

THE TRANSFORMATION IMPERATIVE

The background of the cover is a dark, textured surface with a large, glowing, circular screen in the center. The screen displays a colorful, abstract image that resembles a globe or a complex network. Surrounding the screen are various mechanical components, including what looks like a large, circular, metallic structure on the left and several smaller, glowing lights. The overall aesthetic is futuristic and high-tech.

Kotter's Leading Change* Yaamina Salman, Nick Broten, 2017-07-12 John P Kotter's Leading Change Why Transformation Efforts Fail is a classic of business literature and an example of high level analysis and evaluation In critical thinking analysis is all about the sequence and features of arguments When combined with evaluation of the strengths and weaknesses of an argument it provides the perfect basis for understanding corporate strategies and direction Kotter applied these skills to his own experiences of coaching large and small businesses through changes aimed at improving their performance At its heart Kotter's conclusion was simple unsuccessful transformations usually result from poor management decisions His view was that it was not enough for executives to have management skills Strong leadership is required together with a clear process that can be used by all kinds of companies and organizations no matter what sector they are operating in Looking at his own successes and failures alike Kotter used his analytical skills to understand the sequence and features of relevant arguments before evaluating their strengths and distilling them down to identify common mistakes managers make when they try to implement change This practical application of two core critical thinking skills allowed him to develop an eight stage model for successful organizational transformation a model still widely used twenty years on

European Journal of Policing Studies, 2018-07-31 Contents Introduction Antoinette Verhage Lieselot Bisschop and Wim Hardyns br Articles How to Police a Porous Fortress Monica den Boer 1 Abstract The purpose of this article is to provide an overview of the way in which the European Union has gradually but steadily built a security architecture based on the control of mobility and borders Different logics of policing are interwoven in several projects which are strongly interdependent with technological innovation Furthermore the European policing of mobility is primarily performed by mounting surveillance both inside and beyond European borders by means of which all forms of movement transactions travelling etc are subjected to intensive monitoring by multiple actors who are interlinked through strategies and systems The main finding is that border policing is shifting in a fundamental way from fixed to fluid from territorial to virtual and from physical to technological Hence paradoxically though mobility is strongly promoted as one of the main virtues of the European Union Europe's precautionary protection may be at ill ease with the free movement of people The article seeks to stimulate the knowledge and debate about deeper shifts in Europe's security apparatus and develops this from a law enforcement perspective Keywords Europe borders security mobility technology 1 Academic Dean at the Police Academy of The Netherlands Member of the Committee on European Integration of the Advisory Council on International Affairs and Visiting Professor at the College of Europe in Bruges Police Science in Germany History and New Perspectives Joachim Kersten 1 and Ansgar Burchard 2 Abstract In the German speaking academic world Police Science Polizeiwissenschaft is a fairly new and little known area of social science Accordingly the academic status of police science is anything but firmly established but rather at a hybrid stage of development The very combination of policing and academic study research seems to remain largely incompatible not only to police managers but also to main stream sociology German police science differs substantially from the Anglo American Australian approach One main difference pertains to legal traditions others are due to historical and cultural developments that will be taken up in this descriptive essay However Anglo American Australian police theories have a lot to offer to German and European police scientists and this will be demonstrated For a future common approach to an evolving European police science similar descriptions will be required from other European countries to establish a comparative foundation of joint EU police studies Some of the principal dimensions of such a comparison will be sketched in this essay It concludes with a presentation of empirically based police studies carried out by instructors and Master students at the newly founded German Police University in Münster Topics are media coverage of clashes between police and demonstrators a typology of third party intervention in cases of assault in public places and COREPOL EU FP7 a comparative security research project aiming at an improvement of police minority relations through means of restorative justice programs Keywords Police Science in Germany accountability YouTube public relations Facebook civil courage violent assaults 1 Professor and Head of Department of the Department of Police Science at the German Police University Germany DAAD Professor at Northwestern University and guest professor in Maastricht NL in Sydney Australia and in Tokyo Japan 2 Senior Researcher for COREPOL EU FP7
