Extremism and Counter-Extremism Narratives in Pakistan Sadia Nasir, 2023-05-19 The book provides an extensive analysis of extremism extremist narratives and counter narratives and their role in consolidating exclusive religious cultural and social identities in Pakistan Focusing on the construction and institutionalization of extremist tendencies the book studies the process of the adoption of the narrow interpretation of religion and society which subsequently was equated with national identity It looks at the efforts of counter extremism narratives which tend to focus on violent extremism while overlooking non violent manifestations The author highlights that the main issue with counter narratives is the difficulty in presenting extremism and its narratives as a threat since they have been normalized with the state being part of facilitating and building them A valuable and much required contribution to the existing literature on extremism and narrative building in Pakistan this book would help students academics and policymakers in identifying the limitations of counter narratives in Pakistan while providing them with a detailed overview of extremism and extremist narratives It will also be of interest to researchers studying Security Studies and Asian Politics especially in the context of South Asia

Europe: a time for strategy (Egmont Paper 27), 2009 The debate was concluded by the adoption of a Report on the Implementation of the European Security Strategy Providing Security in a Changing World by the December 2008 European Council 1 which decided to leave the text of the ESS itself untouched The Report does not replace the ESS but reinforces it and the ESS remains in force The question now is will actionable conclusions be drawn from the Report in order to effectively improve implementation of the ESS For even if one agrees with the decision not to revise the ESS itself problems of implementation there undoubtedly are If the process ends here most observers will rightfully be disappointed This Egmont Paper summarizes what we see as urgent priorities for the EU to address in order to fulfil its inevitable ambition of being a global strategic actor

The EU and Military Operations Katarina Engberg, 2013-10-30 This book is a comparative study which aims to answer the question under what circumstances does the EU undertake military operations Since 2003 the EU has carried out six military operations What accounts for this historic development The EU and Military Operations examines the dynamics behind the EU's collective use of force and situates the EU in the context of a global division of labour with regard to military crisis management It centres on the study of two main cases of EU military operations the non case when an operation was planned in the Lebanon war 2006 but did not occur and the positive case of EUFOR RD Congo that same year Drawing upon these findings the author creates an innovative analytical framework based upon the techniques of defence planning and applies this to the cases studies with the purpose of identifying the main driving and inhibiting factors behind the operations Key findings derived from this analysis include the growing importance of local actors in facilitating or impeding the EU's deployment of military force and the enhanced role of regional organisations as security providers The book will be of much interest to students of European security EU politics strategic studies humanitarian intervention security studies and IR in general

Netherlands Annual Review of Military Studies 2015 Jörg Noll, Daan van den Wollenberg, Frans Osinga, Georg Frerks, Irene van Kemenade, 2015-07-27 This book seeks to bridge the gap between academic political and military thinking concerning the success and failure of peacekeeping operations and their termination Exit strategies have recently gained attention in political military academic and public debates due to the Western engagement in international and intrastate conflicts since the end of the Cold War Yet many of those debates took place separately This volume which is predominantly a joint product of academics and the military of the Faculty of Military Sciences of the Netherlands Defence Academy shows new venues by bridging the putative political military divide Drawing on theory empirics and personal experiences the authors address exits at political strategic operational and tactical levels of current and past military missions and interventions ranging from decolonisation wars to Afghanistan and Iraq Although some of those conflicts are still ongoing valid inferences can be drawn An important one is that exit forms a problem for those who leave and for those who stay While political and military objectives might not have been reached and many of those involved have the feeling that the job is still not yet done the termination of the entire mission or transitions at operational level necessitate both departures and handovers takeovers and are thereby characterised by discontinuities and continuities at the same time It is these dynamics between unfulfilled end states and end dates that in the end lead to the dilemma of leaving All the editors except van den Wollenberg are affiliated with the Faculty of Military Sciences of the Netherlands Defence Academy in Breda the Netherlands J rg Noll is Associate Professor of International Conflict Studies First Lieutenant Air Commodore Frans Osinga is Professor of Military Operational Art and Sciences Georg Frerks is Professor International Security Studies and Irene van Kemenade runs the Research Office of the Faculty Daan van den Wollenberg is Commander of a mechanized artillery platoon of the Netherlands armed forces

The Strategic Use of Force in Counterinsurgency Miles Kitts, 2020-01-13 The Strategic Use of Force in Counterinsurgency Find Fix Fight focuses on how to understand the relationship between the use of force and the outcomes of such use Specifically there is debate as to how to evaluate counterinsurgency conflicts and what prescriptions flow from that evaluation The Neo Classicist school emphasises prescriptions which are either directly from or inspired by Cold War counterinsurgency efforts undertaken by anti communist states The Revisionist school focuses on how best to evaluate the political dimensions of such conflicts This book finds that a third approach Reflective Action is best as it combines Neo Classicism s strength of issuing practical prescriptions with Revisionism s strength for conceptually evaluating counterinsurgency conflicts This conceptual debate is expositied in three cases They are the British counterinsurgency during the Malayan Emergency of the 1940s and 1950s American counterinsurgency in South Vietnam during the 1960s and 1970s and the Coalition counterinsurgency in Iraq during the 2000s

The Evolution of Military Power in the West and Asia Pauline Eadie, Wyn Rees, 2015-09-16 This book investigates how states in both the West and Asia have responded to multi dimensional security challenges since the end of the Cold War focusing on military transformation Looking at a cross section of different countries this volume assesses how their armed forces have responded to a changing international security context The book investigates two main themes First how the process of military transformation in terms of technological advances and new ways of conducting warfare has impacted on the militaries of various countries These technologies are highly expensive and the extent to which different states can afford them and the ability of these states to utilise these technologies differs greatly. Second, the volume investigates the social dimensions of military transformation. It reveals the expanding breadth of tasks that contemporary armed forces have been required to address. This includes the need for military forces to work with other actors such as non-governmental agencies and humanitarian organisations and the ability of armed forces to fight asymmetric opponents and conduct post-conflict reconstruction tasks. The conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan exemplified how important the relationship between technological and social transformation has become. This book will be of much interest to students of strategic studies, military innovation, Asian politics, security studies and International Relations.

British Generals in Blair's Wars Jonathan Bailey, Richard Iron, 2016-04-15. British Generals in Blair's Wars is based on a series of high-profile seminars held in Oxford in which senior British officers predominantly from the army reflect on their experience of campaigning. The chapters embrace all the UK's major operations since the end of the Cold War but they focus particularly on Iraq and Afghanistan. As personal testimonies they capture the immediacy of the authors' thoughts at the time and show how the ideas of a generation of senior British officers developed in a period of rapid change against a background of intense political controversy and some popular unease. The armed forces were struggling to revise their Cold War concepts and doctrines and to find the best ways to meet the demands placed upon them by their political leaders in what was seen to be a New World Order. It was a time when relations between the Government of the day and the armed services came under close scrutiny and when the affection of the British public for its forces seemed to grow with the difficulty of their operational tasks. This is a truly unique and invaluable book. For the first time we are offered first-hand testimony about Britain's involvement in recent campaigns by senior participants. In addition to touching on themes like civilian-military relations, the operational direction of war and relationships with allies, these eyewitness accounts give a real sense of how the character of a war changes even as it is being fought. It will be essential reading for those in military academies and staff colleges not only in Britain but throughout NATO and especially in the USA. It also has profound policy implications as both the UK and NATO more generally reassess their strategies and the value of intervention operations. It will also become a primary source for historians and students of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan in particular.

Defence Planning and Uncertainty Stephan Frühling, 2014-04-24. How can countries decide what kind of military forces they need if threats are uncertain and history is full of strategic surprises? This is a question that is more pertinent than ever as countries across the Asia-Pacific are faced with the military and economic rise of China. Uncertainty is inherent in defence planning but different types of uncertainty mean that countries need to approach decisions about military force structure in different ways. This book examines four different basic frameworks for defence planning and demonstrates how states can make decisions coherently about the structure and posture of their defence forces despite strategic uncertainty. It draws on case studies from the United States, Australia and New Zealand, each of which developed key concepts for their particular circumstances and risk perception in Asia Success as well as failure in developing coherent defence planning frameworks holds lessons for the United States and other countries as they consider how best to structure their military forces for the uncertain challenges of the future

The Search for Security in Post-Taliban Afghanistan Cyrus Hodes, Mark Sedra, 2013-05-13 By the middle of 2007 Afghans had become increasingly disillusioned with a state building process that had failed to deliver the peace dividend that they were promised For many Afghans the most noticeable change in their lives

since the fall of the Taliban has been an acute deterioration in security conditions Whether it is predatory warlords the Taliban led insurgency the burgeoning narcotics trade or general criminality the threats to the security and stability of Afghanistan are manifold The response to those threats both in terms of the international military intervention and the donor supported process to rebuild the security architecture of the Afghan state known as security sector reform SSR has been largely insufficient to address the task at hand NATO has struggled to find the troops and equipment it requires to complete its Afghan mission and the SSR process from its outset has been severely under resourced and poorly directed Compounding these problems rampant corruption and factionalism in the Afghan government particularly in the security institutions have served as major impediments to reform and a driver of insecurity This paper charts the evolution of the security environment in Afghanistan since the fall of the Taliban assessing both the causes of insecurity and the responses to them Through this analysis it offers some suggestions on how to tackle Afghanistan s growing security crisis Strategic Narratives, Public

Opinion and War Beatrice De Graaf, George Dimitriu, Jens Ringsmose, 2015-02-11 This volume explores the way governments endeavoured to build and maintain public support for the war in Afghanistan combining new insights on the effects of strategic narratives with an exhaustive series of case studies In contemporary wars with public opinion impacting heavily on outcomes strategic narratives provide a grid for interpreting the why what and how of the conflict This book asks how public support for the deployment of military troops to Afghanistan was garnered sustained or lost in thirteen contributing nations Public attitudes in the US Canada Australia and Europe towards the use of military force were greatly shaped by the cohesiveness and content of the strategic narratives employed by national policy makers Assessing the ability of countries to craft a successful strategic narrative the book addresses the following key areas 1 how governments employ strategic narratives to gain public support 2 how strategic narratives develop during the course of the conflict 3 how these narratives are disseminated framed and perceived through various media outlets 4 how domestic audiences respond to strategic narratives 5 how this interplay is conditioned by both events on the ground in Afghanistan and by structural elements of the domestic political systems This book will be of much interest to students of international intervention foreign policy political communication international security strategic studies and IR in general Clausewitz's Timeless Trinity

Colin M. Fleming, 2016-05-23 This is the first book to apply the Clausewitzian Trinity of passion chance and reason to the experience of real war It explores the depth and validity of the concept against the conflicts of former Yugoslavia wars thought to epitomise a post Clausewitzian age In doing so it demonstrates the timeless message of the Trinity but also ties the Trinitarian idea back into Clausewitz s political argument Intended to build on the existing corpus of scholarship this book differs from the existing literature in two ways By applying the Trinity to the wars of former Yugoslavia 1991 1995 it explores war at its micro foundations assessing the complex cause and effect nexus of reciprocity produced by actions between belligerents embroiled in dynamic competition perpetuated by their own interaction Providing valuable insights into the complexities of real war fuelled by passion undermined by chance and shaped by reason it is the first study to bridge the Clausewitzian world of theory with real experience Examining each part of the triad separately the book explores the multiple manifestations of hostility and chance before then assessing the influence of these elements on the policies of the belligerents as the war evolved Pakistan's War on Terrorism Samir Puri, 2012-02-20 This book examines Pakistan's strategies in the war against Islamist armed groups that began late 2001 following the 9/11 attacks The significance of the war inside Pakistan can hardly be understated Starting in the tribal territories adjacent to Afghanistan Pakistan's war has come to engulf the majority of the country through a brutal campaign of suicide bombings Thousands of Pakistani lives have been lost and the geostrategic balance of the region has been thrown into deep uncertainty Pakistan's War on Terrorism is an account of a decade long war following the 9/11 attacks that is yet to be chronicled in systematic fashion as a campaign of military manoeuvre and terrorist reprisal It is also an analytic account of Pakistan's strategic calculus during this time both in military and political terms and how these factors have been filtered by Pakistan's unique strategic culture This text will be of great interest to students of Asian Politics Terrorism and Political Violence and Security Studies in general
