Grodno Ghetto and its underground a personal narrative Liza Chapnik The key game Ida Fink 5050 Mothers, Warriors, Guardians of the Soul Geraldine Horan, 2003 This study shows that women involved in National Socialism in the years 1924 1934 developed and shaped a recognizable discourse which communicated and reflected their position and status within the NS movement The analysis is based on a variety of text types produced by members of NS women's organisations and includes official correspondence circulars reports pamphlets monographs and articles from NS women's journals It draws upon several areas of linguistic theory including feminist linguistics semantics pragmatics and discourse analysis and the salient features identified in the female discourse are placed within a sociolinguistic framework While previous research into the language of the NS system has largely ignored the possibility of a cohesive female discourse the study supports the idea that this discourse was dynamic and at times heterogeneous whilst also displaying many self-defining and self-referential features It is characterised by its ambiguities and apparent contradictions which expresses separateness and difference yet also solidarity with the NSDAP

Women in Nazi Society Jill Stephenson, 2013 Overview This fascinating book examines the position of women under the Nazis The National Socialist movement was essentially male dominated with a fixed conception of the role women should play in society while man was the warrior and breadwinner woman was to be the homemaker and childbearer The Nazi obsession with questions of race led to their insisting that women should be encouraged by every means to bear children for Germany since Germany's declining birth rate in the 1920s was in stark contrast with the prolific rates among the inferior peoples of eastern Europe who were seen by the Nazis as Germany's foes Thus women were to be relieved of the need to enter paid employment after marriage while higher education which could lead to ambitions for a professional career was to be closed to girls or at best available to an exceptional few All Nazi policies concerning women ultimately stemmed from the Party's view that the German birth rate must be dramatically raised
