New Creative Community Arlene Goldbard, 2006-10 An inspiring foundational book that defines the burgeoning field of community cultural development An inspiring foundational book that defines the burgeoning field of community cultural development Through personal stories rousing accounts detailed observation and histories Arlene Goldbard describes how communities express and develop themselves via the creative arts This comprehensive photographically illustrated book which covers community based arts such as theater grounded in oral history and murals celebrating cultural heritage will appeal to the curious non specialist reader as well as the practitioner and student Author Arlene Goldbard is one of the best known authors on community cultural development Her seminal books and essays are widely read in the US and other English speaking countries among them Community Culture and Globalization and this book s antecedent Creative Community Fragments of Trauma and the Social Production of Suffering , Marilyn Charles, Michael

O'Loughlin, 2014-11-05 Fragments of Trauma and the Social Production of Suffering Trauma History and Memory offers a kaleidoscope of perspectives that highlight the problem of traumatic memory Because trauma fragments memory storytelling is impeded by what is unknowable and what is unspeakable Each of the contributors tackles the problem of narrativizing memory that is constructed from fragments that have been passed along the generations When trauma is cultural as well as personal it becomes even more invisible as each generation s attempts at coping push the pain further below the surface Consequently that pain becomes increasingly ineffable haunting succeeding generations In each story the contributors offer there emerges the theme of difference a difference that turns back on itself and makes an accusation Themes of knowing and unknowing show the terrible toll that trauma takes when there is no one with whom the trauma can be acknowledged and worked through In the face of utter lack of recognition what might be known together becomes hidden Our failure to speak to these unaspirated truths becomes a betrayal of self and also of others In the case of intergenerational and cultural trauma we betray not only our ancestors but also the future generations to come In the face of unacknowledged trauma this book reveals that we are confronted with the perennial choice of speaking or becoming complicit in our silence Becoming a

Insights to Intimate Partner Violence Marta Garnelo,Chloe Bustin,Suzanne Duryea,Andrew Morrison,2019-11-05

According to global survey data 30 percent of women who have ever been in a relationship have experienced physical and or sexual violence perpetrated by their intimate partner In Latin America and the Caribbean LAC it is estimated that 29 8 percent of ever partnered women have been physically or sexually abused by their partners This report leverages insights from the behavioral sciences including behavioral economics social psychology and neuroscience to provide recommendations to improve the design of survivor services in the LAC region and ultimately to lead to better life outcomes for women We aim to provide policymakers and service providers alike with 1 A diagnosis informed by qualitative research of potential behavioral barriers that service providers and survivors face in the process of delivering and accessing services respectively and 2 Proposed interventions ideas informed by a review of the behavioral science literature that can be tailored to existing services and evaluated for impact New York Magazine ,1987-10-12 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea Dads, Kids, and Fitness William Marsiglio,2016-10-31 Now more than ever American dads act as hands on caregivers who are devoted to keeping themselves and their families healthy Yet men are also disproportionately likely to neglect their own health care diets and exercise routines bad habits that they risk passing on to their children In Dads Kids and Fitness William Marsiglio challenges dads to become more health conscious in how they live and raise their children His conclusions are drawn not only from his revealing interviews with a diverse sample of dads and pediatric healthcare professionals but also from his own unique personal experiences as a teenage father who thirty one years later became a later life dad to a second son Marsiglio s research highlights the value of treating dads as central players in what he calls the social health matrix which can serve both healthy children and those with special needs He also outlines how schools healthcare facilities religious groups and other organizations can help dads make a positive imprint on their families health fitness and well being Anchored in compelling life stories of joy tragedy and resilience Dads Kids and Fitness extends and deepens public conversation about health at a pivotal historical moment Its progressive message breathes new life into discussions about fathering manhood and health Sugar and Tension Lesley Jo

Weaver,2018-12-10 Women in North India are socialized to care for others so what do they do when they get a disease like diabetes that requires intensive self care In Sugar and Tension Lesley Jo Weaver uses women s experiences with diabetes in

New Delhi as a lens to explore how gendered roles and expectations are taking shape in contemporary India Weaver argues that although women's domestic care of others may be at odds with the self care mandates of biomedically managed diabetes these roles nevertheless do important cultural work that may buffer women's mental and physical health by fostering social belonging Weaver describes how women negotiate the many responsibilities in their lives when chronic disease is at stake As women weigh their options the choices they make raise questions about whose priorities should count in domestic health and family worlds The varied experiences of women illustrate that there are many routes to living well or poorly with diabetes and these are not always the ones canonized in biomedical models of diabetes management

Collective Biologies Emily A. Wentzell, 2021-10-11 In Collective Biologies Emily A. Wentzell uses sexual health research participation as a case study for investigating the use of individual health behaviors to aid groups facing crisis and change Wentzell analyzes couples' experiences of a longitudinal study of HPV occurrence in men in Cuernavaca Mexico She observes how their experiences reflected Mexican cultural understandings of group belonging through categories like family and race For instance partners drew on collective rather than individualistic understandings of biology to hope that men's performance of modern masculinities marriage and healthcare via HPV research would aid groups ranging from church congregations to the Mexican populace Thus Wentzell challenges the common regulatory view of medical research participation as an individual pursuit Instead she demonstrates that medical research is a daily life arena that people might use for fixing embodied societal problems By identifying forms of group interconnectedness as collective biologies Wentzell investigates how people can use their own actions to enhance collective health and well being in ways that neoliberal emphasis on individuality obscures
