Emerging Mobile and Web 2.0 Technologies for Connected E-Government Mahmood, Zaigham, 2014-05-31 E-Government describes the utilization of technologies to improve the lives of citizens and business organizations while facilitating the operation of the government. With the rise of new technologies governments need to consider implementing Web 2.0 and mobile technologies as a way to offer relevant e-services to citizens so that they may fully participate in governmental affairs. Emerging Mobile and Web 2.0 Technologies for Connected E-Government highlights the latest technologies and how they can be implemented by the government and effectively used by citizens. This book aims to be an inclusive reference source for researchers, practitioners, students and managers interested in the application of recent technological innovations to develop a more effective e-government system.

Web 2.0 & Semantic Web Vladan Devedžić, Dragan Gašević, 2010-01-08 According to the W3C Semantic Web Activity 1 The Semantic Web provides a common framework that allows data to be shared and reused across application enterprise and community boundaries. This statement clearly explains that the Semantic Web is about data sharing. Currently the Web uses hyperlinks to connect Web pages. The Semantic Web goes beyond that and focuses on data and envisions the creation of the web of data. On the Semantic Web anyone can say anything about any resource on the Web. This is fully based on the concept of semantic notations where each resource on the Web can have an assigned meaning. This is done through the use of ontologies as a formal and explicit representation of domain concepts and their relationships. 2 Ontologies are formally based on description logics. This enables agents and applications to reason over the data when searching the Web which has not previously been possible. Web 2.0 has gradually evolved from letting the Web users play a more active role. Unlike the initial version of the Web where the users mainly consumed content, users are now offered easy to use services for content production and publication. Mashups, blogs, wikis, feeds, interface remixes and social networking tagging systems are examples of these well known services The success and wide adoption of Web 2.0 was in its reliance on social interactions as an inevitable characteristic of the use and life of the Web In particular Web 2.0
