

A photograph taken from the perspective of someone inside a train, looking out through a window. The view shows a set of train tracks that curve gently to the left, receding into the distance. The landscape is flat and covered with low-lying, dry vegetation in shades of green and brown. In the far distance, a range of low mountains or hills is visible under a clear, pale blue sky. The lighting suggests it might be early morning or late afternoon, with a soft, warm glow. The train's interior frame is visible on the left and right sides of the image.

Driving Past Geoff Quayle, 2015-09-01 Its almost impossible to believe that on an average weekend eight people died in road accidents in Victoria in the late 1960s with a low of four and a high of an incredible sixteen Geoff Quayle joined Commonwealth Department of Shipping and Transport in 1967 determined to play a role in doing something about these stark statistics This memoir is an insiders account of the organised activity that it took to promote meaningful traffic safety reforms in Australia weaving personal anecdotes into the historical account The first steps taken in Australia were to enact strict drink driving laws and then make seat belt wearing compulsory However he cautions against concentrating on ever more restrictive legislative measures to reduce the death toll on the roads that is barely as third of what it was in 1970 Rather he sees a continuing need to adapt the road and traffic environment to the capabilities limitations and needs of people rather than the other way around Quayle argues that the automated enforcement of speed limits that bear little relationship to the risk of crashing on the safest roads whilst failing to guide drivers as to what is a safe speed elsewhere only compounds the problem As he recalls a career devoted to traffic safety he reflects on what still needs to be done today noting that while Australia has come a long way it would be a dreadful mistake to revisit the blind alleys of the past The Shadow of the Hummingbird Athol Fugard, 2014-04-07 The greatest active playwright in the English speaking world Time If there is a more urgent and indispensable playwright in world theater than South Africa s Athol Fugard I don t know who it could be Newsweek Athol Fugard can say more with a single line than most playwrights convey in an entire script Variety Legendary theatre artist Athol Fugard returns to the stage for the first time in fifteen years in this his latest work The Shadow of the Hummingbird tells the story of an ailing man in his eighties and the afternoon spent with his ten year old grandson In a charming meditation on the beauty and transience of the world around us Fugard continues to mine the depths of the human spirit with profound empathy and heart The text of the play includes an introductory Prelude by Paula Fourie with extracts from Fugard s unpublished notebooks Athol Fugard has been working in the theater as a playwright director and actor for more than fifty years In 2011 he received a Special Tony Award for Lifetime Achievement in the Theatre and he was the inaugural Humanitas Visiting Professor of Drama at Oxford University His plays include Blood Knot Boesman and Lena Statements After an Arrest Under the Immorality Act Sizwe Banzi Is Dead Master Harold and the Boys The Road to Mecca My Children My Africa and The Blue Iris Performance, Transport and Mobility F. Wilkie, 2014-11-13 Performance Transport and Mobility is an investigation into how performance moves how it engages with ideas about movement and how it potentially shapes our experiences of movement Using a critical framework drawn from the mobility turn in the social sciences it analyses a range of performances that explore what it means to be in transit King of the Dump and Other
