The Trobrianders Of Papua New Guinea Case Studies In Cultural Anthropology:

The Trobrianders of Papua New Guinea Annette B. Weiner, 1988 Book about the social life and customs of the Trobriand Islanders of Papua New Guinea

Locating Cultural Creativity John Liep, 2001-02-20 This book reexamines the interconnectedness of culture and creativity in an increasingly hybrid world They argue that while many of the old certainties about high culture and artistic canons may now be disintegrating culture and creativity themselves are still very much a reflection of social processes involving power and the control of resources Case studies include youth subcultures in Europe experimental theatre derived from the Brazilian candomblé dance the role of memory in mythology among the Pukapukan of Polynesia the evolution of football and polo in Argentina gender relations in Algerian raï music the notion of authenticity in artistic movements in Zanzibar traditional and modern practices of the Lio in Indonesia and kula exchange and social movements in the Trobriand Islands in the Pacific

A Papuan Plutocracy John Liep, 2009-08-31 This book of classic scope is a monograph on a Melanesian society an exploration of ranked exchange and a bold critique of anthropological exchange theory John Liep unravels the complex society and exchange system on Rossel Island east of New Guinea At centre stage is the famous Rossel Island money a hierarchy of more than twenty classes of sea shells displayed in payment rituals such as bridewealth and pig feasts High ranking shells are monopolized by big men who control exchange and dominate social life on the island Theories of reciprocity and gift exchange with their built in utopian assumption of social equality Liep finds cannot account for a system of ranked exchange Instead exchange is unequal and money an instrument of distinction and power Liep argues that ranked exchange has remained undiscovered as a general phenomenon Still found in some Pacific societies it was formerly widespread in Oceania and beyond The book will be essential to students of indigenous currencies and exchange theory and of interest to economic anthropologists and Oceanists

Culture and History in the Pacific Jukka Siikala, 2021-09-29 Culture and History in the Pacific is a collection of essays originally published in 1990 The texts explore from different perspectives the question of culture as a repository of historical information They also address broader questions of anthropological writing at the time such as the relationship between anthropologists representations and local conceptions This republication aims to make the book accessible to a wider audience and in the region it discusses Oceania A new introductory essay has been included to contextualize the volume in relation to its historical setting the end of the Cold War era and to the present study of the Pacific and indigenous scholarship The authors of Culture and History in the Pacific include prominent anthropologists of the Pacific some of whom Roger Keesing and Marilyn Strathern to name but two have also been influential in the anthropology of the late 20th and early 21st century in general

Eating Culture Gillian Crowther, 2018-05-15 From ingredients and recipes to meals and menus across time and space this highly engaging overview illustrates the important roles that anthropology and anthropologists play in understanding food and its key place in the study of culture The new edition now in full colour introduces discussions about nomadism commercializing food food security and ethical consumption including treatment of animals and the long term environmental and health consequences of meat consumption New feature boxes offer case studies and exercises to help highlight anthropological methods and approaches and each chapter includes a further reading section By considering the concept of cuisine and public discourse Eating Culture brings order and insight to our changing relationship with food Sociobiology and the Arts ,2023-11-27

globe Celebrating a Century of the American Anthropological Association Regna Darnell, Frederic Wright Gleach, 2002-01-01 During the past century the American Anthropological Association AAA has borne witness to profound social cultural and technical changes transformations that have affected anthropologists and the people they work with across the planet In response to such global changes anthropology continues to evolve into an increasingly complex and sophisticated discipline with a dynamic range of flourishing subfields This volume contains the memorable stories of the seventy seven men and women who have led the AAA during the past century The list of the association s presidents reads like a roster of influential scholars from various specializations within anthropology Their histories cumulatively reflect the trends in interpretive thought and fieldwork methodology that have emerged during the past ten decades For each president the book provides a photograph and a biography replete with personal anecdotes career highlights and information about his or her contributions to the development of the discipline of anthropology Important works by each president are listed separately in the back of the volume An introduction by Regna Darnell and Frederic W Gleach summarizes the first century of the AAA and contextualizes the individual stories Values and Revaluations Hans Peter Hahn, Anja Klöckner, Dirk Wicke, 2022-03-24 Why are some things valuable while others are not How much effort does it take to produce valuable objects How can one explain the different appraisal of certain things in different temporal horizons and in different cultures Cultural processes on how value is attached to things and how value is re established are still little understood The case studies in this volume originating from anthropology and archaeology provide innovative and differentiated answers to these questions However for all contributions there are some common basic assumptions One of these concerns the understanding that it is rarely the value of the material itself that matters for high valuation but rather the appreciation of the assumed or constructed origin of certain objects or their connection with certain social structures A second of these shared insights addresses the ubiquity of phenomena of value in things There is no society without valued objects As a rule valuation is something negotiated or even disputed Value arises through social action whereby it is always necessary to ask anew which actors are interested in the value of certain objects or in their appreciation This also works the other way round Who are those actors who question corresponding objective values and why The Archaeology of the Trobriand Islands, Milne Bay Province, Papua New Guinea Göran Burenhult, 2002 There has been a distinct lack of intensive documentation of the history of the Trobriand Islands in Papua New Guinea leaving the origins of the people shrouded in myth Paths and Rivers Rosana Waterson, 2009-01-01 Fieldwork extending over a thirty year period provided materials for this book Paths and Rivers offers an unusually deep and broad picture of the Sa dan Toraja as a society in dynamic transition over the course of the past century The Toraja inhabit the mountainous highlands of South Sulawesi Indonesia and are well known for their dramatic architecture their unusual cliff burials and their flamboyant ceremonial life which places extraordinary economic demands on individuals and families The analysis is informed firstly by a comparative perspective which sets Toraja social structure in the context of the Austronesian world Secondly the author delves deeply into Toraja social memory to show how people think about the past She examines the usefulness of history and myth in the present as a source of identity a template for action or a resource by means of which to claim precedence The book gives a clear picture of the structure and ethos of the indigenous Toraja religion the Aluk To Dolo or Way of the Ancestors with its complex cycle of rituals The book concludes with an analysis of the ceremonial economy which draws upon both domestic subsistence production and the global market economy Paths and Rivers draws together a fascinating picture of one society s journey into modernity Where the River Ends Shaylih Muehlmann,2013-05-23

Living in the northwest of Mexico the Cucap people have relied on fishing as a means of subsistence for generations but in the last several decades that practice has been curtailed by water scarcity and government restrictions The Colorado River once met the Gulf of California near the village where Shaylih Muehlmann conducted ethnographic research but now as a result of a treaty 90 percent of the water from the Colorado is diverted before it reaches Mexico The remaining water is increasingly directed to the manufacturing industry in Tijuana and Mexicali Since 1993 the Mexican government has denied the Cucap people fishing rights on environmental grounds While the Cucap have continued to fish in the Gulf of California federal inspectors and the Mexican military are pressuring them to stop The government maintains that the Cucap are not sufficiently indigenous to warrant preferred fishing rights Like many indigenous people in Mexico most Cucap people no longer speak their indigenous language they are highly integrated into nonindigenous social networks Where the River Ends is a moving look at how the Cucap people have experienced and responded to the diversion of the Colorado River and the Mexican state s attempts to regulate the environmental crisis that followed Cultural
