the Yanomami one of the Amazon basin s oldest tribes on the cusp of extinction A New York Times Notable Book of photos Scoping the Amazon Stephen Nugent, 2016-07 Savage cannibal or utopian proto environmentalist Nugent examines both popular images of Amazon peoples in film and general books as well as changing anthropological views of the rainforest and its people

Anthropological Filmmaking J.R Rollwagen, 2014-06-03 First Published in 1988 Visual Anthropology is a book series devoted to the illumination of the human condition through a systematic examination of all that is made to be seen It is our intention to demonstrate the value of an anthropological approach to the study of the visual and pictorial world The anthropological filmmaker just like the ethnographer must be content to present something about a dynamic process at a particular moment in time regardless of the fact that all of the variables are constantly in flux The purpose of this work is to make available a collection of articles by individuals who are both anthropologists and filmmakers Work Songs Ted Gioia, 2006-04-13 DIV The place of music in different forms of work from the earliest hunting and planting to the contemporary office div Anthropological Filmmaking Jack R. Rollwagen, 1988 First Published in 1988 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Human Dilemma Barbara Dole Larsen, 2009-12 Who has never wondered why people behave the way they do They create glorious music art and literature They have uncovered the secrets of the universe and disease yet have not been able to figure out how to get along with each other without war The Human Dilemma sets out to find out why It describes how humans evolved how their wonderful brains work and what they are like when they are born The author explores the reasons individuals grow up with different personalities depending on the societies in which they mature from hunter gatherers in Africa to industrial Americans She then turns to relationships between the sexes the temptations of power and why religious differences lead to violence The Human Dilemma explains in simple readable language how human nature customs and beliefs interfere with mankind's ability to resolve the overwhelming problems facing the world today Violent conflicts between cultures have become more volatile over the years Many believe it is man's nature to fight yet ancient civilizations like Crete were peaceful and everyone was treated equally women as well as men The same is true of two hunting gathering tribes in Africa that have followed the same way of life for thousands of years Perhaps it is just as human to cooperate peacefully in solving problems as it is to fight over them and just as human to see our fellows as equal instead of superior or inferior Why then do men regard women as inferior in so many societies And why do so many nations plunge into battle especially since the invention of nuclear bombs makes it possible to wipe out our entire species The newest peril is global warming caused by the spewing of carbon into the atmosphere from burning fossil fuels which may eventually change our climate back to the days before mankind existed Some animals have already become extinct because they cannot adjust to warmer weather Humans may not survive such a drastic change Our magnificent brains are capable of inventing solutions to all the problems confronting us and entrepreneurs are eager to put these inventions into practice Why then don't we do it Is there some flaw in our nature that makes it easier to blame each other instead and find excuses for relieving our frustrations in warfare As the author studied the sciences for answers to her questions she became convinced that only by fully understanding our nature and the reasons why it is difficult for us to confront our problems can we hope to resolve them and continue to survive Her conclusions are found in The Human Dilemma An original and thought provoking book which will appeal to a very wide audience Richard Edelman Psychoanalyst In her wonderfully wide ranging exploration of human nature Barbara Larsen has distilled her research into a lucid and absolutely fascinating book Richard Edelman Psychoanalyst The writer s style is open and exploratory warmly self sharing and it is an enjoyable as well as a searching and provocative learning experience Saul L Brown Emeritus Chairman Department of Psychiatry Cedars Sinai Medical Center Los Angeles CA Larsen skillfully weaves together current theory and research from an impressive variety of sources Arthur A Dole Emeritus Professor of Education University of Pennsylvania

Hiroshima Then came the Cold War and Russia's invasion of Ukraine which punctured the longest stretch of peace between major powers since World War II For all our advanced technology and hyperconnected global society we find ourselves once again on the brink as climate change heightens competition for resources and superpowers stand ready with atomic bombs drones and futuristic autonomous weapons in development Throughout Dyer delves into anthropology psychology and other relevant fields to unmask the drivers of conflict The Shortest History of War is for anyone who wants to understand the role of war in the human story and how we can prevent it from defining our future The Shortest History books deliver thousands of years of history in one riveting fast paced read Tales of a Shaman's Apprentice Mark J. Plotkin, 1994-08-01 The fascinating account of a pioneering ethnobotanist's travels in the Amazon at once a gripping adventure story a passionate argument for conservationism and an investigation into the healing power of plants by the author of The Amazon What Everyone Needs to Know For thousands of years healers have used plants to cure illness Aspirin the world's most widely used drug is based on compounds originally extracted from the bark of a willow tree and more than a quarter of medicines found on pharmacy shelves contain plant compounds Now Western medicine faced with health crises such as AIDS Alzheimer's disease and cancer has begun to look to the healing plants used by indigenous peoples to develop powerful new medicines Nowhere is the search more promising than in the Amazon the world's largest tropical forest home to a quarter of all botanical species on this planet as well as hundreds of Indian tribes whose medicinal plants have never been studied by Western scientists In Tales of a Shaman's Apprentice ethnobotanist Mark J Plotkin recounts his travels and studies with some of the most powerful Amazonian shamans who taught him the plant lore their tribes have spent thousands of years gleaned from the rain forest For more than a decade Dr Plotkin raced against time to harvest and record new plants before the rain forests fragile ecosystems succumb to overdevelopment and before the Indians abandon their own culture and learning for the seductive appeal of Western material culture Tales of a Shaman's Apprentice relates nine of the author's quests taking the reader along on a wild odyssey as he participates in healing rituals discovers the secret of curare the lethal arrow poison that kills in minutes tries the hallucinogenic snuff epena that enables the Indians to speak with their spirit world and earns the respect and fellowship of the mysterious shamans as he proves that he shares both their endurance and their reverence for the rain forest Peaceful Peoples Bruce D. Bonta, 1993-12-01 Peaceful peoples are societies that have developed harmonious social structures which allow them to get along with each other and with outsiders without violence Most of these peoples foster a spirit of cooperation rather than competition promote sharing rather than glorifying greed and live in harmony with the earth as well as with other people Perhaps most importantly they believe that peacefulness is the defining characteristic of their humanity Some of the peoples included in the book are from the Western tradition such as the Amish Hutterites Mennonites Quakers and Tristan Islanders from South America the Piaroa from Africa the Fipa from South Asia the Paliyan Malapandaram and Nayaka from Southeast Asia the Semai Chewong and Buid and from Micronesia the Ifaluk

This selected bibliography includes annotated references to books articles and other English language publications that provide significant information about a peaceful society The author has combed the literature of fields such as anthropology psychology sociology history and religious studies for appropriate works with a cutoff date of 1992 Scholars and peace activists who are interested in societies that foster peacefulness have difficulty finding references to the literature Numerous indexes and abstracts do not include subject headings such as peaceful peoples Furthermore indexing services often do not cover chapters in edited volumes an important part of this literature The book includes a very detailed name and subject index that provides access to the intriguing social psychological and cultural similarities and difference existing among the peoples

Toward a Nonkilling Paradigm Joám Evans Pim,2009 The present volume brings together 24 authors and 14 disciplines including anthropology arts biology economics engineering geography health sciences history linguistics mathematics philosophy physics psychology and sociology to seriously consider the prospects for the realization of nonkilling societies and to challenge each discipline s role in the necessary social and scientific transformation toward a killing free world Pub

Kindness In A Cruel World Nigel Barber,2010-10-04 What do mutual grooming politeness priestly celibacy military heroism car insurance and overwork have in common All are probable examples of the recently discovered evolutionary mechanism called reciprocal altruism Put simply the concept means You scratch my back and I ll scratch yours Although rare in animals reciprocal altruism colors much of human emotion and social behavior Over the course of our evolutionary history we humans have developed a great variety of social contracts ranging from food sharing among hunter gatherers to observing the rules of the road in contemporary society In a lively fascinating discussion that explores the behaviors of bees bats and humans in various normal and deviant social settings evolutionary psychologist Nigel Barber explains the evolutionary basis of these wide ranging phenomena Beginning with Darwin s theory Barber shows how the original notion of a dog eat dog world where survival of the fittest is the only rule must now be modified by the new findings on altruism In bees for example the workers evolve without reproductive ability and exist only for the good of the hive and the propagation of the queen bee s genes In addition vampire bats will spontaneously share food through regurgitation evidently so that the favor will be returned when food sources are scarce In humans reciprocal arrangements depend on trust so moral emotions like guilt embarrassment resentment and pride have evolved to guard against the temptation to cheat which would destroy the basis of trust on which so much depends The evolution of such emotions may also lead to exceptionally self sacrificial behavior in some individuals whether this takes the form of priestly celibacy a soldier jumping on a hand grenade to save his buddies or the donation of a kidney Barber brings the revealing insights of evolutionary psychology to these examples and more and delves into related issues including sex differences in kindness new approaches to rehabilitating criminals the connection of kindness to health and the political manifestations of altruism in the environmental movement Full of stimulating ideas expressed in lucid prose Kindness in a Cruel World presents a compelling case that the desire to help others and the spirit of cooperation are fundamental to our human evolutionary inheritance

Popularizing Anthropology Jeremy McClancy, Christian McDonough, 2002-11-01 Anthropology written for a popular audience is the most neglected branch of the discipline In the 1980s postmodernist anthropologists began to explore the literary and reflective aspects of their work Popularizing Anthropology advances that trend by looking at a key but previously marginalized genre of anthropology The contributors who are well known anthropologists explore such themes as why so many anthropologists are women how the Japanese have reacted to Ruth Benedict why Margaret Mead became so successful how the French media promote Levi Strauss and Louis Dumont Why Bruce Chatwin tells us more about Aborigines than many anthropologists in Australia how personal accounts of fieldwork have evolved since the 1950s how to write a personal account of fieldwork Popularizing Anthropology unearths a submerged tradition within anthropology and reveals that from the beginning anthropologists have looked beyond the boundaries of the academy for their listeners It aims to establish the popularization of the discipline as an illuminating topic of investigation in its own right arguing that it is not an irrelevant appendage to the main body of the subject but has always been an integral part of it The Trouble with Nature Roger N. Lancaster, 2003-04 Lancaster provides the disproof of evolutionary stories about men women and the nature of desire of the heterosexual fables that pervade popular culture from prime time sitcoms to scientific theories about the so called gay gene
